CLARENCE E. HARDESTY
Oakland, Maryland
vs.
JEANETTE P. HARDESTY
address unknown, but last known address, 3505 Cliftmont Avenue Baltimore, Maryland

No. 4967 County in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states:

That on June 30, 1956, the plaintiff was married to the defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, in Baltimore, Maryland, that the said defendant lived with him only four days after said marriage, at the end of which time, without any just cause or reason, she abandoned and deserted him and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, although his conduct toward his said wife had always been kind, affectionate and above reproach; that the said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for a period of more than eighteen months prior to the filing of the bill of complaint and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children have been born from said marriage; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has been for a period of more than one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint; that the present whereabouts of the defendant is not known to the plaintiff, but that her last known address was 3505 Cliftmont Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, that the plaintiff is advised that the defendant went to the State of Rhode Island about one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint, but that her present address is not known, and that, therefore, the plaintiff believes and alleges that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland. The bill then prays for a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii and for further relief.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of November, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of December, 1959, give notice to the said absent defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, of the object and substance of the bill of complaint, warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 21st day of December, 1959, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Missionaries To Japan Will Speak

The Rev. L. S. G. Miller, D.D., and Mrs. Miller, retired Lutheran missionaries to Japan, will be the speakers at a meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of Zion church at Jennings at a thank offering service on Sunday evening, November 15, at 7:15.

Dr. Miller, native of Winchester, Va., is the son of a Lutheran pastor, who served in that city 1888 to 1895. Having graduated from Roanoke college and Philadelphia Lutheran Theological seminary, he went to Japan as a missionary in 1907. From 1920 to 1951 he was dean of the Boys' High school in Kumamoto where there are now about 1,200 students.

During the war when all missionaries were forced to return to America, Dr. Miller served pastorates in Georgia and Mississippi. In August, 1946, Dr. Miller was the first Lutheran missionary to return to Japan where he helped in reconstruction and relief work and the reorganization of the Lutheran church.

Mrs. Miller, daughter of a Lutheran pastor in Lincoln, Nebraska, was graduated from the University of Nebraska majoring in music. In 1925 she went as a missionary to Kumamoto, Japan, to head the music department of the Lutheran Girls' High school which had just opened. It currently enrolls about 1,000 students.

She continued in this work until her marriage to Dr. Miller in 1935 at which time she joined him in mission work until 1951 when they retired.

Following their return to America Dr. and Mrs. Miller were sent by the Board of American Missions to Los Angeles, Cal., to establish work on the Pacific coast among Japanese-Americans, 1953-57.

At the service Sunday night they plan to relate their experiences on the mission field in Kumamoto and show colored slides of their work. The public is invited.

Junior Club Hears Talk on Russia

An overall picture of the Russian people as observed on a tour of that country last year was presented to members of the Junior Woman's Civic club last Thursday evening by Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State college.

Dr. Church spoke to the group at a program in international relations arranged by Mrs. Virgil Steyer, Jr.

He told the group he in no way considered himself an authority on Russian affairs as he was in Russia for only five weeks as one of a group of seventy-one educators who toured the colleges and universities. He said he saw only a small part of the country.

As a basis for some of his conclusions Dr. Church traced the rise of the Communist party and conditions which led to that rise following the Russian revolution.

"People were unfamiliar with the working of the government, the country was bankrupt and Lenin told them they must produce or perish. Vocational schools were set up to train factory workers. At the time 85 percent of the people were illiterate. There were good schools but only for the privileged few. Forty years later they are as literate as our own people.

"Education is a passion in Russia. It is the only way for an individual to get recognition, reach a better political, social and economic level," he said. He remarked that he craved this same belief in education for this country.

When ability of any kind, in any field, is discovered in a Russian youth he is trained at government expense. He pointed out the government was interested in the individual solely for what he can contribute to the state. Dr. Church believes the idea of financial help for students with ability is a good one, that we cannot afford to waste the ability of young people.

He pointed out that work of Russia was done by women, partly because Russia lost 20 million men in the last war, and that people are more oriental than occidental.

He drew several conclusions: that a sincere friendship existed on the part of the Russian people; that the United States must keep strong—a cold war does not cost as much as a hot one; that inter communication is good, that the truth must get through; that Russians should not be underestimated, they are intelligent people, that our fear should be for our own complacency; that the American strength lies in its moral and spiritual beliefs.

Russia is a godless nation and Dr. Church felt this may be its "Achilles heel."

"Thanks for calling"

How often people use those words at the end of a telephone call!

Perhaps they mean "thanks for the good news." Or "thanks for this useful information." Or "thanks for the order."

Sometimes they mean "thanks for thinking of me. Thanks for cheering me up."

Whatever the meaning may be, people do appreciate your calls and you appreciate theirs.

"Thanks for calling" is a constant reminder of how much usefulness and value and friendship your telephone gives you. It's one of life's biggest bargains.

New Industry - - - - - -

A little item in the U. S. News and World Report this week is of particular interest to this area, since we are in the midst of a labor pool survey.

Under the heading of "new industry," the item said: "If officials of your community are trying hard to attract new industries, this helps explain what is involved: the U. S. Chamber of Commerce estimates that 204 new industrial jobs result in 393 homes, 320 automobile sales, 52 new retail stores 21 more professional men, 18 school teachers, 22 additional classrooms. These jobs, the Chamber figures, also would account for 1.5 million dollars in life insurance, 1 million in bank deposits."

Doesn't that make the picture clear enough? Those reasons are certainly enough to interest every person in assisting in gathering information about the labor potential of the area. The labor potential is one of the first things that industry wants to know about when looking over an area for a possible industry sight.

Service clubs and the Farm Bureau are now engaged in conducting a labor pool survey in this county. Fire departments and a number of other organizations have volunteered their assistance. Every organization could pitch in and get this survey over with, with a minimum of time wasted, so that the County Commissioners will have down in black and white just how many people would be available for work, should an industry locate here. Names and addresses of people within the area, and those beyond the area who once lived here and who would return if there were suitable employment, are needed.

It is most essential that the survey be a thorough one. So help out in any way possible. It may bring results before we realize it.

The annual seal sale is conducted to raise funds to support the year-round program of the T. B. association. The program includes free chest X-rays, free clothing for patients, mental therapy, physical therapy, medical research and education.

Will Observe Civil Defense Day Dec. 7

Civil Defense Day will be observed in this county along with the balance of the state and nation on Monday, December 7, it was announced by Daniel P. Spouse, county civil defense director.

Mr. Spouse said that emphasis would be placed on individual and home preparedness. Special attention is to be paid to distribution of the family fallout shelter booklet which gives plans for construction of low cost shelter for the home.

Inactive Voters Must Sign Anew

Inactive voters will have to re-register before they will be eligible to vote in next year's primary and general election, it was emphasized this week at the office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections.

Earlier this month there were notices mailed to 680 voters who had not voted since 1954, advising them they had to re-register at the board office prior to April 16, of next year or they could not vote.

The law requires that persons who have not voted for five years have their names stricken from the books. Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk, said that the cards had requested the persons to re-register prior to March 16, in order to give the office time to get the voting lists in proper order prior to the primary election, but that actually any person may re-register until April 16.

The primary election will be held on May 17.

Miss Rowan said that both the Republican and Democratic State Central committees would be given lists of those stricken from the voting register so that they might contact these people and urge them to re-register.

Tuesday, November 17, was the final day when a registered person might change his party affiliation prior to the primary election next year.

Mr. Rosner Speaks Before Health Group

S. Steven Rosner, executive director of the Maryland Association mental health, was the speaker at an executive meeting of the Garrett County health association at St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland last Wednesday, November 11. Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, president, was in charge of the program.

Mr. Rosner told of the approximately 11,300 mental patients who are cared for in state institutions at an average cost of $1,800,000. The Lerner committee two years ago estimated that as many as five thousand patients "could be discharged after intensive treatment." He said if this happened the savings to taxpayers would be great and that the suffering of the mentally ill and their families would be reduced.

He advised that in February the General Assembly would receive the governor's proposed budget which will include the full amount requested for the mentally ill by departments concerned with their care. The organization is urging friends of the mentally ill to write the legislator urging appropriation of the full amount requested.

Mr. Rosner, appointed as executive director on September 15, was in a similar position for Pennsylvania mental health for three years, and also with the Cancer society and Heart association in Massachusetts. He received his MPH degree from the Harvard school of public health.

The local association is planning to send gifts at Christmas time to various institutions. Gifts such as articles of yarn, games, cigarets, stationery, or small personal gifts may be left at the Ruth Enlow library until December 9.

Mrs. Naylor pointed out "this is a wonderful way to brighten the lives of the ill on Christmas day."

Southern High school once again will be in Class A competition during the forthcoming basketball season. Class A schools are those with an enrollment of 250 or more boys in grades, ten, eleven and twelve.

Richard Travis, director of athletics, revealed that there are thirty-seven class A schools in Maryland. Southern with 260 boys ranks thirty-fifth. Northern High school remains in class B competition, ranking eleventh in the fifty-one schools with enrollments between 200 and 249. Northern has an enrollment of 177 boys in the three latter grades. Valley High school, state champions last year, ranks thirteenth among class B schools with 165. Other area schools in class B school competition include Bruce Mt. Savage, twenty-first with 135.

Dies from Voluntary Ordeal of Fasting

The report of an autopsy on the body of John William Pope, aged 55, who died November 7 at his home near Gorman, showed that the man had died from self imposed starvation.

The autopsy was ordered by Deputy State Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster to establish a cause of death. Dr. Feaster said the body showed much dehydration.

A religious zealot, the man had been in the midst of a voluntary fasting ordeal at the time of death. He had voluntarily refused to eat any food or partake of any water.

He served three years with the Air force during World War II. Surviving are his mother, his wife, two daughters and two brothers.

Christmas Savings Checks Are $45,000

Christmas Savings club checks from the two Oakland banks totaled around $45,000 this year, a figure slightly larger than that of previous years, it was announced this week.

Departing from the ususal procedure checks were again mailed out this week to depositors instead of waiting until December 1. The same procedure was used last year.

Cashiers said that a number of people had been making inquiries about the checks. Most people seem to be doing their Christmas shopping earlier and need the funds sooner.

The money will be send to over 500 depositors of the First National Bank and the Garrett National Bank in Oakland. Checks from the First National went out over the week-end. Checks from the Garrett county were mailed early this week.

Both banks are planning Christmas increase almost every year since the club was started at any time. The first payment will be due when started. Depositors may make as little as 25-cent payments each week. They may be accepted for as much as $10 per week.

Both banks have shown some increase almost every year since the custom started quite a few years ago. Distribution throughout the nation will be over 1 billion dollars. While most of the money goes for Christmas presents it is also estimated that a percentage will go into savings accounts, insurance premiums and savings bonds. Many club members save for specific purposes, for winter vacations, to pay taxes, to meet insurance installments, to finance home modernization and for tuition for college students.

Most Snow Fences In County In Place

The erection of snow fences in the county in preparation for the approaching winter season is about 98 percent complete, according to Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor. The remainder of the work is expected to be completed within a few days, he said.

The county has some 669 miles of road under its supervision and Wotring said that there is in the neighborhood of forty miles of snow fences that must be erected each year.

Work on erecting the fences was started about October 15, with a portion of the roads employes having been busy at the job ever since. An additional crew has kept busy with road and bridge repairs, Wotring said.

A full report on the number of miles of roads improved during the year, along with the roads repaired will be made toward the latter part of the year.

The State completed erecting its snow fences a few weeks ago.

Affirm Rabies Cases In Swanton Section

The report of two additional cases of rabies among animals in the Swanton area, was confirmed this week by the animal testing laboratory in Oakland.

A final positive check on a dog was received from the state on November 9. A calf also died of rabies on the same farm several weeks ago. The cases occurred on the farm of Dorsey and Riley Wilson, route 1, Swanton.

No additional suspected cases have been reported from that area in recent days.

TO PREVENT FUTURE FLOODS—Construction began recently on the first of several flood control dams, designed to prevent disastrous floods in the Oakland area in the future. It is dam No. 7 on the Little Youghiogheny river watershed. The project is sponsored jointly by Garrett Soil Conservation district, the city of Oakland and the County Commissioners. The design for the dam and the engineering services were provided by the Soil Conservation service. Located ¾ mile east of Deer Park on the headwaters of the Little Youghiogheny river, the land is owned by C. C. Helbig. Easements for construction were obtained from Mr. Helbig and Paul Calderwood. It will be an earth fill dam, 45 feet high, with a permanent pool of seven acres. At full flood storage, calculated to occur only once in 100 or more years, the dam will hold 45 surface acres of water. Contractors are the George F. Hazelwood company. Contract price is $72,042.55. Work started September 28 and will close from December 1 to May 15. Completion is scheduled for June next year. Photo shows part of the work progressing with use of shovels, cranes, "pans" and bulldozers.

The trout are part of a request that Senator Gonder made last year when he asked for 10,000. Several hundred trout were placed in Deep Creek Lake earlier this year.

This treat is made possible each year through contributions from business people, individuals and organizations. Letters are to be mailed the week after Thanksgiving to these people and organizations seeking their contributions.

Each year some 2,500 treats or more are given out and it was estimated that the number this year would be equaled or bettered.

Bow Hunters Slew 131 Deer in State

Maryland's bow and arrow hunters brought down 131 deer in the season which ended Saturday, state game officials said Monday.

The total was 30 below that of last season, although hunters had two extra days of shooting and three more counties in which to hunt. The season was from October 12 to November 14 in 22 counties this year.

Harford led the list of kills with a total of 24 compared with 11 last season. Worcester was next with 18 compared to 21 last year. It was closely trailed by Frederick with 17, Kent with 16, and Dorchester with 15.

New counties added to the list were Howard, Anne Arundel and Prince George's which had only one kill each.

Garrett county reported three kills in comparison to nine last year. Allegany also had three this year against eight last year.

Dwelling Is Damaged By Fire Saturday

A frame dwelling owned by Mrs. Anna G. Hardesty of Washington and occupied by Noah Hardesty on Chestnut street, near the State garage in east Oakland, was damaged by fire last Saturday evening about 10 o'clock.

Oakland firemen answered the alarm and extinguished the blaze which started in the attic. The blaze apparently was caused by defective wiring.

Damage was estimated around $1,200 to $1,500, but the loss was covered by insurance.

The blaze was discovered by Harold Hardesty also of Washington, who had come to Oakland that same day to fill a dental appointment. He was sleeping near where the fire originated and was awakened by the smoke.

Education Program In West Germany Outlined in Talk

"Education is the cornerstone of any country," Dr. Paprecht W. Purzer, German research expert told the Southern High School P. T. A. at its regular meeting Monday night.

Dr. Purzer, who has been employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, outlined in an interesting illustrated lecture the educational program in West Germany.

He indicated that like the United States, education is a local responsibility. Perhaps the most important phase of a German child's education is the fourth year in school, he said. It is at this point that his future educational program is decided. Four choices are open to the child; a primary school where after the ninth grade the pupil will either enter a trade school or work part-time while attending school; a middle school where the student receives a general educational program somewhat similar to our comprehensive high schools; a humanistic gymnasium where a student prepares for college entrance and fourthly, a real gymnasium. The difference between the latter two schools lies in the language and science requirements."

English is taught in all the schools. In the primary school English is an elective course. It is required in each of the other three schools.

Generally speaking their school year is somewhat longer than the American school year. Most pupils attend school eleven months per year, six days a week from eight o'clock until 1:15 each day.

The speaker was introduced by Robert Wooters, program chairman. Dr. Pirzer's wife accompanied him to Oakland from their home in Keyser.

Following the lecture, refreshments were served. Approximately 125 members were present.

No Date Set For Arraignment in R. W. Guard Case

Attorneys To Decide Where Trial Will Be Held And If By Jury

Arraignment of Ronald W. Guard 51, former Friendsville constable on a murder charge by the Circuit court here was postponed this week at the request of Lewis R. Jones, his attorney. It was first scheduled for Monday then rescheduled for Tuesday and now it is uncertain when it will be held.

Mr. Jones and the Earl Cohey, Allegany County attorney also would represent Mr. Guard and he wanted to be present for the arraignment but that he was ill. Mr. Jones also indicated that they were deciding whether to try the case by the court or by jury and were also deciding whether or not to have the case removed to another county.

In a capital offense case the granting of a change of venue is mandatory if requested by the defense.

Guard was indicted last week by the grand jury which was called into special session by Associate Judge Neil C. Bailey to consider the charge that resulted from the fatal shooting of George B. Schroyer, 40-year-old Friendsville tavern operator, on October 25.

The former constable has been held without bond as the grand jury was recessed after a habeas corpus writ was denied by Judge Bailey which, if granted, would have made it possible for the man to be released under bond.

Judge Bailey is expected to be in town all next week on other judicial business.

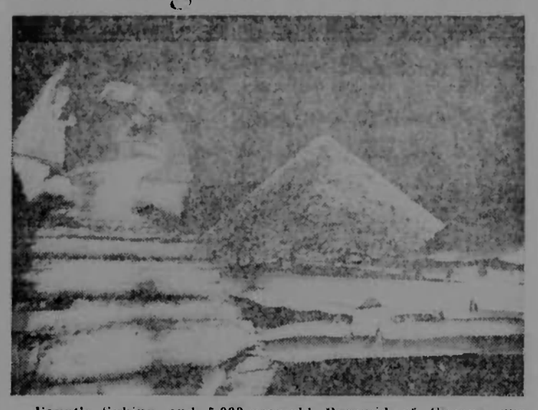
The Largest Flash Picture!



Egypt's Sphinx and 5,000-year old Pyramid of Cheops, one of the seven wonders of the world, make for a great photograph anytime. In combination with the momentary illumination made by 6,500 flashbulbs and the talents of an internationally famous photo-journalist, a photograph of the Sphinx and Pyramid constitutes not only a great photograph, but the largest flash picture in the history of photography.

This is how and why it was done.

The photograph, made with the cooperation of the Government of the United Arab Republic, was sponsored by Sylvania Electric Products Inc. to publicize its flashbulbs. Sylvania spent $18,000 on the photograph.

This single night color shot of the ancient wonder climaxed a full month of Pyramid-scaling preparations by Sylvania engineers and Egyptian technicians. Getting the proper reflection was accomplished by placing foil plates behind the flashbulbs which were mounted on four-foot stakes and placed at intervals of 20 feet between the sandstone bolders. Four thousand bulbs were used on the Pyramid alone; the balance, 2,500, were used to illuminate the Sphinx and the caravan of riders moving diagonally toward the foreground between the Sphinx and Pyramid.

The Pyramid (450 feet from base to peak), stands higher than a forty story building. It covers nearly 13 acres. Each of its four sides at the base is equivalent to 2½ football fields.

Joe Covello, exhibitor in international photographic exhibitions and New York photo-journalist, operated nine cameras to make this picture standing on a tower slightly more than one-fourth of a mile from the base of the Pyramid.

Joe himself was both the object of amateur and professional photographers who were among the 2,500 spectators gathered to watch the world's seventh wonder become the world's most spectacular photograph.

Loses Civil Suit

A Circuit court jury in Frederick denied a $2,400 civil claims suit for a Cumberland woman Tuesday.

Mrs. Edith Henry, of Cumberland, described by the defense as a "fortune teller," said she gave William Don Ryland, 27, of Baltimore and Accident, $2,000 in cash, for which she obtained a note. She said she also bought clothes for him, as well as a shotgun and boating accessories for his family.

E. J. Ryan, Cumberland, representing Mrs. Henry, said the two parties had once been close friends. Upon the death of Mrs. Henry's husband in July, 1955, he said Ryland approached her wanting $2,000 in cash to buy a car.

Ryland denied signing the note or even seeing it until the note appeared in court records. His mother testified that Ryland received money to buy a car from a business in which her husband had an interest.

THE AMERICAN WAY

EDITOR'S NOTE: Maurice R. Franks is President of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

No people on earth know better than do we Americans that disaster lurks in monopoly, no matter what its form, no matter by whom it is exercised. We know the harm it does to human dignity and the killing effect it has upon small enterprise. We know it for the economic and psychological devil it is, and out of our knowledge despise it.

We gained our knowlege through bitter experience during the closing decades of the 19th century and the opening decades of the 20th, when our basic industries were being gobbled up, one by one, by trust-minded Wall Street operators. We saw competitive enterprise trampled underfoot; we saw the life-blood of our economic freedom flowing unchecked down Wall Street curbs.

Fortunately, however, the people rebelled in time and because of this the Congress of the USA moved boldly in 1890 to release private enterprise as such from the grip of a small but ruthless band of industrial barons, committed to no principle unconnected with personal power and avarice. Aimed at the trusts which ruled such basic industries as steel, oil, coal, beef, sugar, transportation—and at a host of lesser but growing monopolies—the Sherman Antitrust Act declared all such restrictive organizations of capital to be against the public interest.

It was a battle to the death, for the trusts fought back with all the mighty resources they could muster. For two full decades the batted raged, while slowly but surely the gigantic monopolies were dismembered and their living parts restored to dynamic competitive enterprise. Trust busting became the order of the day. The era of the industrial barons drew to a wholesome close.

But today to deny that Big Labor, in its performances and in its own exaggerated estimate of itself, is anything less than a privately owned and privately operated trust is to turn away from the truth.

Consider how the basic industries of our country are policed and their productive operations controlled—not by unions of employe associates, if such were the idealistic intention—but by the bosses of such unions. Indeed, by masters as feudalistic in the powers they exercise as were any barons of old.

Consider compulsory unionism that gives these union masters the manpower they need to rule in the industrial areas they have cornered. Consider the extent of the territories of production and vital productivity over which they wield the scepters of their monopolistic power.

Americans in every walk of life should realize the time has come to bust the labor trust as our forefathers busted the business, industrial and financial trusts that were eating the heart out of our economic safety some 50 or 60 years ago.

The job can be done with only a flourish or two of the legislative pen. Here's how:

1. A law can be enacted—or a simple amendment to existing law passed—that in no uncertain language will ban the union shop and end for all time the evils of compulsory unionism.

2. A law can be enacted that is no uncertain language will rule out industry-wide bargaining and return all bargaining to plant level.

3. Our present labor laws can be amended to require that no strike anywhere within the jurisdiction of Federal law can be called without an impartial'y supervised and tallied poll of the union's membership.

4. In the very simplest of language a Federal law can be passed that will state in bold type that a labor union shall no longer be exempt from the antitrust provisions of law already on the books. Such a law would be in all ways Constitutional, so that the Supreme Court—however it might rub its nine learned brows and cogitate—would be at its wits' end to throw it out.

And not any of this would be "union busting," the term Big Labor's feudal lords so love to cast in the teeth of fellow Americans who believe in union democracy. The sober fact is, such action would be in the nature of union saving.

The time has come to quit pussyfooting on one of the most important issues of our day. We want beef, but we don't want a beef trust. We want steel, but we don't want a steel trust. We want unionism, but we want no part of a labor trust.

Therefore, like good Americans, let's each of us again get in touch with our Senators and Representatives who are members of that Do-Something 86th Congress of ours and remind them that there is still something left to be done to correct the union situation they have already so solidly tackled.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON
Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

A Church Member But Unprepared

A recent trip to a Detroit hospital brought me into contact with a young mother. Since I had to wait for the lady upon whom I was calling, to return from X-ray, I engaged the young mother in conversation. I asked her if she was a Christian. She said "Yes" I found her to be a member of a church and a regular attender. She told me that her Pastor chose a text from the Bible and then brought his sermon on some practical aspect of the text having to do with our present life. I explained to her what it she replied, "Well I guess I'm just a Church member and not meant to be a Christian. Then a Christian." How tragic! How dangerous! What a crime Churches are committing by raking in unconverted sinners into their membership. The shilosophy of "get them in and then get them converted" is not a scriptural philosophy. It will no doubt send as many people to Hell as any other sin. Church membership does not save. Only a personal experience with Jesus Christ is able to do that. Yet hundreds join a Church every year hoping that this will pave the way to Heaven for them. Jesus Christ, as your Saviour, is the only hope of eternal life. Come to Him.

Springs Mutual company was organized during the Christmas season of 1897 by 22 families. By 1911 48 families were recorded as phone users. The wage scale for employes was $1 for a ten-hour day. Many subscribers provided and erected telephone poles on their properties to keep down the cost of service. The rate for digging pole holes was 20 cents each with an additional eight cents for erecting them. Members of the company furnished poles at 40 cents each and cross arms at 7 cents each. A membership fee of $1 was charged. The wall hand crank phone was priced at $15. The cost of batteries was extra.

For years the Gramsville switchboard was in the Cal Yoder residence, but in 1926 it was moved to the property owned by the company in Gramsville. During this period Mrs. Rhoda Paul Livengood was the operator, assisted by her daughter Mildred. After 30 years of service Mrs. Livengood retired in 1956. Her daughter, now Mrs. Mildred Loechel, was a part-time operator until recently.

Bruce Folk, a Springs mutual veteran of 36 years, took care of all maintenance and installation work. For years he used his own car. He also operated his own farm. H. S. Yoder, Gramsville, secretary-treasurer of the firm, solicited new patrons for the company until his death in 1936. He was succeeded by M. B. Miller, Gramsville, who held the position until 1958. Homer M. Yoder is present secretary-treasurer.

In 1957, in order to get major service improvements, the company named W. C. Otto, Aaron G. Miller and Herman M. Yoder to negotiate with adjoining telephone companies to serve the area. Members voted to accept the proposals made by C&P and General.

The last group of directors include Daniel H. King, president; Cleman E. Folk, vice president; Homer M. Yoder, Merl R. Kolb, manager, and Edward J. Davis.

Medical Mirror — What Doctors Say About: — Better Health Through Knowledge

Dizzy Spins

- Alcohol and Blood Pressure
- Aspirin

Q. How do ballet dancers and ice skaters spin around without getting dizzy?

A. Rotation dizziness is due to the displacement or rocking of fluid within the organ of balance, a structure located within the inner ear. Ballet dancers execute turns by reducing the time of fluid displacement to a minimum. They do this by whipping the head around in a start-stop fashion. They call it "spotting." Skaters spin much too fast to "spot" and apparently develop the ability to suppress or disregard disturbances set up within the balance organ. Doctors have studied the reaction of dancers and skaters to spinning in investigating certain diseases of the middle ear which cause dizziness.

Q. Should a person with high blood pressure drink whiskey, wine or beer?—Just a reader.

A. A person who has high blood pressure would do well to live moderately in all things. What we eat and drink can affect the blood pressure. A moderate amount of alcohol can increase the blood pressure, regardless of whether the alcohol is in the form of whiskey, wine or beer. In many cases of high blood pressure the doctor will prescribe a low-salt (sodium) diet. Since beer contains some sodium, its consumption would add to the body the very substance which the doctor is trying to reduce.

Q. We are bombarded by claims that this or that pain reliever acts fast, fast. Just how fast does aspirin work?

A. Aspirin is the most widely used of all pain-relievers, over 3,000 tons being produced each year in the U. S. alone. When taken by mouth, it is absorbed for the most part unchanged. The fate of aspirin in the body has been thoroughly studied. After taking aspirin, the highest blood concentration of the drug is reached after thirty minutes. Thereafter the level falls, and after two hours only small amounts remain. These chemical findings tie in with the well known fact that the pain-relieving action of aspirin reaches a peak within half an hour and tapers off within two hours.

Washington Spring

Felix G. Robinson

THE WASHINGTON SPRING

Drawn by Barbara Moon, who at the editor's request included her self-portrait

As one leaves Oakland, Md., going west on Rt. 7 upon a wide curve leading into the community of Rosedale there is a path to the right which if taken will lead one to a Spring that has quenched the thirst of the waylaring stranger, the summer visitors, and the local people for over two hundred and thirty years. It was a place frequented by the Indian also. And in these succulent glades with their tall grass adjacent to the Spring one could have seen buffalo, deer and elk grazing in large numbers. This is the kind of scene that the first white men, fur traders, saw when with their packhorses they travelled to and fro over McCullough's Path. This was a path that followed a buffalo trace (trail) from the Ohio to the Potomac Valleys and passed nearby the Spring. Fifty seven years later the states of Maryland and Virginia erected a road 1787 from Westernport to Morgantown whose routing passed near the Spring. This was the shortest route from the eastern tidewater or coast country to the Ohio River country—a distance of sixty miles. No sooner did the road open than it was used constantly by pioneers going westward to make new settlements. Oakland, Md., has many distinctions, historically speaking. The first improved road from the Atlantic coast across the Alleghenies mountains passed through this place. And the first railroad station to be built on top of any mountain in the world was erected in Oakland, Md., in 1851. Along this road in what is now Garrett County there were taverns, most of them of a very primitive order. But at least they could accommodate the travelers - providing them rest, food and shelter. There were two taverns not far from the Spring. The first was operated by a Mr. Boyle (A DuPanier) and was located at the intersection of Wilson Creek and the Little Yough about the same position as the second Glades Hotel, the latter built in 1874. Thomas Walentt of Massachusetts states in his Journal of March 14th, 1790: "We eat a little fried salt pork and fat of venison at Friends (Augustine Friend) and then crossed the great Youghiogheny. About two miles further on, we crossed the little ditto (Little Yough) at Boyles." In Eric Bollman's letter dated 1796 we read: "We spent the second night with one named Boyle, an old Hollander. Early the next morning we could hear the howling of a wolf in the forest." The other tavern was established about 1806 by William Armstrong and located further down the Little Yough—and on the other side of the Spring—about where the Esso tank yard is now located. This became the headquarters for the first postoffice in the southern part of the county and was known as "Yough Glades Post Office".

Three years before the first improved road went through Oakland General George Washington returning from a western trip in which he was trying to ascertain the most feasible canal routing from the Potomac to the Ohio came back by McCullough's Path stopping at Charles Friend's about 3 miles from the Spring on September 26, 1781. In his Journal he states: "From Friends I passed by a spring (distance three miles) crossed the back bone (Backbone Mt.) and descended into Ryans Glade. Thence by Thomas Logsdon etc."

There is evidence that Washington was referring to what was later known as Archie Spring adjacent to McCullough's Path in Pleasant Valley. The Spring that bears his name is located north of Charles Friend's and adjacent to one of the branches of the first improved road that went approximately the right of way of the present route 7 to Charles Friends where it connected with a road that went to Moorefield. But this was not a right of way until three years after Washington's trip. In "The Glades Star" Vol II 12 p. 181 fifth paragraph we read: "A path from The Oakland Hotel led through the maples, oak and pine trees to a spring which was called 'Washington Spring". Washington stopped at this spring in 1784 when he journeyed by horseback over the mountains. This spring can still be found near the river below the Crellin Road."

This historic spring along the oldest trail across the Allegheny mountains and within precincts of Oakland's most famous summer resort hotel has been the well of deep desire for both the weary traveller making his way westward—and the multitudes of city folk who come to these mountain crests for the cooler clime—and to drink the purest of water. Many the time as a child have I, with companions visited Washington Spring. We would walk down the dim bark path in the springtide, plucking violets on our way. After drinking freely from the Spring we would fill jars wherein we placed the violets and other flowers which we would take home.

There was no path more frequented in my childhood in the environs of Oakland than the path to Washington Spring.

Fitzhugh Coyle Goldsborough, internationally known violinist who summered with his parents in Oakland, would upon arising in the morning, before breakfast, walk down to the Spring, drink from it—return home and to breakfast and then practice his violin for seven hours.

In these earlier days the Spring was beautifully embellished by a rock grotto from which grew violets. And it was roofed by a rounded peristyle with benches where the visitors could sit and peer down into the cool depths and become fascinated by the way the water bubbled up through white sand.

Its place in local history and sentiment is well established. To restore this place should capture the imagination and loyalty of the entire community with each organization making generous contribution. I believe The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce is planning this restoration. If this organization is willing to assume the responsibility it would seem that other local organizations would want this project to be an outstanding success as was The Oakland Centennial a decade before. This Centennial was a success because it merited the support of the entire community. Washington Spring is such a project.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which owns this Spring and its environs is willing to cooperate in a generous manner. The whole area could be conditioned as a picnic site. A new covering should be made for the Spring and a suitable marker be erected along Rt. 7 describing its history and showing the direction to the Spring.

Aurora Lutheran Completes Parish Hall Exterior Work

St. Paul's Lutheran church of Aurora, W. Va., has just completed the exterior work on the Parish hall which is an addition to the present church building, build in 1890.

The architectural design follows that of the church. The structure is 40 feet by 26 feet and will cost the congregation less than $5,000 in cash when completed. Thus far all of the lumber except 1,000 feet, and about half of the labor has been given by members and friends of the congregation.

The church was founded in 1787 and is the oldest congregation of the Lutheran Synod of West Virginia. Its early records of activities have been recently translated from German into English and published under the title, AURORA DOCUMENTS.

The new addition is to be used for the educational and fellowship needs of the congregation. The Parish hall includes a large assembly room which can be divided into class rooms by folding partitions, one class room, a Pastor's study, a kitchen, a general purpose room, and rest rooms. The basement can be completed for future expansion.

The outside of the building is weatherboarding and cut stone, and the interior will be finished in cherry, beech and oak paneling. The floors will be of red oak. When the interior is completed each of the seven classes of the Sunday School will have a room of its own for study purposes.

The present active membership of the congregation is 121 adult members and 206 baptized members. The Rev. George C. Weirick, former president of the West Virginia Synod, has been pastor of the congregation since April 15, 1953.

Safety Group Hears Recent Changes

The second meeting of the recently formed County School Safety Council met Monday evening at the Accident School. Forty-two members were present. Presiding was Willard L. Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools, who discussed briefly what the school board has done during the past year to insure school safety. Mr. Hawkins pointed out that there were now only four school buses crossing the B&O tracks, whereas fifteen crossed at the beginning of the school year. This change was made possible largely through the completion of the overhead bridge at Weber's Crossing now used by school buses. He also pointed out that school bus evacuation drills were held as a regular part of the safety program, that the second bus inspection of the year was recently held and a follow-up inspection of all buses needing repairs is to be made next week.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out further that all new bus drivers were given pre-driving tests by Robert Martin and full instructions relative to all bus rules, regulations, and traffic laws. All new drivers must also have written approval of at least two parents whose children ride the bus.

In addition to transportation safety the superintendent also pointed out that there has been complete compliance with nearly all major recommendations of the State Fire Marshal and that the few remaining ones are to be completed soon. He further pointed out that a safety survey report has been called for from all principals concerning possible hazards around the schools and that these reports when completed would be studied and turned over to the maintenance supervisor for corrections as needed.

Following this report the group divided into five sub-committees, one on traffic hazards, one on school bus laws and regulations, one on school bus discipline, one on school safety other than transportation, and one on school safety legislation. Attending the meeting were: Foster Riggs, O. T. Graser, Baby Ridder, Rodger W. Bond, W. Leburn Myers, Robert R. Martin, Ralph H. Beachley, Corporal Samuel Conrad, Mike Duda, Mrs. Leslie Guard, Leslie Savage, Mrs. Betty Wildesen, F. E. Harris, Robert F. Rodcheaver, William Platter, Wayne A. Frederick, Mrs. Eugene Friend, E. F. 32 Students Report To Basketball Squad

Southern High School on Monday evening began preparing for the coming basketball season as thirty-two boys reported for practice.

The Highlanders, who won twelve and lost eight games including two games with the alumni during regular season play last year, will have four regulars returning to the line-up. These four boys, Terry Colaw, Jerry Wine, Ron Colaw and Dick Stuck are each two or three year lettermen in basketball. Other familiar faces to the hardwood court at Southern include Bill Stemple, Wally Bolyard, Bill Duling and Don James who each won letters last year.

The varsity which is being coached by Carl Schoonover and Whitey Adolfson will play a nineteen game schedule begining December 8, when they open at home against Terra Alta.

Coach Schoonover indicated that the varsity squad would be cut to twelve boys within the next ten days. Other boys who will be trying out for the varsity or the junior varsity include Carroll Miller, Carl DeWitt, Tom Bergner, Sonny Riggs, Steve Malone, Brent Propst, Bill Butler, Jerry DeSimone, Willard Carr, Harold White, Jack Broadwater, Wolford Perando and Gary Stine. Most of these boys saw action last year as members of the Junior Varsity.

Coaching the Junior Varsity will be Tommie Kuhn.

Coming up from the junior high team of last year which won seven games and lost six will be Porter Welch, John Beckman, John Prince, Andy Lewis, Lindsey Gonder, Frank Vetter, Ronald Wotring, Wayne Soult, Clark Sharpless and Dick Dickson. Joe Morris, a new student, has also reported for basketball.

Editor, The Republican,
Oakland, Maryland

After the report in last week's issue of The Republican, relative to the move that is on to trade off our State Route No. 42, up Bear Creek, along with a $1,323,000 of State Roads money that has been allocated for the rebuilding of the road, it seems necessary to write this letter, in order that those of our citizens who were not present at the meeting in Oakland last Wednesday, November 11, might be informed of the following facts:

Instead of those of us who were at the meeting being satisfied after the so-called facts were explained, we were amazed and angered. It seemed plain to us that the citizens of this section of our county are being sold out by our public officials.

When the county takes this road over, the State keeps the money ($1,323,000 that has been earmarked in the State's rebuilding program for this road), and the money will then go to rebuild and modernize some other road, instead of this one.

After State Route No. 42, up Bear Creek, becomes a County Road, the county has plans to widen it some by placing shoulders two feet wide on each side. This may be some improvement, but it will not make it a good road, nor a safe road.

If the road remains in the hands of the State, we will get a modern and safe highway because the State has the engineers, and the money has already been allocated to pay for the work.

Why then should our County Commissioners, and our State Senator want to take from us the only opportunity we will ever have for getting a modern and safe State Road up Bear Creek. We need the best road that can be engineered for the safety of our children, who are compelled to ride school buses along this route, twice each day, every school day in the year.

The only answer we received at Oakland, is that, "If the road over Elder Hill becomes a State Road, it will be a better road for the summer time tourists and residents of the Lake to travel over." Thus, they are putting the convenience to tourists, and the people going through from Pennsylvania to their cabins at the Lake, ahead of the safety of our children.

It was brought out at the meeting in Oakland, that if our county officials really want to do so, they could leave the road remain with the State, and the State Roads Commission, and our county officials have the power to advance the building of the road by the State Roads Commission, so that the work of rebuilding it could be done during the next three years entirely at the expense of the State, without the county putting up one dollar.

It was further brought out that, as now is, the road is scheduled for rebuilding during the third stage of the Twelve Year program. The third stage will start in 1962 and will include 1962, 1963, 1964 and 1965. Therefore, without changing the priority, or doing anything to advance the work which could be done, the road if left with the State would likely be one of the first projects of the third stage of the Twelve Year program, because if we then have county officials who will cooperate, they will no doubt be able to get this road set up as one of the first projects to be built in the period starting in January, 1962.

Further, it was pointed out at the meeting, that Route 42, up Bear Creek, is Friendsville's life line. It is the only road leaving Friendsville that is free from drifting snow at times when all other roads are frequently blocked. The town of Friendsville and surrounding communities are often snowbound for days, except that this one road, Route 42 up Bear Creek, has always provided us an outlet to Route 219, and from there to Route 40. This road from Route 219, down Bear Creek to Friendsville, is truly our "Life Line". Over this road comes our food, equipment, and supplies by heavy transport trucks. And, in case of an unfortunate accident or severe illness, it has always provided us a sure, safe way to get out to Route 219, and thence to the hospital in Cumberland, Meyersdale, or Oakland. Again, in case of fire or other calamity, when the property or lives of our citizens may be in peril, we will always need a safe, well engineered and modern road over which ambulances and fire fighting equipment may be rushed in.

To sum up, there is no other route out of Friendsville so necessary to the safety of our hundreds of children who ride school buses every school day in the year. It is the life line over which comes in all supplies that are essential to our welfare. There is nothing that could add more to the peace of mind of our people, than for the State to keep this road, and rebuild and modernize it for our safety.

On the other hand, it would be difficult to comprehend any thing that would be more tragic than to have this road taken over by the county now, as the time draws near for the State to start rebuilding it.

If our officials trade away the One Million Three Hundred Twenty-Three Thousand Dollars that otherwise will go to rebuild the road now, our chances for a modern, safe road up Bear Creek will be gone forever.

If the road is taken over by the County, we will ever after be dependent upon a County Roads Department, that is without funds, most of the time, and without an engineer.

The County Roads Department is in debt to the State already over One Million Dollars, for money borrowed against future receipts. Where would the County get the money to take care of over seven hundred miles of road, already under its care, make its principal and interest payments on its debt, and at the same time build this road, and construct the new bridge that is needed on Bear Creek?

Let us keep this road in the hands of the state, and let our State rebuild the road with the money already allocated in the State program. Let us by all means, do what we can to save this road. Let's do it for our children's safety, and for the welfare of our community.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Flood Picture Is Placed As 1895

The aftermath of possibly Oakland's first flood, pictured here last week, has been placed as 1895, and not 1897, as stated in the accompanying article.

This was about two years before another disaster—the destruction of the west side of Second street by fire. This fire probably proved a boom to the town, however, as it inspired the erection of a great many modern buildings to replace the frame structures destroyed.

Newspaper clippings of the time give many accounts of the preparation for and erection of these structures. But there was some dissatisfaction

From newspaper clippings compiled by Henry Arnold, on September 8, 1898, the following is reprinted:

"The B. and O. R. R. Co. has had a board fence erected along its alleged line in the burned district from the Wilson Run culvert to the crossing at Second or Main street. It was commenced about 8 o'clock this morning. This act of the company gives the town a worse black eye than even the fire did, and is roundly denounced by indignant citizens as one of the most high-handed and contemptible pieces of work that a big corporation like the B. and O. could be guilty of.

"But the company doesn't care a rap for all the denunciations that can possibly be hurled against it, so it accomplishes its ends, and right now it seems to be the winner in the game, although all the hands are not yet played, and we shall see what we shall see when the game comes to a close."

The fate of the fence is unknown, but at least it has disappeared by now.

The picture today, showing some sort of uniformed fraternal activity, leaves us puzzled. Perhaps some reader can identify the uniforms, the place, the time and the participants.

From the insignia on the men's hats, medallions and buckles, it would appear that they are members of the Knights of Malta, for the Maltese Cross is much in evidence.

The locale has been placed by various persons as in Kitzmiller or in Oakland, possibly on Oak street.

The picture was furnished by E. W. Adams.

Wholesale Supplier of Gas Seeking More Return on Product

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company will be affected somewhat by higher charges being asked by Atlantic Seaboard corportation, one of its wholesale suppliers of natural gas.

C & A purchases gas from Atlantic Seaboard at Beverly, W. Va., just south of Elkins which is emptied into the C & A system to supply its West Virginia and Western Maryland customers.

A representative of the Columbia Gas System, of which C & A is a subsidiary, said in Pittsburgh it will cost the company an additional $68,600 annually for gas purchased from Atlantic Seaboard. He would not venture to say if C & A would press for permission from the public service commissions of both states to increase its consumer rates to offset this additional charge.

Last week Manufacturers Light and Heat company of Pittsburgh asked the Federal Power commission in Washington for a $1,645,000 increase in wholesale natural gas rates affecting 28 gas utilities serving customers in Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, New Jersey and Maryland. The firm asks the rates to become effective December 7. Companies affected by the rate request serve more than 400,000 customers. C. & A is not one of the utilities affected however, as it does not buy gas wholesale from Manufacturers. Gas from the C & A Accident field is piped north to the Manufacturers line that runs along the Mason and Dixon line. C & A has a unique arrangement whereby it exchanges gas with Manufacturers.

Football Summary Shows Highlanders In Favorable Light

A summary of the Southern High school football season, just recently completed, was compiled by Mason Callis, and provides a favorable record of the nine-game schedule.

Southern gained about one and one-fourth miles on the ground and through the air while its opponents gained less than a mile.

The Highlanders ended their season with a record of five victories and four defeats one of the best seasons they have had. They had 70 first downs rushing and 15 first downs passing, compared to 30 and 13 for their opponents. Two additional first downs came as the result of penalties against their opponents, making a total of 87 first downs compared to 43 for the opposition.

Yards gained rushing totaled 1,700 yards compared to 1,153 for their opponents They also lost 98 yards against 132 for opponents, for a net total of 1,612 against 1,021.

Southern attempted 49 passes, completed 19, for 559 yards. Opponents tried 63 passes, completed 27, for a gain of 513 yards. Punting average was 33.4 to 28.7 for opponents. Southern fumbled 17 times against 8 for opponents. It lost 375 yards on penalties against 315 for opponents, making total yards gained 2,171 against 1,564 for opponents, or an average yardage per game of 241 compared to 176.

The Highlanders scored 146 points against 92 for opponents. Terry Colaw scored 42 points, John Prince, 30; Bill Duling, 21; Ron Colaw, 21, Keith Butler, 18; Jim Haines, 7; Dick Stuck, 6; and Sonny Riggs, 1.

Victories were recorded against Northern, St. Francis of Morgantown, Kingwood, Terra Alta, and Petersburg. The Highlanders lost to Moorefield, West Va. School for the Deaf, Beall and Keyser.

Seven players will be lost to next year's team either as seniors or being above the age limit. They are Terry Colaw, Keith Butler, Tom Bergner, Bill Duling, Bob Nordeck, Maurice Brookhart and Kenneth Martin.

Coming up from the junior high team will be Dick Gnegy, Arthur Lawton, Richard Evans, Nelson Swartzentruber, Gary Orr and David Nordeck, backfield material; and Floyd Arnold, Ed Bateman, Joe Germain, Douglas Stiles, George Stanya, Jack Jones, Dallas House and James Thayer, line material.

Coaches were confident that there probably would be a number of senior high school students out for the team next year who did not play junior high ball. They considered prospects bright for next year. Little change in the schedule of opponents is expected. Keyser is being replaced by Romney.

From the dawn of human history, man has gazed with awe and fascination across the horizon. What secrets are buried in the sea's vast bosom and what strange lands and peoples and adventures are out there beyond the sunset?

The unknown has always presented a mystery and a challenge to mankind. Many have faced it with fear and shrinking. Others have accepted its challenge and have opened up new vistas of human knowledge.

Those who live and search in the Everlasting Light, His Holy Word, need have no fear of what lies beyond the oceans of water, the oceans of human experience, or the oceans of human thought. For the land and the sea are God's, and He rules in the kingdom of men.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

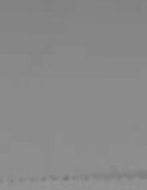
The Good News

Lesson for November 22, 1959

IT CANNOT be said too often: Christianity is not an organization, it is not a creed, it is not a set of good resolutions, it is not a special kind of philosophy, it is not ideas. It produces all these, but it does not begin with any of them. It beings with good news. We have a first-class case in the story before us in Acts 8. At the turning-point in that story, we are told that Philip "opened his mouth and . . . told him the good news of Jesus." It is not said that Philip opened his mouth and gave the stranger good advice, or condemned his sins, or urged him to turn over a new leaf, or offered him a book to read, or urged him to join a church. He just told the good news about Jesus.



Dr. Foreman

Evangelism Is Good-News-ism

The church today has a technical-sounding big word which many Christians do not understand. It is "Evangelism." When we hear the word, we think of sawdust trails, of mass meetings, of Billy Graham and the Salvation Army and special services at the church on the corner. We think of trained choirs and TV and teams. Like typical Americans, we want our "evangelism" as we want everything else, on a grand scale and organized to the last inch. Actually, evangelism (as Billy Graham or any good minister can tell you) is a simple thing. As a famous Christian leader from Ceylon, D. T. Niles, has said, "Evangelism is one beggar telling another beggar where he can find bread."

Some Christian people say they do not believe in evangelism. Push the question with them, and you may find one or the other of two things to be true: either they don't understand what evangelism is, or else they don't really believe in Christ after all—they have no good news to tell. There is a good and a bad way to run a newspaper. A critic may not like the way a particular paper is run, but that doesn't mean that newspaper business is bad business.

Philip told his good news effectively, so much so that the name "evangelist" stuck to him. What made him so good at it? He probably never took a "course in evangelism" all his life. For one thing, he was a man sensitive and responsive to the leading of the Holy Spirit. We first hear of him when the church at Jerusalem is looking for men to appoint on a committee (Acts 6). Qualifications mentioned were that the men should be "men of good repute, full of the Holy Spirit and of wisdom." It would seem that being full of the Spirit and of wisdom were not thought of as being the very same thing.) At any rate, by the time the Spirit said to Philip, "Go join this chariot," Philip knew the Spirit's voice. It is not necessary to suppose that the Holy Spirit always speaks, or spoke to Philip then, in a voice you could catch on a tape recorder. The point is that the Spirit's will was made known in Philip's mind and Philip knew the difference between God's direction and a notion of his own. How did this man become so sensitive to the voice of God? No doubt because he had been obedient before.

He Knew His Bible

Another reason for Philip's success is his knowledge of his Bible. It was a "rash" thing to do, maybe, for this dusty pedestrian to speak to this Very Important Personage in his chariot. But Philip felt he had the right to speak. When he heard that official reading aloud (for that is what the Greek word in verse 28 means), in his dull treasurer's-report voice, that sublime passage from Isaiah 53, Philip could not hold in. Do you understand what you are reading? he cried. The distinguished stranger was too much astonished to be offended. Here he was, a man of wealth, distinction, power; but this poor hiker had something he did not have; he knew what the Bible has to say, he knew what it means. God used this man, who had the one thing needful, to convert a man who had everything but what he needed. God can always use those who know and love his Word.

Paul fears about certain here [illegible] were well grounded. Today there is much confusion in the Christian camp because many wear their own Bible instead of searching the Scriptures. Much error in present day Christianity stems from the fact that some believe that if a thing is advertised enough it is bound to be true. This is apparent in the claims of the tobacco and alcoholic beverage industries when they say everything under the sun [illegible] people want the smart, [illegible] read, see, and hear, as far as our spiritual condition is concerned. Schell S. Hoye of Silver Spring, and William E. B. Graves of Arlington, Virginia, partners in the firm of Schell S. Hoye & Co. Certified Public Accountants, and Samuel J. Smith of Silver Spring, recently announced the merging of their accounting practices and continuance under the firm name of Hoye, Smith, Graves & Company, with offices in the Associations Building, Washington, D. Many Parents Visit Schools Last Week

Schools from all parts of the county reported heavier parent visitation during American Education Week this year than had taken place in previous years. This, according to the school principals, is an outgrowth of the added interest parents are taking in the activities of their respective schools and in P.-T. A.'s in particular.

Principals reported that there is a growing interest in schools generally on the part of parents and a greater realization of the need for a good educational program for their children. This interest is evidenced by larger P.-T. A. attendance and a greater concern relative to the quality of education provided for their children. School principals also feel that the many improvements which have been made to schools of the county in recent years have provided a greater source of local pride in the schools on the part of both pupils and parents.

Northern High School reported that 190 parents visited the school during American Education Week, to top the list of county schools reporting. Center Street ranked a close second, reporting 185 visitors. The number of visitors in the other schools reporting was as follows: Accident, 47; Route 40, 60; Friendsville, 121; Yoder, 41; Dennett Road, 141; Grantsville, 136; Southern, 121; Swan Meadow, 35; Red House, 36; Loch Lynn, 72; Kitzmiller, 78; Crellin, 15.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTLOW

Teaser: At last it's here.

"Another week has passed us by, now I know where to get pizza pie." I kid you not! There is now a place in town to buy good pizza and that none other than the Varsity Maid. This is no commercial, this is public information. Having no Pizza Parlor or reasonable facsimile was the only complaint I could register about small town living. Now it has a juke box with the top records, it 'is being remodeled and pizza, too. Hurrah!

Friday night may have well proved as the last night for an out-of-town group to appear at Teen Age club. Some of our own members were terribly discourteous to D A. and The Edsils. Though I must admit, the visiting group entered the armory with what appeared to be a "dumb hillbilly" attitude. I could be wrong, but I feel the blame for the bad reception should fall upon more than a few shoulders, not all local. I have visited clubs throughout the surrounding states, but I have yet to find a better group (for its size) than our own.

A new rule is now being enforced. No one under 13 years of age shall be admitted to Teen Age club. I feel that this is an excellent rule and I know it will be strictly enforced. Mrs. L. J. Sacher has been put at the head of a committee to help provide proper chaperones. When parents are called upon, make sure they do not shirk their duty. Their duty in this case is to their own children, as well as to those of others. Would they want you to come to Teen club some night when someone was "too busy" or "had forgotten" or had made "previous arrangements?" Old Chinese saying: Real in mind, prease.

All week I have been verbally cudgeled by Fab fans concerning my article last week. I merely stated an adult view, I don't feel that this was any reason for so much criticism. In fact, I'm going to catch his new and first movie, "Houndog Man," within the next couple of weeks. Then I'll write a review. At which time I'll view the whole works, picking out the good and bad and then I'll write it. (And on Thursday yours truly will probably board train No. 12 in a box marked, Tanganyika Territory, hotly pursued by some three hundred members of Fabs local fan club running the ties to Bloomington or 'til their wind gives out).

I would really like to have some mail from the northern tip of the county. Then I could broaden Teen Corner to cover the whole county. After all I am writing a teen-age column not a commercial for Oakland's Teen-Age club.

See you all tomorrow night. Top songs from all over the country will meet you at the door. Adios, amigos! I theenk.

Letter to the Editor

25 You St. N. E.
Wash. 2, D. C.

Dear Editor,

I get the Republican every week and read it from cover to cover.

Recently I read Mrs. Leasure's letter in regards to the farmer who was ordered to destroy his chicken house in favor of the owner of a motel and inn. I want to congratulate Mrs. Leasure on her treatise in behalf of the farmer and natives of Garrett County. Her essay should have been in in large letters on the front page. I was born and reared in Garrett County, so Mrs. Leasure's letter gave me nostalgic reminders of bygone days when all of nature's sounds filled the air and to the delight of all who heard them. The frogs first croak was the welcome sign of spring. The hum of the honey bee lulled me to sleep on a dreamy summer afternoon, the bleat of the ewe on a far away hill side told the farmer all was well with his flock. The moo of the cow gave him feelings of satisfaction of a full pail of milk morning and evening. The crickets chirped on the cozy hearth to tell of the approach of winter. How I long for those peaceful sounds and wish again to hear the trickling stream in the valley as it flows across the rocks to a far away river.

Memories linger with me of the smell of arbetus in the spring, the scent of new mown hay, the odor of cider and sauerkraut in the autumn. In winter the aroma of cooking pork and mince meat pies to sharpen our appetites and keep us nourished for the long winter days ahead. I regret to know that the farmer must make way for the "city slickers". It is distressing to know that the odor of chicken and dumplings in the pot is to be replaced by odor of beer.

Maybe some people would rather hear the tinkling of beer glasses than the peaceful sound of a cow bell.

It is sad to know that all the sweet sounds of the country side shall be deadened for the city vacationer who goes to the wide open spaces to let off steam.

I know that things cannot remain the same no matter how much we'd like them to but without appreciation for the lovely things much can be destroyed. Farmers, are you forgetting the lovely and beautiful things you have on good old Garrett County? I'd like to hear from you. Lets have some letters in the Republican in the weeks to come to show you are counting your blessings and that you are still standing high in your principles for the good things for all.

Sincerely yours,
A long time friend of Garrett Countians,
Edyth C. Reichert

Is Your Name SHANK?

Shank, an old and honored surname, is principally of English and Scottish origins. It admits of at least two derivations. In one of its usages it served originally as a nickname because of some peculiarity of the legs. Nicknames were often adopted as surnames when the latter came into vogue in about the year 1,000, and thus Shank has been passed from generation to generation and has increased steadily in use as a surname. It is said also that Shank was the surname applied to newcomers to a community who came from the lands of Shank in Midlothian, Scotland.

Christian Shank (1751-1836) served as a corporal in the Maryland troops during the Revolutionary War. He was born in Germany and died in Morristown, N. J.

Washington County, Maryland is apparently the ancestral home of a substantial number of the present day members of the Shank family in Maryland, for the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has thirteen listings of persons by the name of Shank who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time, ten of whom lived in Washington County.

There are three references to persons by the name of Shank in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Corwin Sheridan Shank (1866-1947) was a distinguished attorney who practiced his profession in Seattle, Washington for 56 years. He was chairman of the board of directors of the Northwest Casualty Company and also active in the Baptist Church. In the latter connection, he was president of the Northern Baptist Convention of America in 1923-24.

Robert J. Shank is vice-president in charge of engineering, Hughes Aircraft Company, Culver City, California.

Spencer Shank is professor of education at the University of Cincinnati.

Robert Ely Shank is professor and head of the department of preventive medicine, Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis.

Jacob Ralph Shank is professor of structural engineering, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

There's nothing like a new car—and no new car like a Chevrolet. This is the 1960 Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Coupe!

PEOPLE SAY THESE ARE THE THINGS THEY WANT IN A CAR...and CHEVROLET for '60 comes closest to meeting every need!

Interviews with thousands of car owners across the country show clearly what they like or dislike about their present cars . . . and what they want most in their 1960 cars. Here's what the people tell us they want . . . and here's how Chevrolet meets their needs.

"Price, that's what's uppermost in my mind." All Impalas and Bel Airs with V8 engines are lower in price, as are automatic transmissions and many other popular options. Also Biscaynes now include as standard equipment conveniences formerly optional at extra cost.

"And how about operating economy? And resale value?" You keep right on saving after you buy your favorite Chevrolet, too. And Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value means you'll get more back when you trade.

"Give me plenty of good old-fashioned comfort." There's comfort and then some in this one. Chevy's long on space, for one thing. Once you're under way you'll know just how comfortable Full Coil suspension makes your ride.

"Safety—don't forget safety!" You're surrounded by safety features in a new Chevrolet. You've got big, sturdy brakes underfoot, for example, that last longer. As it has been for years, safety is standard equipment in Chevy.

"Let's keep upkeep down, too." More than ever, Chevrolet for 1960 is built to stay on the road and out of the repair shop. You can tell that from its hushed, unrutlled way of going, from the solid thunk of Chevy's big doors. Of course, if you should need service, you're always near efficient, economical attention to your needs.

"I want a car that will stand up to the driving I do." For proof of Chevy's staying power, just spend a minute watching the nearest road. You'll see more Chevrolets traveling on it than any other car—evidence-on-wheels of Chevrolet durability. (And that higher resale value attests to it, too.)

"Me for a sweet-handling car." Handling's always been Chevy's forte, and 1960 is no exception. But really, this kind of lightness and precision you've simply got to enjoy for yourself.

"...a car you can look at and be smug about buying it." Chevrolet for 1960 leaves the low-price field far behind when it comes to fashion. But you're the best judge of styling, so take a good close look at Chevrolet. We warn you: you're about to fall in love.

"And performance. Let's have a hot one!" Chevy's spirited V8's have set the standard for ultra-efficient power in American-built passenger car engines. You've got a long list of performance-minded transmissions to pick from, too.

So that, friends, is what you told us you want. We think it can be summed up rather well in just one word: value.

Get the full story of Chevy's brand of value soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

CLARENCE E. HARDESTY
Oakland, Maryland
vs.
JEANETTE P. HARDESTY

No. 4967 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states:

That on June 30, 1956, the plaintiff was married to the defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, in Baltimore, Maryland; that the said defendant lived with him only four days after said marriage, at the end of which time, without any just cause or reason, she abandoned and deserted him and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, although his conduct toward his said wife had always been kind, affectionate and above reproach; that the said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for a period of more than eighteen months prior to the filing of the bill of complaint and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children have been born from said marriage; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has been for a period of more than one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint; that the present whereabouts of the defendant is not known to the plaintiff, but that her last known address was 3505 Cliftmont Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, that the plaintiff is advised that the defendant went to the State of Rhode Island about one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint, but that her present address is not known, and that, therefore, the plaintiff believes and alleges that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland. The bill then prays for a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii and for further relief.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of November, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of December, 1959, give notice to the said absent defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, of the object and substance of the bill of complaint, warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 21st day of December, 1959, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

P-TA Congress Urges Pay Boost For All Teachers

The Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers announced it would back a 15 million dollar pay raise proposal for teachers and called on its members to oppose the 5 million dollar plan suggested by a legislative committee.

It voted to support an annual pay scale of $4,000 to $6,000 for the state's teachers and to oppose the $3,200 to $5,300 scale proposed by the Legislative Council's committee on Taxation and Fiscal matters. The present scale ranges from $3,200 to $5,000.

Mrs. Fred L. Bull, legislation chairman of the Congress, expressed annoyance that the group did not invite parent-teacher representatives to its hearings despite requests of it to do so.

The convention in Baltimore also went on record as "extremely disturbed" by the Legislative Council's decision to defer action until 1961 on a revision of the State scholarship program. It adopted a resolution urging the General Assembly to enact a law "which provides to the State and the recipients the maximum benefits and usefulness of monies appropriated for this purpose."

The delegates voted against a proposal to award state scholarships on a merit basis similar to the National Merit Scholarship program.

THOSE BLESSED HYPOCRITS!

Many times in personal conversation, I have heard people say, "I do not want to have anything to do with the Church because there are so many hypocrits!" Yet these same people are not influenced to stay away from other places because of hypocrits. I wonder how many lodges have people who profess one thing and are another? And yet, these people who complain about churches often are members of lodges. The business world is full of hypocrits, but if these same critics see a chance to make a dollar, they do not hesitate to do business, even with hypocrits. Married life is full of hypocrits, but these same people will risk marriage rather than stay single. I have, when the situation was right, put the matter squarely up to those who criticize the Church because of the hypocrits by saying, "Do you suppose God is fooled by them? Of course not, they will go to Hell along with the rest of the wicked. If you detest hypocrits so much, you had better change your way or you will have to spend eternity with them!!" So if you really want to avoid contact with the hypocrits you had better accept God's offer of salvation and go to the only place where hypocrits cannot go — Heaven.

Farm Operators May Be Losing Benefits From Social Security

Many Garrett County farm operators may be losing benefits and protection for their family, according to John Hardesty, Field Representative of the local Social Security office. He remarked this week that due to a misunderstanding of the law many farmers believe that filing of social security reports of farm earnings is optional in all cases.

Self-employed farmers having net earnings of at least $400 in a taxable year are required to file tax returns with Internal Revenue and pay the Social Security tax. When a farmer's net earnings are less than $400 he may report by the "optional method" if his gross income is $600 or more.

Mr. Hardesty feels that some Garrett County farmers with low earnings have missed getting Social Security protection because they were unaware of the "optional method" for reporting. He states that tax returns for the past three years can still be filed for each year in which the gross income was $600 or more. Credits for these years would then be obtained which might decide whether Social Security benefits can be paid at a later date.

Further information is obtainable from the Social Security office, 6 Pershing St., Cumberland, or its representative who is in the basement of the Post Office in Oakland each Tuesday afternoon.

New Road Section Open to Traffic

The new section of U. S. route 219, from Oakland to Gortner is now completely open to traffic, after several weeks of blocking off a short span of about a mile.

Some difficulty in construction in the area around the overhead bridge over the B. and O. tracks near Weber's caused the delay, but officials were unwilling to discuss the problem.

There had been numerous reports that the bridge was not constructed according to plans and specifications, while other reports persisted that the continual sinking of the approaches had delayed the opening. The balance of the roadway has been open for several weeks. Two weeks ago the officials allowed school buses to use the route, but is was not until Monday that the entire route was open to the general public.

Count Your Blessings - - -

At this time of year our thoughts naturally turn to th. harvest. Being God-fearing people, our forefathers have handed down to us the tradition of Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving is a time of counting our many blessings. It is a time for taking stock of the good things in our lives.

We review our friends and their many acts of kindness to us. We review the many blessings we have received, both spiritual and material.

The dictionary defines Thanksgiving Day in the United States as "an annual festival in acknowledgment of Divine favor, usually held on the last Thursday of November." A minister of the area has defined "Divine favor."

He says in part: "Some people say it is their automobile, television set, washer and dryer, freezer, tractor or house. They are not wrong for God is the creator of all good things. Some people say that Divine favor is having a happy family and they are not wrong, for God established family life as His basic institution. Some people say that Divine favor is the privilege of living in Democracy of the U. S. and they are not wrong. God is responsible for putting us here instead of a hut in Africa or an igloo near Alaska.

"Steel strikes, television scandals in quiz shows, union corruption, big business corruption, racial and religious prejudice, families broken by divorce, juvenile gang wars—how do the people involved in these truelife stories interpret Divine favor? These difficulties are never cleared up, for others or for us. We have prejudices, our faults, family troubles and economic problems. We regularly break one or more of the commandments.

"But we thank God in spite of our problems, difficulties and sin. We can do this because Divine favor really means that we are in a correct relationship with God, through faith in God's son and our Savior, Jesus Christ."

So let us all count our blessings this Thanksgiving, 1959, and reverently thank The Giver.

Traffic Passes Above, Not Over Weber's 219 Crossing

The recent opening of the overpass at Weber's Crossing, south of Oakland (pictured above) marks another milestone in the history of this section of Route 219 which has been, through the years, both controversial and tragic.

Agitation for a better road was begun in 1911 with the circulation of a petition by various citizens to have the county build "a section of macadam road about four miles in length, running from the corporate limits of Oakland to Gortner." Under the terms of what was known as the Shoemaker act of the Maryland legislature the State would have paid half of the cost.

The petition apparently was accepted by authorities, for in February of 1913 a team of surveyors was sent here by the State to survey the route from Oakland towards Sunnyside.

Here a controversy developed, some believing a more feasible route would be to extend Third street (the Monte Vista road) instead of building an entirely new right of way.

Weber Site Selected

However, the advocates of the new route won out, and in 1914 a contract for construction of the highway was awarded by the County Commissioners to Echard and Landon at a price of $10,168 per mile and $9,514 for stream change and concrete work.

But the proponents of the other route died hard. In May, 1914, an injunction was filed against the building of the alternate route, with the aim of preventing the commissioners and contractors with proceeding with the work.

In spite of the efforts of the petitioners' attorney, R. T. Sommes, of Cumberland, the contractors proceeded with the opening of a stone quarry and actual construction of the roadway and railway crossing. The petition was subsequently dismissed. Former Chief Judge George Henderson, who sustained a demurrer to the petition, gave the petitioners ten days to file additional arguments, but none was forthcoming.

Tragedy At Weber's

The former Weber grade crossing, which in recent weeks has been removed, as the new bridge was placed in use, was the scene of a number of accidents and near-accidents.

In September, 1920, three young women were killed and two men injured when an automobile in which they were riding stalled on the crossing in the path of a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train—an incident paralleling the recent school bus-train collision in Mt. Lake Park.

Victims were Hazel Ridder, Emma Fulk and Ruth Nicholson. Injured were Harry Nicholson and Clarence Fulk.

The site of the old crossing, and the modern bridge which supplanted it, is shown in the accompanying photograph.

ONE MORE ELIMINATED—There is one less dangerous grade crossing in Garrett County today with the opening to traffic of the overpass at Weber's Crossing, on Route 219 south of Oakland. The photograph shows a Baltimore and Ohio train passing under the new and over the site of the old—the track-level crossing having been removed a week ago and the approaches barricaded.

Eleven Questions To Be Under Discussion At Education Meet

Eleven questions are listed for discussion at the second annual lay conference on education, to be held at the Dennett Road school on Tuesday, December 1. The session is being sponsored by the Board of Education.

Some 300 or more parents and interested school patrons from all parts of the county are expected for this discussion of "Education in the Space Age."

Among the questions are the following:

How much will our present educational program need to change in order to provide adequate training for children;

What changes, if any, should come about?

Where is the money to come from to finance the quality education program everyone says we need and that apparently everyone wants?

Must we look increasingly to the federal government for funds to finance our schools?

The qualities wanted in teachers and how they differ from qualities sought by the professions, scientists, top executives, top salesman, etc.

How parents can tell whether or not their child is making satis-

To Hold Discussion On Milk Commission

A meeting to present a discussion of the proposed Maryland Milk commission has been arranged by the County Agent's office in cooperation with the Garrett County Farm Bureau, for Thursday, December 3, for dairymen of the county. It will be held in the Accident Fire hall, at 1:30 p. m.

James A. McHenry, county agent, said Prof. George M. Beal, farm economist of the University of Maryland, would present the information and be in charge of the program.

McHenry said many dairymen in the county had heard or read of the proposed commission. He said the proposal had posed a number of questions in the minds of farmers, processors and retailers. He said a number have wondered how it would be organized what would be the function of such a commission what are the advantages and disadvantages, would it establish price controls and what effect would this have on wholesale and retail prices.

McHenry is urging all interested persons to attend the discussion.

Announcement was made this week that the Sanders Motor Freight lines had merged with Quinn Freight Lines of Brockton, Mass.

The merger was approved last Friday by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The merger does not affect local operations in any way, it was stated. The Quinn Freight line is considered one of the largest concerns in the business and carries merchandise into Canada as well as the United States.

Deer Season To Open December 5

The annual deer hunting season will open Saturday, December 5 and will continue until sundown Saturday, December 12, excluding Sunday, December 6. This is the first year than an extra day has been added to the season and will give hunters two Saturdays for hunting.

Normally the season has been the first full week in December.

During this period it will be lawful to kill bucks with two or more points to one antler and spike bucks with three inch antler.

The small game season, which began November 15, will be suspended during the deer season but will be resumed Monday, December 14 and will continue until January.

A number of hunters already have made reservations in private homes, boarding houses and other places and it was indicated that some 2,500 to 3,000 hunters would be in the woods during the first few days of the season.

Hunters will attempt to surpass the all-time record of 698 kills made during the 1957 season. In 1958 there were 608 bucks killed and last year hunters killed 678 bucks. The limit is one buck per year per hunter.

Game regulations stipulate that bucks may be killed only with a rifle that develops over 1,200 foot pounds of muzzle energy. Shotguns loaded with pumpkin balls or slugs may also be used.

Those killing a buck during how hunting season are not eligible to hunt during the firearms season. Only three deer were killed during the bow season this year, the second in history for this county.

There will be four deer checking stations in this county where deer must be checked as soon as possible after being killed. It is unlawful to remove the head or hide or other parts except internal organs, or cut up the meat until the deer has been reported and weighed at one of the checking stations.

Stations in the county will include the Edwards garage in Grantsville, Matt Storey's on Deep Creek Lake, Murphys, in Friendsville; and Carroll Miller's Mt. Top Tire and Sport Shop in Oakland. The checking stations at the sheriff's office in Oakland and at Swanton have been abandoned.

Hunters may also check in at Westernport or LaVale, in Allegany county.

Additional district game wardens from other counties of the state will be assigned to Western Maryland during the season.

Girl Scouts Select Their Leader As "Citizen of Year"

Girl scouts of troop one, Oakland, surprised their leader, Miss Cara Weber, by naming here their "Citizen of the Year." The girl scouts annually select a person who has done a commendable community activity. Miss Weber is starting on her twelfth year in girl scout work.

She was graduated from Oakland High school in 1942 and attended college at the Ambler School of Horticulture for Women, in Philadelphia. She was graduated from that institution in 1944 and started working in Mt. Vernon, O., in connection with her school. She was there for one year when she was called home because of illness in the family.

Then she became interested in dairy farming and later took up Girl Scouting as an extra activity. The troop at that time was about ready to disband because of poor attendance and lack of cooperation. The troop was then sponsored by the Senior Civic club of Oakland and Miss Weber took over.

Mrs. Carl Wolfe, chairman of the troop committee, pointed out that Miss Weber had given much time in her work with the scouts and even at the time a hurricane destroyed her farm she kept her scout activity, at the same time rebuilding her farm. Mrs. Wolfe said her door "is always open to any girl interested in girl scouting."

There was a good attendance at the meeting Sunday at the Dennett Road school where the announcement of her selection was made. It was also the time for the annual fly-up ceremony for Brownies and Girl Scouts and a time for awarding of pins.

Other citizens of the year named in previous years have been Mrs. E. Z. Tower, the Rev. John J. Atwell, Dr. A. E. Mance, Fred Tichnell, Miss Grace Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kight, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Coplin, Joseph Hinebaugh, Mrs. Howard Turner and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones.

Fined on Reckless Driving Violation

Arthur Alonzo Umstot, of Westernport, was found guilty of reckless driving at a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Monday morning.

Umstot collided with an automobile driven by James Matthews, at the intersection with the Bloomington highway and Swanton road, near the top of Backbone mountain. In the automobile with Mr. Matthews were George White and two others who were not identified.

Umstot pleaded not guilty but Magistrate Maroney found him guilty and fined him $15 and costs.

There were only two other violations on the magistrate's automobile docket this week.

Floyd Ray Phillips, Shallmar, was fined $5 for passing another vehicle near the brow of a hill. Charles Theodore Brown, of Fairmont, was fined $10 for exceeding 50 miles per hour.

From the Department of Motor Vehicles this week one person was listed from this area as having his driving license suspended. He was George C. Thomas, of route 1, Oakland. The period was for one month from November 17.

Christmas Lighting To Go Up Dec. 1

The Christmas decorations for the town of Oakland will be put in place next Tuesday, December 1, it was announced by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. In charge of the decorations is J. T. Cain, manager of the West Maryland Power company.

The Chamber of Commerce will pay the labor costs for the erection of the Christmas lights and the work will be done, same as in previous years, by employes of the Power company.

There will be the usual strands of lights across the streets in the business section, plus the pole ornaments and the decorated tree on the Episcopal church lawn, corner of Second and Liberty streets.

The Chamber of Commerce made no plans this year for any special Christmas promotion campaign but arrangements already have been made for the annual Christmas treat for the children of the community. This will be held on Saturday, December 19, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Gas Company Moves More Gas Into Area To Reinforce System

Two projects are underway by the C. and A. Gas company to move more Appalachian area gas into its system to reinforce its cold weather gas deliveries.

The utility is now laying over 2½ miles of new four-inch pipe in this county. The $52,000 project to gather production from three separate gas wells recently completed by an independent firm in the Accident field. The project is expected to be completed around the first of December.

The company also has an 11-well drilling program more than half complete in Lewis, Upshur and Barbour counties in West Virginia, designed to maintain and expand the company's gas "take" from that area.

The two projects will build up local gas supplies on both ends of the system. In addition the company still requires substantial volumes of pipeline gas to meet all cold weather requirements, according to Russell H. Brown, area manager. Over 17 percent of the company's cold weather gas volumes will be moved into the territory by a pipeline supplier, Atlantic Seabord corporation, at Beverly, W. Va.

Gas from the Accident field is shunted north to lines of Manufacturers Light and Heat company. This firm then moves the gas east to Ellerslie where it is routed south in the system to serve the area around Cumberland.

The company's gas production activities and pipeline construction related to moving native gas into the company's system is taking over one-third of the company's 1959 $2 million dollar service improvement program.

A union service is scheduled by the Mt. Lake Park Protestant churches and will be held at the Mt. Lake Park Baptist church in Loch Lynn. The Rev. Randall Prince, pastor of Bethel Methodist church, will be the speaker. The service is scheduled for 10 o'clock, Thursday morning.

The four participating churches are the Mt. Lake Park Baptist, the Evangelical United Brethren, the Bethel Methodist and the Oak Park Church of the Brethren.

Two More Cases Of Polio Listed

Two more cases of polio were listed this week in Garrett county. One was paralytic polio and one was termed "acute", and non paralytic.

Harold Hauser, aged 15, son of Mrs. Ethel Hauser, of near Gorman, has had paralytic polio since October 3rd. The health department received word on Tuesday that tests show conclusively that it was polio. He has been under the care of the Crippled Children's services and is at his home.

Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer, said the youth had extensive paralysis but that it was not complete anywhere. He is showing signs of improvement at this time. The youth had received no polio immunization shots.

The acute polio case was that of George Thomas White, aged 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester White, of near Deer Park. The disease was diagnosed two weeks ago in Monongalia General hospital in Morgantown, W. Va., where the lad was taken following his illness. Mr. White drove to Morgantown on Saturday and brought him to his home where he is now recuperating. There was no paralysis in this particular case but its recuperation will take several weeks.

Mining Company Defaults on Bond For Coal Stripping

The now defunct Deer Park strip mining company fined $10,000 recently in Federal court in Baltimore for violations of the federal wage and hour law, has defaulted on bonds covering the 36 acres the firm stripped.

Frank T. Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, said today the Schell Mining company, Inc., of Deer Park, forfeited $3,600 it had posted according to the state strip mining law.

The firm had put up bond when the charge was only $100 an acre, but since that time it has been increased.

The state law requires the bond be forfeited if the company does not backfill the area it has stripped.

The old $100 fee was increased when the General Assembly deemed it not enough and too many operators found it cheaper to forfeit rather than backfill.

The Schell Mining company was fined $10,000 by U. S. District Judge Koszel C. Thomsen for failing to pay proper overtime wages, falsification of records, failure to keep proper records and making illegal shipments across state lines.

C. D. Houck, Kingwood, the firm's president-treasurer, was also fined $2,000 and Richard Trickett, its secretary, $1,000. Houck entered a guilty plea as did the company to its four charges.

Powers pointed out that the strip mining operation was located four miles south of Deer Park between that community and Gormania. In 1958 the Schell company stripping 54,985 tons of Bakerstown seam and 61,282 tons of Freeport seam at the 36-acre spot, accounted for roughly one-sixth of the total strip coal tonnage produced in this county. The 126,268 tons made up more than one-third of the strip coal shipped from Garrett county last year.

Powers said the operation shut down about two months ago.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company held special ceremonies last Friday morning in Grantsville for the conversion to the dial system for about 400 subscribers in that section.

The changeover was effective at 10 a. m. and the first official call on the new equipment was made by Mayor Lee Beachy of Grantsville to State Senator Bernard L. Gondrr in Oakland. The picture shows Mr. Beachy in the upper right inset, with a line attached to a telephone in Oakland with Senator Gondrr's picture in the small inset. The telephone building is the new structure at Grantsville housing the exchange.

Other officials attending the event included Carl Schell, Fred Glotfelty and Elra Galeti, County Commissioners. The C. and P. company spent $253,500 for the new center, dial phones and other work. The code name for Grantsville will be TWanoma. The exchange at Bittinger will remain Citestand 5 and Salisbury will keep MOhawk 2.

Clarence Stem, manager of the C&P Telephone Company in the Oakland area, said the change over does not affect any charges or toll fees for the area. Grantsville still remains the only exchange in the county where there is an extra charge for a call.

Mr. Smouse said that emphasis is being placed on individual and home preparedness with special attention to be paid to distribution of the family fallout shelter booklet. The booklet gives plans for construction of low cost shelters for the home.

Special Ceremony Marks Scout Event

A special ceremony marked the first birthday anniversary of Girl Scout troop 3, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Civic club, scheduled Wednesday, November 25.

A candlelight investiture ceremony was held for Mary Jane Meyers and membership stars denoting a full year's registration presented to charter members of the troop. A green and gold cloth on which the girls had embroidered their names was used on the buffet table.

Refreshments included a birthday cake decorated with girl scout colors and centered by a large candle, and green punch.

Troop 3 has a total registration of 42 including 32 girls, 4 leaders and 6 troop committee members.

The troop plans to repeat its 'little sister' clothing drive as a community service project. Girls are being asked to bring at least one complete outfit, mended and pressed for size to their meeting, December 2. Wearing apparel for boys also will be accepted. Last year 35 bundles of clothing were distributed through the Dennett Road and Center Street schools.

Another service project recently completed by the members of troop 3 was the making of Thanksgiving tray favors for the local hospital.

Last Week's Photo: Knights of St. John

Last week's old photo proved but a small problem to several readers, all of whom identified the uniform as that of the Knights of St. John, an organization affiliated with St. Peters Catholic church, and established around 1900 by the Rev. Fr. Connell, then pastor of the church.

Dennis Rasche, who contributes historical articles to The Glades Star, identifies the men in the photo as George Kerns, John H. Barlow, Peter Brodedick, William R. Browning and James Treacy. He placed the date as 1901, and said he was positive of the time since Barlow left Oakland in the fall of 1901.

Barlow operated a stogie and cigar factory in Oakland, which must have been short lived, for from newspaper clippings of May, 1900, it is stated:

"A stogy and cigar factory has been established in Oakland by J. H. Barlow, who formerly operated a like enterprise at Mannington, W. Va., he having arrived on No. 46 last Friday and started operations Tuesday morning.

"So far there are two stogy makers employed namely W. W. Pickering and Peter Dalton, who were with Mr. Barlow at Mannington, and several more workmen will be employed when the factory gets under full headway."

The organization also was identified by Miss Katherine O'Donnell, of Mt. Lake Park but she was not positive as to the date. The picture was taken on Oak street, in front of the Shiver Tin shop and residence of Antonio Di Simone.

Today's Photo

Today's old photo will be recognized by more readers as the former Sebley Hotel, located on Liberty and Railroad streets, on ground now owned by the Ralph Pritts garage and used as a parking and storage lot.

The property was purchased by Mr. Pritts in the 1910s and torn down, but its history goes back more than half a century.

From newspaper accounts of May, 1901, we find that "Mr. Thomas F. Burke has built a two-story addition to the Schley Hotel on Railroad street and connected it with his two-story dwelling on Liberty street, which will now be made to from a part of the hotel, thus permitting entrance to same from either street.

"The proprietor has provided a large and commodious dining room, and will have 35 sleeping apartments under one roof.

"This is quite an addition to the facilities of the hotel, and will enable it to accommodate many more guests than formerly."

Five years later, in January, 1906, we find:

"Ex-Sheriff E. J. Frantz has purchased from Mrs. Nannie Burke the Schley Hotel property, on Railroad Street, and has taken charge of same, which he will operate and manage himself. The consideration is said to have been between $11,000 and $12,000. We wish the genial ex-sheriff abundant success in the hotel business."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother who passed away five years ago Nov. 26, 1954.

On a hill not far away,
Where shadows fall and creep,
There lies our loved one.
We tried so hard to keep Sleep on dear mother, it has been five long years.
Since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears.
Yours was a heart that was happy and gay
Scattering sunshine along life's way.
Sweet memories we'll always hold,
Deep within our hearts
Until in Heaven we meet again.
When from this earth we too shall part.

Sadly missed by her husband, Hugh Bateman, Children and Grandchildren.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Better Health Through Knowledge

Dandruff Can Be Helped

- Teething
- Psoriasis
- Lung Cancer

Q. I have infectious dandruff and my hair is getting very thin. Will you please tell me what to do?—Really worried.

A. At one time dandruff was thought to be due to a special kind of scalp germ — hence the reference to "infectious." Many doctors now discount this theory. Physicians have ways of keeping dandruff under control. The preparation most generally used requires a prescription (and medical supervision), so visit your family doctor or consult a skin specialist. Dandruff, as such, probably has little to do with baldness.

Q. Is it normal for a baby to run a temperature when teething?

A. Teething babies may run a little temperature if the gums become inflamed. In the case of jaw teeth there is usually some inflammation. As the tooth pushes to the surface it raises and stretches the overlying tissue. The child quickly discovers that biting down temporarily relieves the discomfort. This increases the irritation and what was bad becomes worse. A slight temperature may result.

Q. Please discuss psoriasis. Is there a cure?—F.P.

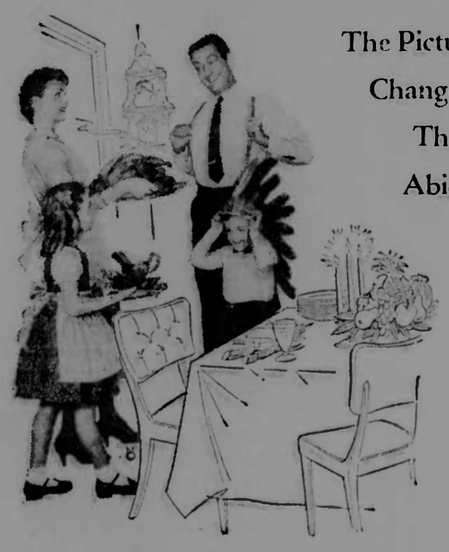
A. Psoriasis is a chronic skin disease of unknown cause. It tends to come and go and may disappear in the summer only to return in the winter or spring. Although there is no sure cure, doctors employ various remedies with considerable success. However, what works in one case may do little good in another. Some physicians report good results with light treatments. The newer cortisone-like drugs are currently being tried in psoriasis. Such preparations, which seem to be suppressive rather than curative, are, of course, used only under medical supervision. People with psoriasis (and this applies to folks with other types of skin conditions) often try self-medication and frequently make matters worse by over-treatment. Medical advice should always be obtained.

Q. Is there any way to detect lung cancer before it is too late?

A. Yes, by routine chest x-ray examination. This is at present the only means of discovering symptomless lung cancer. In examining almost one million persons by x-ray, Michigan doctors discovered 438 suspected victims of lung cancer. Of the "probable" cases, 79 proved to be cancer. Unfortunately, only 42 cases had been detected early enough to permit surgery.

Safeguarding the potency of certain biologicals, antibiotics, insulin and other drugs requires that they be kept under correct temperature control. To provide this essential safeguard, a glistening electric refrigerator is an important part of our prescription room equipment.

Questions directed to Science Editor, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.



The Picture Has Changed, But The Spirit Abides . . .

It is a far cry from the scene of the first Thanksgiving to the festive tables in modern, streamlined homes at which we celebrate the holiday today. But, basic to the proper observance of the Day is the same spirit of devout thankfulness for the blessings vouchsafed to us by a Divine Providence...the same steadfast dedication to maintaining those freedoms for which the founders of our country braved the hazards of the New World.

Roads and Planning Discussion Topics For 4-County Group

Financing of county road construction and ways and means of developing county planning and zoning were the principal topics discussed Monday at the third meeting of the County Commissioners of the four Western Maryland counties held in Frederick.

Comemissioners of Garrett Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties had two previous meetings, one at Cumberland and one at Deep Creek Lake. Thirteen of the 14 commissioners from the four counties were on hand Monday. Carl Sehell, Elra Garletts and Fred Glotfelty attended from this county. State Senator Bernard L. Gonder, also was in attendance in an unofficial capacity.

The road program discussion centered on recommendations of the State Association of County Commissioners to give the 23 counties a larger share of the gasoline and automobile tax revenues. One particular target is the distribution of 30 percent of the gasoline tax revenue to Baltimore City and only 20 percent among all 23 counties and their municipalities. The Legislative Council has expressed some interest in remedial legislation.

Efforts to obtain more federal funds for county road construction also were discussed.

There was also some discussion on planning and zoning. Frederick county has had zoning for four and one-half years. Washington and Allegany counties also appeared interested in zoning regulations. Speaking on zoning and planning were J. Alfred Culsail, executive secretary of the County Planning, Zoning commission, and Arthur Hatten, planner for Frederick county.

The next meeting of the commissioners is planned for January 11, in Hagerstown.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

IRVIN G. STEIDING
SAND FLAT ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH

Regeneration In Everyday Life

"That which is born of the flesh is flesh—and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit . . . ye must be born again."

The need of our community and area is for people to understand more about regeneration or being Born Again. The New Testament declares Jesus to say: "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

The plain unadulterated truth is this: No man is ever saved until God Almighty does something in that man only God could ever do. THERE IS NO SALVATION WITHOUT THE MIRACLE OF THE NEW BIRTH. This New Birth will produce such a change in a man that will effect all he comes in contact with. The Old Testament describes it this way "A new heart also will I give you and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you a heart of flesh. And I will put my Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgment and do them. As surely as God in the realm of physical nature transforms the grubby caterpillar into the translucent butterfly—He has a new birth for every sinner. Appetites—habits—desires—goals for living—all will change, and the regenerate man is a changed person.

We are known as a Christian land with a majority of our population belonging to some religious society yet if we would follow religious principles and statistics we can only come to the conclusion that a lot of people have religion but not salvation. Our annual per capita expenditure for school is $60. Our annual per capita expenditure for all religious purposes is $20. As a nation we have a problem of 5,888,000 alcoholics and 3,141,000 problem drinkers not including the so-called social drinker, which all adds that we consider the business of alcohol three time more important than that of the church. We have 1 divorce in every 4 marriages, and at least 50,000,000 Americans spend their hard-earned cash on some game of chance, from the ladies' afternoon canasta sessions to the neighborhood numbers rackets and anywhere from $20,000,000,000 to $40,000,000,000 is gambled each year.

We need something more than a religious show today, more than an organized sentiment and formulas and prayers repeated. We need something more than visitation and religious education. We need the power and the work of the New Birth in our lives. Jesus said, "Ye must be born again". The sinner must be brought into a new family, the family of God. "Old Things will pass away, all things will become new." Being Born Again is a New Birth brought about by the Holy Spirit that will bring a complete change to a man, and when God touches a man's life he will surely know it.

May we not stop at Religion, for religion says we must be found in God's house, but may we press into Salvation for salvation says we must be found in HIM. Ask yourself the question, "Am I really saved?" Religion will have its purpose but Salvation will have a far greater effect.

Horn of PLENTY

This great land of ours has been blessed with the riches of the earth and with the freedoms, the rights, to enjoy them. But does the mere ownership of these goods guarantee our happiness?

All of us have experienced a disappointment at finally possessing some much-desired article. After weeks and sometimes years of looking forward to it, we find that the actual ownership brings little pleasure.

Could the fault lie with the gift itself? No, apparently it is within ourselves. Our own attitudes, our own relationships, our own understanding have certainly much more to do with our final satisfaction.

How then are we to derive the greatest blessings from the goods which have been put at our disposal? The best place to begin is in the Church. Here, in a personal search for God and our own understanding of Him, we may achieve a spiritual harmony, which will bless our lives and those of our fellow men.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

About Face!

Lesson for November 29, 1959

OUTSIDE of what we are told about Jesus in the four Gospels, what event is the most important of all those described in the New Testament? Most intelligent Christians would probably agree on one particular event. If it had not happened, nearly half the New Testament books could not have been written. If it had not happened, over a quarter of the pages of the New Testament would be blank. If it had not happened, Christianity might well have died by strangulation. For there were many who wanted to strangle it in its cradle, and except for one man they might have succeeded.

Dr. Foreman

Why, Saint Paul happened, to be sure! He himself never would say it "happened" and we do not mean that it was a happen-so, a chance occurrence. He believed to his dying day that God planned it, and we may well believe he was right.

Confronted With Christ

Saints do not become saints over night. But they have to start somewhere, somehow. The amazing thing about Paul is that he did an absolute about-face, after a certain day near the city of Damascus in Syria. He was, to put it in one word, converted. That means, in still plainer English, turned around, faced backward from the way the person was going, started in the opposite direction.

It is quite a mistake to think that unless you are converted just as Saint Paul was converted, you haven't been converted at all. That is as silly as saying that if you haven't married a girl exactly like my wife, you aren't really married. As Saint Paul was a unique character any way you look at him, his conversion would be unique too. Further, his situation was decidedly a strange one. He was a professional religious man, engaged in wholesale murder. He was a man who belonged to one of the strictest religious sects of that or any other era, and yet engaged in trying to smash up people who were actually better than he was. He was a man who was passionately devoted to serving God, spending his time making life miserable (when he could not actually kill them) for persons who understood God better than he did.

A man like that, you would think, is not likely to have a "conventional" or average religious experience. Budding Saint Pauls since his time may have had somewhat similar conversions; but John Doe usually has the John Doe type of conversion.

Confronted With Christ

For all that, while much in the circumstances of Paul's conversion (to use a name he did not actually bear till some time later) was peculiar, bizarre or awe-inspiring as you might think it, still basically it was a Christian conversion, with the basic Christian elements plainly in it. First of all, it was confronting Christ. It was a kind of miracle in Paul's case. The miracle may not be so spectacular in other cases but Christ is always there at the beginning of every really Christian life. It may be a Confucian scholar reading a Bible for the first time; it may be an artist attracted by a picture of the Last Supper; it may be a French agnostic, seeing Christ in his wife's character; or a middle-aged man remembering one day how his mother used to pray. Somehow or other, all conversion is based on this meeting between an individual and Christ.

The First Two Questions

Years later Paul told the story of his conversion, to some people who at the moment were bent on killing him. He added something to the story told in Acts (the best manuscripts). He relates two questions, not one, which he asked in that great and awesome hour near Damascus. The first question: "Who art Thou, Lord?" and the second one: "What will you have me to do?" (See Acts 22.) On those two questions hung all his future life. Note three things here: he put his questions now to the highest Authority; he wanted to know all about Jesus; and he put his life at the disposal of his Lord. This is the essence of conversion.

"Yes, Christ Gave Us The CATHOLIC MASS"

Perhaps you don't think so, or perhaps you never gave it a thought. And possibly you regard this age-old Catholic worship as mere pomp and ceremony.

But if Our Lord did institute the Mass, is it not vitally important to you to find out? If He did intend it to be a continuing sacrifice... expressing Christian adoration, praise, contrition and petition... is it not too great a truth to be ignored?

"Bosh!" some will say. "Christ offered Himself on the cross once and for all. Nothing more is necessary." But wait! Jesus clearly indicated at the Last Supper that more is necessary. For after separately changing bread and wine into His Own body and blood... signifying the coming surrender of His life on the cross... Christ commanded the Apostles: "Do this in remembrance of me."

He was, obviously, instituting a continuing sacrifice in which Christians of every generation might join with Him in the most pleasing act of worship that can be offered to God. In this, as in other ways, the Apostles were to act as Christ's earthly ministers... as priests in the external offering of the sacrifice. And when they followed Christ's instructions, Our Lord would offer Himself in sacrifice—the victim would be present as He promised.

This is the heart and core of the Mass, which has been the central act of worship in every Catholic Church on the face of the earth since the time of the Apostles. As successors to the Apostles, the bishops and priests at the Mass recite the very words Christ used at the Last Supper. And when this is done, Christ is present on the altar—offering Himself as He had promised, "for the remission of sins." If this were not true, "Do this in remembrance of me" would be empty and meaningless words, which is inconceivable.

If you would like to know more about the Mass... why it attracts thousands upon thousands of people into Catholic churches everywhere on earth, every day... write today for an interesting, easy-to-understand pamphlet. We will gladly send it free and without obligation... in a plain wrapper. And nobody will call on you. Write today, ask for Pamphlet No. KC-6.

Garrett County Board of Education
Oakland, Maryland

Gentlemen:

We have examined the statements of income collected and expenses disbursed of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1959. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits present the Garrett County Board of Education's cash on hand and in bank at June 30, 1959, and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The records of the Board of Education are adequate and are efficiently kept. We had the complete cooperation of your staff in making this and prior audits.

Respectfully submitted,
(Sgd.) George McLaughlin
Certified Public Accountant

vs.
JEANETTE P. HARDESTY

No. 4957 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states:

That on June 30, 1956, the plaintiff was married to the defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, in Baltimore, Maryland; that the said defendant lived with him only four days after said marriage, at the end of which time, without any just cause or reason, she abandoned and deserted him and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, although his conduct toward his said wife had always been kind, affectionate and above reproach; that the said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for a period of more than eighteen months prior to the filing of the bill of complaint and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children have been born from said marriage; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has been for a period of more than one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint; that the present whereabouts of the defendant is not known to the plaintiff, but that her last known address was 3505 Cliftmont Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, that the plaintiff is advised that the defendant went to the State of Rhode Island about one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint, but that her present address is not known, and that, therefore, the plaintiff believes and alleges that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland. The bill then prays for a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii and for further relief.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of November, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of December, 1959, give notice to the said absent defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, of the object and substance of the bill of complaint, warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 21st day of December, 1959, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi! Another week has whizzed right by; hope it didn't go so fast that nothing much was accomplished. Remember I started to carry a feature about popular area people? Well, it fizzled I still think that TEEN CORNER could use a "whole family" feature so here is an effort.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week, The Maryland Theater had a great picture on the screen. It starred Susan Hayward, Stephen Boyd and Barbara Nichols. It is the story of the complications that arise when a forest fire breaks out in the Canadian woods killing the husband of Susan Hayward and leaving her and her sensitive young son. Unable to manage alone, Hayward gets a hired hand. Before long a relationship develops and Hayward and the hired hand marry. A hostility arises between stepfather and the son when the boy, forced to watch the dressing of a deer, faints from shock. The boy was thought a coward by his stepfather, who has a marked adversion to cowardice in any form. After a lot of tense drama everything works out for the best. Some of the photography in this film, as far as scenes of the outdoors and animals go, is as good as a nature documentary. The acting is convincing enough that your interest will surely be kept from waning. They say it's great, so take a peek for yourself.

Concerning the age limit set at Teen Age Club, I feel that it should be changed from an explicit thirteen to grade seven and up. There are a number of twelve year olds who will be separated from their own crowds by this ruling of thirteen and up. I am all for revising it right away.

I hope to see you all Friday night in the armory for a big after turkey day hop. There will be new discs and loads of fun.

You all go real easy on that gobbler tomorrow and most important think while you are eating it, why you are eating it. And please, be THANKFUL.

Truth and Her Voices - - -

The following was written a few days ago by Ruth Fox, senior student at Southern High, a second for her class to Miss Roberta Cogley, in Creative Writing. It found favor with her instructor and appeared this week as an editorial in the school's newspaper, "The Acorn." The article is well worth reprinting.

If there had been but One Commandment instead of Ten, it might have been "Thou shalt be true." Be true! True to God, true to man, true to self. True to self "and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." For in truth lie all the virtues, all the high morals of God and man.

But what is this truth? Truth motivates a man to do all that is good, noble, and just. Truth does not make of men dreamers who build towers in the sky, but molds them into men of wisdom and knowledge who build on firm foundations. Truth is not simply the absence of falsehood. There are those who, by remaining silent, rationalize that they have not spoken lies. Again there are those whose words speak the truth, but speak it in such a way that their meaning is falsified. There are others who speak lies knowingly, convincing themselves that good is coming of their lies and so they are justified.

Are these, then, being truthful to themselves and other men? No, for, though we convince ourselves, though we rationalize, though we apologize inwardly, the cause of falsehood is being served, and truth is being 'sold down the river." How often we have seen this type of neutral attitude betray men and nations. They have rationalized and convinced themselves time and time again until, at last, the truth is made known.

For truth, when trampled on, cries out against falsehood. She shouts treason at those who have laughed at her, betrayed her. She triumphs as a mighty general over lies, deceit, injustice, immorality. The voice of truth is heard wherever there are men who know right from wrong. She is there to stand firmly beside those who recognize that a lie is a lie, that fraud is fraud, that deceiving is no less than deceiving. She cries out for the punishment of those who would lead others astray, who would tell only half truths and let the other half go unsung.

Yes, this is the voice of truth that is most often heard. It is the clarion tone that echoes from man to man, bringing to justice those who have misused others.

Yet there is another voice of truth. It is a quiet voice—a voice that does not resound among men. This is the voice men write about, think about, philosophize about, and seldom understand. It is a voice that speaks in whispered tones inside a man. It tells the man that he has done wrong. It pleads, it begs with him to stop before he harms himself and his fellow man. But, strangely, man is not willing to be whispered to; man will not listen to that insignificant calling within him. He demands to be shouted at, taunted, rebuked before his fellows. And so we hear the first voice of truth open its deadly fire on the pirate ship of falsehood and wrong.

O man! why will you not pay heed to that all-but-silent messenger within you? Why must you be shamed in front of others? Why do you insist on destroying that faith others have in you, that respect they hold for you.

Accident Man Is Held in Forgery

A 39-year-old Accident man is to be returned to Cumberland next week from the House of Correction to face a charge of forgery in Allegany County Circuit court.

William Baxter Bailey, who is currently serving a two-year term for forgery, was indicted in Cumberland by the October grand jury for cashing a bad check for $85 at a used car lot.

The State's Attorney's office in Cumberland received a letter from Bailey recently requesting an immediate hearing on the charge. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris set the hearing for next Monday and appointed Attorney Jack I. Mullen to represent Bailey.

Bailey was tried in Oakland on August 28 and was found guilty of four counts of forgery. He was given two year terms on each count but Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley ruled the sentences to run concurrently.

State's Attorney James S. Getty of Allegany county obtained a writ of habeas corpus through a court order signed by Judge Harris, and officials of the House of Correction have been notified to return the prisoner to the Court House in Cumberland for the hearing next week.

Garrett County had two snow storms during the past week, both of them dropping two inches or more each on the terram.

One snow occurred last Wednesday, while the second one began on Saturday and continued through Sunday. Accompanied by a high wind on Sunday the storm caused drifting and made skiing available at the Marsh Mountain ski slope.

Monday was moderately cold and cloudy but Tuesday and Wednesday were much warmer and most of the snow which fell earlier had disappeared. Moderate temperature was forecast for the week-end.

The mercury dipped to 20 degrees during the storm last Wednesday and dropped a little lower on Sunday night.

County Roads Has 2-way Radio System Now In Effect

A two-way radio system, now in effect in the County Roads department, is calculated to give improved service in snow removal and in other county road problems.

Announcement of the new system was made yesterday by Darrell Wotring county road supervisor. Wotring said an aerial 81 feet high, had been erected on Hoppole ridge some few weeks ago.

Six auxiliary units have been installed at various places, one at Grantsville, one at Accident, and one at the county roads office in Oakland, one in the master mechanic's car, one in the supervisor's car, and two in foremen's trucks, in charge of snow removal. Another one is to be installed in the Savage river area.

The base antenna and eight units were purchased at a cost of $10,000, Mr. Wotring said. He said he expected the system to be a big help in getting to trouble spots in shorter periods of time.

Paul DeWitt, assistant roads supervisor, related an incident which occurred Wednesday in the North Hill section on the Kitzmiller-Eagle Rock road. A report was received that there was ice on a certain section of the highway. All crews were out on the roads at the time of the report but a radio call to one of the foremen soon resulted in a cinder truck getting to the area.

DeWitt said that the department had redistributed equipment to certain sections of the county in order to better serve the citizens. He said also that letters also were being sent to Parent-Teacher organizations explaining the plan of operation and the method being used to speed snow removal. The department is seeking help of citizens in providing better service. He said anyone knowing of icy or hazardous condition should contact the roads department as early as possible so that radio contact could be made and help sent in the shortest possible time.

DeWitt also announced that the various highway name signs were being obtained and were about 75 percent complete. It is the plan to erect these signs next year.

The Oakland Fire Department will serve a benefit buckwheat cakes and sausage supper at the fire hall on Monday evening December 7. Price will be $1.25 and $.65.

Portable Crusher Being Purchased By Commissioners

Arrangements to purchase a portable stone crusher have been completed, it was announced this week by the County Commissioners. Carl Scholl, president, said the crusher would cost $43,000 and was being purchased from the McClung and Logan Equipment company of Baltimore.

Mr. Schell said that quotations had been sought from three companies but that only one other company had furnished a bid. This was from the West Virginia Tractor company and was some $7,600 higher than the one accepted. Delivery is expected the first week in January.

Mr. Schell said it would be possible to move the stone crusher to any point where a road was being improved and that there would be great savings effected by using stone at the site instead of transporting stone from the crusher to the job. He said the commissioners felt the machine would pay for itself within a few years.

The Commissioners also revealed some of the purchases they had made recently through the Surplus Equipment division of the U. S. government. During the past several months they have obtained the following: 1½ ton stake truck, $100; one-half ton panel truck, $100; truck tractor, 5-ton diesel, $175, two 2½ ton dump trucks, $125 each, a 10-ton trailer, $75. Ready for delivery is a 1½ ton tank truck, $75.

There is also a possibility that the Commissioners can obtain a new crane shovel back hoe for approximately $350, and a grader for the same price.

In regard to the purchase of the stone crusher, The Republican received an anonymous call from New York on Tuesday stating that the Commissioners had arranged to purchase the equipment without advertising for bids.

The law states that is is not necessary to advertise for bids, but that the Commissioners should use every effort to obtain the best price possible for an article of equipment.

Six Fires Occur In Week; Residence Entirely Destroyed

Six fires in the past week resulted in total destruction of one residence, and damage to one other bungalow. Damage was slight in the others, except an assist call to Corinth, W. Va., where a frame garage was consumed.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hopwood Kildow, Cherry Creek road, Deep Creek Lake, was destroyed by fire last Thursday night, November 26, about 8:15 o'clock, along with all its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Kildow were not at home at the time and the alarm was given by Cecil Edgar, a neighbor.

The flames were visible when the Oakland fire department truck left the firehouse and the structure was completely consumed by the time the firemen arrived. The loss was partially covered by insurance. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The Oakland firem, a bit Wednesday, November 25, answered a call from the Terra Alta fire department, asking for an assist in fighting a fire in a frame garage, of Virgil Gladfelty at Corinth, W. Va. The flames were caused by gasoline, it was reported. There was also a shoe repair shop in conjunction with the garage. Both establishment were completely destroyed.

What could have been a serious blaze was averted last Friday in the former Oakland Bakery building on Second street. Firemen said the blaze was caused by workmen searching for a gas leak with a lighted match. Gas had accumulated between the first and second floor, and it exploded, pushing a hole in the first floor ceiling and starting a blaze under the sub-flooring of the second floor. Prompt action by the firemen prevented any further damage. The second floor is occupied by Elda's Beauty Shop.

Two fires occurred Sunday morning. One of them, at the frame bungalow of Joe Gower in Loch Lynn, damaged the building to the extent of about $100. The fire was caused by a faulty flue connection, firemen said.

The second call came about 10:30, from the home of Dwight Ashby, in Crellin. Some hot ashes had been thrown too near a kitchen wall. The blaze was out upon arrival of the department.

The sixth fire occurred Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock, also at Crellin, at the home of Alberta Friend. This was also a flue fire and there was little damage.

Full Bench Will Hear R. W. Guard Trial For Murder

Donald W. Guard, 51, former constable for the Friendsville section of the county and unsuccessful candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, will be tried before a full bench in the Garrett County court Monday, December 21, it was announced this week by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley. Guard is under an indictment of murder.

Fraley said this was the first date available when the other two judges would be able to be in Oakland. Sitting on the bench with Judge Fraley will be Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, of Cumberland, and Associate Judge Kenneth McLaughlin, of Hagerstown.

Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court, said Guard would probably be arraigned just prior to his trial since this was more or less a routine procedure. He was to have been arraigned two weeks ago but postponement was requested because of the illness of one of Guard's attorneys, Earl W. Cobey, of Allegany county.

It was not known until Tuesday just how and where the case would be tried. In a capitol offense case the granting of a change of venue is mandatory if requested by the defense. And it was not known whether Guard would request a jury trial or be heard before the court.

Guard was indicted the middle of November by the grand jury which was called into special session by Judge Fraley to consider the charge that resulted from the fatal shooting of George R. Schrover, 40, Friendsville tavern operator, on October 25.

The former constable has been held without bond and the grand jury was recalled after a habeas corpus writ was denied by the judge, which if granted, would have made it possible for the man to have been released under bond.

Investigating officers have said there were several eyewitnesses to the shooting and that conflicting stories had been told. Guard previously told Sheriff James Frantz that the revolver discharged accidentally as he attempted to break up a tussle between Schroyer and Raymond Coddington. Police were told that Coddington and Schroyer were not fighting, but just "acting the fool" and "horsing around."

Guard was officially relieved of his position as constable by the County Commissioners after the shooting. The Commissioners had appointed him several months earlier on recommendation of the Democratic State Conrad committee.

Deer Season Opens Saturday, Dec. 5th

Hunters seem to be making plans to take advantage of the extra day of deer hunting season that was made available this year through the State Game and Inland Fish department.

The legal season for hunting bucks this year will run from Saturday, December 5, to Saturday, December 12 with Sunday, December 6, excluded. In former years the deer season had lasted for the first full week in December, but this year "something new has been added."

During the season it will be lawful to kill bucks with two or more points to one antler and spike bucks with three inch antler. During the seven days of deer hunting the small game season will be suspended, but will be resumed Monday, December 14.

The four deer checking stations are listed as Edwards Garage in Grantsville, Tatt Storey's on Deep Creek Lake, Murphys in Friendsville, and Carroll Miller's Mt. Top Tire and Sport Shop, in Oakland. Hunters may also check their bucks at Wilderness or LaVale, in Allegany county.

All indications point to a record number of hunters. Extra game wardens will be assigned to other counties in the state will be in Garrett county next week.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Bursitis Can Be Helped

- Chickenpox
- Measles

Q. Will you please write about calcified bursitis?—C.B.

A. All joints are padded with fluid-filled sacs called bursae (singular-bursa). In the accompanying drawing the bursae of the knee joint have been drawn so that they can be clearly seen. Inflammation of a bursa (bursitis) is often preceded by injury to the joint. Long continued irritation may lead to deposits of gravel-like calcium within the bursa. Doctors are sometimes able to break up the deposits without much trouble. Injections are also employed plus x-ray treatment. In some cases it may be necessary to surgically open the bursa and remove the deposits. Heat, massage, and gentle stretching as prescribed by the doctor may be helpful.

Q. How long should a child who has had chickenpox be kept out of school? Can adults get chickenpox?

A. In most communities chickenpox patients are excluded from school until most of the scabs have disappeared. The period of communicability (period when the disease is catching) is probably not more than one day before or more than six days after the appearance of the skin blisters or rash. Because chickenpox is so catching, it is usually contracted on the first exposure so the majority of cases occur in children. One attack always protects for life. However, the disease occasionally occurs in adults.

Q. How soon will a measles vaccine be available?—E.J.

A. It may not be too long. Doctors at Harvard University have been experimenting with a measles vaccine in monkeys. The prospects seem bright but, as with any drug or vaccine, results obtained in animals are not always the same in humans. The most effective way to prevent or modify measles is by use of human immune serum or immune globulin. Fortunately, uncomplicated measles is rarely, if ever, fatal.

Measured by fast relief from pain or swift recovery from illness—prescribed medicine is priceless. Measured by our reasonable prices, prescribed medicine is the biggest "bargain" money can buy.

Southern Will Open Season with Battle Against Terra Alta

Coach Carl Schoonover's Highlanders will open their 1959-60 basketball season next Tuesday evening when they face Terra Alta.

The latter quintet, coached by Pat Wolfe, posted an overall record of seven wins and fifteen losses last season. Six lettermen and one regular, Jack Wiles, who was T. A.'s high scorer will be among the starting five who will face the Southern team Tuesday night. Coach Wolfe, whose team nearly upset the Highlanders in their second game of the season last year (51-53) did not announce a starting line-up. The Terra Alta team will be comparatively small this year, with no one approaching the six foot mark.

Coach Schoonover will have a fine nucleus for this year's club with seven holdovers from last season's varsity. Looking over the roster gives the local high school reason to be hopeful for a good season. Four of the returning seven lettermen were consistent starters last year. The only major losses to the team are Leo Martin and Don Stemple who scored 150 and 137 points respectively.

The seven lettermen are Terry Colaw, a three-year letterman, who hit the hoops for 307 points last season; Ron Colaw, a six foot lad, with 135 points to his credit last season; Dick Stuck, a junior, with 116, Jerry Wine, another six foot boy, who didn't play in any games until January but still scored 161 points; Don James, a senior with 51 points and Wally Bolyard and Bill Stemple with 45 points between them. Moving up from the Junior Varsity are Brenton Propst, Carroll Miller, Steve Malone and Jack Broadwater. John Prince who was a regular on the Junior High team least year was the only Junior High player named to the varsity team. Seven seniors, four juniors and one sophomore make up the Southern team.

Playing in the preliminary contest, Coach Johnson will start an almost completely new junior high squad against Terra Alta. From the 65 boys reporting for practice, the home squad has been cut to seventeen. The traveling squad will be cut to twelve.

Among those boys who saw some action last year are Bill Carlson, Bob Stuck, Gary Trickett, Harold Mosser, Joe Germain and Eddie Bateman. Newcomers from St. Peter's school who are expected to see considerable action are Butch Lawton and Dick Gnegy, both of whom were stellar performers on the junior high football team this year.

Other boys who are hoping to gain a berth on the team include ninth graders Dave Nordeck, Frank Finch, Todd Schaible, Jack Jones, Gary Orr, eighth graders, Von Johnson, Joe Kerins, and Jim Gibson; seventh graders, Bob Lohr and Jay Bill Rice.

The first game gets underway at seven o'clock. Admission for adults will be sixty-five cents this year, an increase of fifteen cents.

The increase in price was decided upon jointly by Northern and Southern High Schools following a study made of admission costs in some eighteen schools in the area. Richard Travis, athletic director at Southern, also pointed out that while the price of admission has remained at $.50 for the past several years, the cost of athletic equipment has consistently been increasing.

Expresses Thanks

Sixteen football players and two managers will receive football letters at a special awards assembly to be held next Tuesday morning at 10:01 A. M., Dick Travis, athletic director, announced today.

Principal speaker for the occasion will be Coach Dana "Horse" Lough of Potomac State College who just recently was honored on his twenty-fifth anniversary as coach at the Keyser school.

Lough is one of the senior citizens in athletics in West Virginia. He has turned out numerous standout athletes at the nearby junoir college.

Letters will be presented to the boys by Whitey Adolfson, head football coach at the local high school. The Southern Highlanders completed one of the best records ever achieved by winning five and losing four games.

MORE ABOUT ROUTE 12

Now that Garrett County's two oldest communities have lost the State Route connecting them, it is about time for Delegate Savage and Commissioner Garletts to answer some questions and face some cold, hard facts.

No matter how you look at it, our officials have robbed these two communities of $1,523,000.00. They did this just by the simple device of taking a road over from the State, just as the time was approaching when the State was to spend that amount of money modernizing the road.

Why did Delegate Savage and Commissioner Garletts fail to recognize the 200 names on the petition and the 50 people from Accident and Friendsville, who met with them in the Court House on November 11, 1959.

From what source did pressure come to cause these men to turn a deaf ear to the pleas of the people of these two communities?

Why can't Senator Gonder stand to see the Accident-Friendsville area being given State road improvement, when the Oakland area has received or will receive approximately ten times that much for access road improvements?

It has been reported to this writer that Mr. Garletts has told several citizens that the money to improve this road will be obtained from Federal Aid funds. It is true that the County may be able to get some Federal aid, "IF" the County can furnish materials that will meet the Federal requirements. Mr. Garletts, the government does not dole out road funds as liberally as welfare payments.

Even with Federal aid, we will have only a fourth class road, when we could have had a modern State Road without the County putting up one dollar of local tax money.

Also, it was County officials, not the State Roads Commission, that requested this crazy exchange.

Living costs hit a new high in October, an increase of 1.5 percent over same month last year.

Eisenhower was told Federal income may set record in 1960, going to 83 billion.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

President Eisenhower's 22,000-mile goodwill tour will take him to eleven countries in Europe, Asia and Africa. Books and background reading about these key countries are available at the Ruth Enlow Library.

A wealth of information and background can be obtained on India, one of the longest stops on the itinerary. The former U. S. ambassador to India and Nepal, Chester Bowles, describes his mission in "Ambassador's Report", while Robert Trumbull's "As I See India" is a review of his seven and a half years in India as a N. Y. Times correspondent. For additional background, Alexander Campbell's "The Heart of India", Cynthia Bowles' "At Home In India," and Santha Rama Rau's "This is India" provide excellent material.

Several recent books are available on Italy and Rome, where the tour will start on December 4. These include "Italy: a modern History" by Denis Mack Smith, "Italy" by Martin Hurlimann, and "A Traveler In Rome" by Henry Morton.

Other countries on the Eisenhower trip are represented by such books as "As France Goes" by David Schoenbrun, "West of the Indus" by William O. Douglas, "The Prince and I" by Marvine Howe, "Reveille for a Persian Village" by Najmah Najafi and "North Africa" by Ogrizek.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Last week's old photograph, showing the Schley Hotel, later the Frantz Hotel, posed no problem. Perhaps the one published today will be more of a puzzler.

Showing a combination restaurant and grocery store, several persons have identified it as the original establishment of "Cheap John" Michael, at that time located on Railroad street near Second.

If this is so, it is possible that Cheap John is standing in the doorway.

From the newspaper collections of Henry Arnold, an July, 1899, Cheap John announced: "Oh yes! Oh yes! Cheap John is closing out his stock of toys and fancy goods at cost."

Then, in 1906, it is stated that "Cheap George has moved his Cheap John stock of goods to the Mitchell building, Opera House block. Everything at cost, freight and per cent added. Cheap John is East purchasing goods for this immense department concern. Two bottles of pop for five cents in one end and a quart of peanuts for a nickel in the other."

Things were cheaper in the end in those days.

Savings Bonds Exchange Announced By Treasury

The Treasury has announced that regulations will be issued in December, under which holders of outstanding Series E Saving Bonds, and unmatured Series F and J Savings Bonds, effective on January 1, 1960, and thereafter, may exchange them at current redemption values for Series H bonds, and have the privilege of treating the increase in redemption value to the extent not previously included in gross income in excess of the amount paid for such Series E and unmatured Series F and J bonds, includable in gross income in the taxable year in which the Series H bonds are finally redeemed or disposed of, or in the taxable year of final maturity, whichever is earlier.

The effect of this proposed action by the Treasury will permit many persons who hold amounts of Series E and unmatured Series F and J bonds on which the interest earnings are reflected in the increase in redemption value from date of issue until maturity, or earlier redemption prior to maturity, to exchange them for Series H current income bond on which interest is payable each six months by check issued to the bondowner.

Got Daily Bag Limit

W. Desmond Walker member of the State Game and Inland Fish commission and a party of five friends were in the county last week hunting ruffed grouse. They all bagged their limit of grouse as well as a number of rabbits.

The rabbit, quail and grouse season this year is considered one of the best in years and many hunters are said to have bagged their daily limit of four rabbits.

Unique Boat Is On Display This Week

Safety may yet come to Deep Creek Lake. This possibility was made known this week through a unique display in the lobby of the Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

On display is a turbocraft motorboat, operated on the jet principle. This is an advance showing of what is expected to be one of the features of the New York boat show in January, 1960. Handling this boat at the lake is "Bud" Vanmeer, of Pt. View Inn.

Other safety measures must be adopted also at the lake, since this craft will not be the price range for everybody. It costs around $3,700, is made of fiber glass and planes in three inches of water.

Propulsion gear is all inboard. There are no exposed moving parts.

It has no propeller, no under water gear, no rudder. The windscreen is plexiglass. It can travel at a speed about 35 miles per hour.

LIKE A MOUNTAIN NAMED FOR YOU?

Not one of these, certainly! They're here today, gone tomorrow. We'd gladly lend our names to a timeless peak like Everest — not to a heap of shifting sands rolling before the desert wind.

Of course, we have to identify ourselves with many a transitory idea and institution. We are busy most of our days just trying to keep up with this ever-changing world . . .

But our deeper self gropes for the Eternal!

God understands this yearning. He breathed it into our souls.

And God answers it: In Christ! In Scripture! In the voice of a neighbor inviting you and your family to Church.

A voice crying in the wilderness . . . across the shifting sands . . . of the TRUTH and LIFE that are ETERNAL.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

New Convert

Lesson for December 6, 1959

FIFTEEN thousand, nine hundred eighty-two persons decided for Christ when Billy Graham was down in New Zealand last "spring." (It was fall down there.) What will happen to those 15,000 new converts? What has happened to converts in other Billy Graham meetings? The answer to that question depends on the converts themselves; but it depends also a great deal on what other Christians do about it. Billy himself has said, "After the obstetrician comes the pediatrician." The birth of a baby is important good news; but suppose from that moment everybody forgets the baby and nobody does a single thing for him? In that case the baby might as well never have been born.

Dr. Foreman

Getting Acquainted

Saint Paul was a new convert once. The church of the ages owes much to him, but we also owe a great debt to some people without whose help Paul would hardly have become the great apostle and missionary that he was.

He was very eager to get back to Jerusalem where he had built up his career as an anti-Christian. He risked his life, in fact, to get back there. He knew that the most effective place to give a good witness is just where you have made a bad witness in times past. It is much easier to go to a strange place for a complete new start, than to make the new start in the old surroundings. But Paul seldom took the easiest way, and so we find him back in Jerusalem . . . a lonely man. For not a Christian there would speak to him. He was known as a bloodthirsty and implacable enemy of all Christians. When he began speaking for Christ instead of against him, the Christians were shocked and afraid. All but one man, Barnabas. He took this new convert and introduced him to the church leaders as a fellow-Christian. And when they got acquainted with the man Paul, things began to be different.

That's the first thing a Christian can do with new converts: just get acquainted. Do you have evangelistic services in your church or community? And if so, what are the new Christians to you? Mere statistics, just a list of names? Or are they really people? If all the new converts mean to the older Christians is statistics, then that's all they'll ever be, statistics. And in the end, statistics of missing persons.

New converts are often more scared than they like to admit. Can I hold out? they ask themselves over and over. They have not yet discovered that it is not a question of their holding on, but of God's. Now put a man who half-distrusts himself in the midst of people who have no faith in him, just waiting like buzzards for him to fall so they can pick his reputation to the bone, and you start him off against terrific odds. New converts need all the encouragement they can get. It is nothing short of cruel for people who profess to be Christians, to act and talk as if they were betting on failure for any new Christian. Furthermore, we may note that good practical Barnabas did not keep his confidence in young Paul to himself. He took him personally to the leading Christians of the city.

A Job

Paul was a tentmaker, not as a hobby but as a job for pay. Perhaps he worked at that trade in Jerusalem. But whether he did or not, the job that really interested him was an opportunity to witness for Christ. He preached and he debated around Jerusalem, and we may be sure he would not have been given an opportunity to do this if the Apostles had not approved. In short, to put it into modern terms, they gave him a job in the church. Not that he was paid for it; but the point is, the church encouraged him to speak for Christ, to use his talents as thinker and speaker and debater, on behalf of Jesus. The most weakening thing older Christians can do for a new one is to throttle him down, to choke off his enthusiasm. The best thing older Christians can do for a new convert is to encourage him to win others.

WHY WILL YOUR DOLLARS ALWAYS BUY MORE AT THE H-P S

Unlike many stores, we simply do not have sales in March or April to insure against lots of goods that must be carried over into the following season. We believe that our customers deserve full value for every dollar they spend with us, right from the beginning!

That is why you always save at The H-P Stores. You'll save, too, because our buyers continually search the markets for the best quality at the lowest prices. Then our buyers order in huge quantities in order to supply our twenty two stores and take advantage of all the discounts available to them.

In addition to our low overhead, here are the reasons The H-P Stores are able to sell coats and jackets, for example, at prices far less than you'd normally pay. These are the reasons why The H-P Stores are famous for low price leadership in twenty two progressive communities.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Hi there! There are now only 23 shopping days left until Christmas Get on the ball people time's running out.

Flash, next Friday night, the 11th of December, we at Teen Age Club proudly present Theta Troubadors, RCA recording artists. There are six guys in this group They are said to leave a sound near the Kingston Trio. We will be privileged to hear their recordings which will be released later. Don't made any plans for anything but Teen Club cause if you do you will miss what promises to be one of the highlights of our club year.

I suppose everyone is expecting to read something about Friday nights' unfortunate incident. This is all I have to say, the record of the club and of those involved speaks for themselves. Both were unblemished as far as disturbances of this kind are concerned. Both local boys involved admitted where they were wrong and both realized the dangerous spot in which they had placed the club and the members. I believe that when a mistake is sincerely admitted, it is licked. Wild stories seemed to have gone home with some of the members. From one parent came an inquiry as to how the one in the hospital was. This is too much, take an incident, push it through a few "good" imaginations and then watch it snowball.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the Maryland Theatre presents Audrey Hepburn in "The Nun's Story." This is one picture I won't miss. The story is about a young nun who leaves the convent to participate in W. W. II.

Sunday night yours truly will be at St. Peters School hall for a record hop. The Alvin Five may be there but I can't say for for sure.

Don't forget tomorrow nights' big hop in the armory, top songs, dance contest with passes to the Maryland Theatre for the winner, and lots of all round fun.

Garrett County Board of Education

Gentlemen:

We have examined the statements of income collected and expenses disbursed of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1959. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits present the Garrett County Board of Education's cash on hand and in bank at June 30, 1959, and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The records of the Board of Education are adequate and are efficiently kept. We had the complete cooperation of your staff in making this and prior audits.

Respectfully submitted,
(Sgd.) George McLaughlin

CLARENCE E. HARDESTY
Oakland, Maryland
vs.
JEANETTE P. HARDESTY
address unknown, but last known address, 3503 Cliftmont Avenue Baltimore, Maryland

No. 4937 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states:

That on June 30, 1956, the plaintiff was married to the defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, in Baltimore, Maryland; that the said defendant lived with him only four days after said marriage, at the end of which time, without any just cause or reason, she abandoned and deserted him and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, although his conduct toward his said wife had always been kind, affectionate and above reproach; that the said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for a period of more than eighteen months prior to the filing of the bill of complaint and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children have been born from said marriage; that the plaintiff is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has been for a period of more than one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint; that the present whereabouts of the defendant is not known to the plaintiff, but that her last known address was 3503 Cliftmont Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, that the plaintiff is advised that the defendant went to the State of Rhode Island about one year prior to the filing of said bill of complaint, but that her present address is not known, and that, therefore, the plaintiff believes and alleges that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland. The bill then prays for a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii and for further relief.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of November, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of December, 1959, give notice to the said absent defendant, Jeanette P. Hardesty, of the object and substance of the bill of complaint, warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 21st day of December, 1959, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

RICHARD L. DAVIS, Clerk

To Our Grandchildren - - -

A wistful letter to our grandchildren from an American Citizen recently appeared in an advertisement entitled, "Do not open until Christmas, 1990." It describes the package that we as citizens are wrapping for the unborn generation we love because they are our grandchildren.

Edward W. Greenfield, writing in "Pause for Reflection,' tells us what we are putting in this "bundle of love," Says he: "Peace is one—we hope. The package may blow up in our faces, but world peace and friendship are nevertheless our wish. There won't be any Christmas, 1990, if we fail.

"And freedom, too, but the grandchildren may not recognize it. Because, says this letter to the unborn, we are giving it along with a parcel of Federal roads, Federal hospitals, Federal aid to education, a mountain, a mountain of farm surplus, and just about everything else people would ask for.

"Yes, we're doing up quite a substantial package. Our grandchildren should be delighted, except for one other item. At the bottom of this heap of presents you'll find a bill—the debts we're leaving you. It isn't fair, because you didn't select these presents—we did. We've tried not to leave the debts. We've gone without a lot of things to try not too—but we couldn't make the grade."

Surely we do love our grandchildren. So think hard just how much we're giving them for their Christmas of 1990!

Harry Rubenstein, cubmaster of Pack 70, of Mt., Lake Park, also announced a meeting for registration and organization on Thursday night, December 10, at the Aid hall of the Ev. U. B. church in Loch Lynn.

Rubenstein said the meeting was open to all parents and interested persons in Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn communities.

Error In Salary Schedule For Lake Council Noted

There was an error in the salary scheduled for the Mayor and council members of Mt. Lake Park in an advertisement which appeared in last week's issue.

The motion to provide salaries was passed at a recent meeting of that body. Each member of the council is to receive $5 for each meeting attended. The Mayor also will receive the sum of $5 for each meeting attended and in addition the mayor will receive a salary of $15 per month. It was incorrectly stated last week that council members and mayor would receive salaries of $15 per month. The mayor is the only one receiving the salary.

A regular council meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until next Tuesday on account of the inclement weather.

Revision Is Made In New Water Rates

A slight revision of water rates for out of corporation users was approved at the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland held Monday evening in the City Hall.

The minimum for the quarter was placed at $11 instead of $10.50 as fixed a few weeks ago.

The council advanced the water rates for all consumers, effective January 1, making the minimum per quarter $6.75 for persons inside the corporation and $10.50 per quarter minimum for persons outside the corporation.

The set-up effective at that time follows: inside corporation, $2.25 for first thousand gallons, 75 cents for each additional thousand, minimum $2.25 per month or $6.75 per quarter.

Outside corporation, $3.50 for first thousand gallons, $1.25 per each additional thousand gallons, minimum $3.50 per month, of $11.00 per quarter.

Rates now in effect: within corporation, $1.50 for first thousand, 50 cents each additional thousand, minimum $4.50 per quarter; outside corporation, 75 cents per thousand gallons after first thousand, minimum $6 per quarter.

Balance of the regular monthly session considered only routine matters. Council decided to remove one-hour parking signs on south side of Alder street on Court House hill, place meters on north side and meters on south side to Court House steps, two-hour parking signs to be placed on south side from court house steps to Fourth street. Time for these changes was subject to street department.

Man Convicted on Bad Check Charge

William Baxter Bailey, now serving a two-year sentence in the House of Correction on a bad check charge, yesterday was returned to Cumberland to be tried on a similar charge there.

Bailey, 39, of Accident, was sentenced in the local circuit court last August 28 for cashing four bad checks and was given two year terms on each count with the sentence to run concurrently.

He petitioned the Allegany county court to try him as the result of passing a bad check on a used car dealer at Triple Lakes. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris found him guilty and gave him a two-year sentence and suspended the term and placed him on parole as of the end of his present prison sentence.

Bailey forged the name of his former employer, C. W. Wagoner, Jr., of near Mellenry, to a check for $150 and used $65 of the amount to pay on a car he bought at Triple Lakes. The car dealer gave Bailey a check for $85 and Bailey cashed it at Van Meter's market in Cresaptown.

Judge Harris ordered Bailey to make restitution after he completes his present House of Correction term. He was also ordered to be of good behavior, obtain employment and support his wife and four children.

Judge Harris told Bailey, who has been involved in bad check cases in Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio ever since 1942, that "it was too bad he had learned how to write.

Young Man Killed In Auto Collision

Accident Occurs During Blinding Snowstorm

Donald Harry O'Brien, 21, route 1, Accident, was fatally injured in a blinding snowstorm Monday morning, when the automobile which he was driving struck a truck operated by Edward Ours, 40, of Friendsville. O'Brien died enroute to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

The blinding storm was blamed for two highway accidents. The other one occurred near Grantsville and hospitalized two youths.

O'Brien, pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital with chest and face injuries, was driving his sedan on a country road running from Accident to Bittinger. The driver of the truck was not injured. Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., deputy medical examiner, was called to the hospital.

Admitted to the hospital were Harry Wilbert O'Brien, 51, of route 1, Accident; and Arlan Harry Schroeder, 43, of Canton, O., passengers in the O'Brien car. They were reported in satisfactory condition. They sustained lacerations of the face and body. Another passenger in the car, Calvin James Green, 24, of North Canton, O., was treated and released.

Trooper first class Robert Henline, of the State police, said the accident was caused by blizzard conditions. Both drivers had their headlights in use but failed to see one another until the vehicles collided.

Two Youths Hurt

Two 16-year-old youths were admitted to Meyersdale community hospital with injuries sustained in an auto-truck accident on Maryland route 495, about one half mile south of Grantsville.

Sherman Andrew Hetz, of Lonaconing, driver of the car, suffered a broken left arm and leg and was in "fair' condition. A companion, David L. Jones, of Grantsville, suffered a severe laceration of the head and possible internal injuries. He also was listed in "fair" condition.

Operator of the truck, Francis John Knecht, 52, of West Salisbury, Pa., apparently was not injured. At the time of the accident, at 2 p. m., the highway was one-way due to drifting snow and it was impossible to see the road ahead. Tfc. Donald R. Wade investigated.

O'Brien was a son of Harry and Gladys Knox O'Brien. He was observing his 21st birthday. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters. The body was taken to the Newman Funeral home in Grantsville.

Funeral services are being conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's Lutheran church in Accident, with the Rev. William E. Carlson, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Glade cemetery.

The body will remain at the residence until noon Friday when it will be taken to the church.

Parents, three sisters, Misses Mary and Marion O'Brien, both at home; and Mrs. Norma Green north Canton, Ohio.

To Inspect Post Offices

Rep. John R. Foley will begin a one-week inspection tour of 58 post offices in the Sixth Congressional District on Monday, December 14 and will continue through Saturday, December 19.

He is a member of the House post office and civil service committee. He said he wanted to learn at first hand the problems of the postmasters and postal employes.

The trip through Allegany and Garrett counties will begin Wednesday, December 16.

Senator Bernard L. Gonder announced that Mr. Foley would be at the band room in the City Hall on Thursday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock, to meet people and talk over any problems that individuals might have.

Two Hunters Lost For 29 Hours On Meadow Mountain

Two hunters found their way out of the woods Tuesday morning about 11 o'clock after having braved the elements for some twenty-nine hours.

They were John T. Halsey, 21, on leave from the Westover Air Force base, and John Sims, of Baltimore. They left home Monday morning to hunt on Meadow mountain and became lost. Toward evening they managed to huddle behind a large pine tree and build a fire. They kept the fire going all night in spite of the driving wind and managed to keep fairly comfortable.

They came out of the forest at Rock Lodge, at the home of Ross Teats.

In the meantime, however a widespread search had been conducted by a number of hunters. Tuesday morning there was a call for the National Guard and they were preparing to join in the search when word came that the hunters had returned and were unharmed, but cold.

Halsey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie Halsey, of Deep Creek Lake.

Snow Storm Disrupts School and Hunting

A Heavy snowfall of ten inches or more, accompanied by heavy winds struck Garrett county Sunday evening and continued unabated until early Tuesday morning closing a number of highways and sending school children home shortly after they arrived at their various schools Monday morning.

When conditions did not improve Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the schools would remain closed on Tuesday but would reopen Wednesday.

Whipping winds, reaching gusts of over 40 miles per hour, piled drifts several feet high in some areas, clogging roads and making it impossible to see more than a few feet. A number of roads were open for one-way traffic. State Police reported route 495 from Grantsville through Bittinger to Deep Creek Lake and U. S. 219, south from Keyser Ridge to Deep Creek lake, open only to one-way travel.

There was an official snow measurement of nine inches early Monday morning and unofficial totals of 10 inches at Grantsville and 14 at Accident. Snow continued to fall all day Monday, adding another inch or more.

Temperatures hovered in the 20's most of the time. Deer hunters who had filled the woods on Saturday, for the most part stayed under cover. Many hunters became alarmed at the weather and left for home.

State Roads commission officials said every available piece of equipment was dispatched in an attempt to keep all state highways open but high winds continually drifted them shut again. Roads became slick after plowing and were dangerous for travel.

Despite the closing of schools shortly after they opened Monday, they were given credit for a school day. The schools are permitted to be closed for three or four days on account of storms, without moving the date for the close of classes next spring.

Several school buses were stalled in snowdrifts briefly before completing their rounds but Mr. Hawkins said no serious mishaps occurred and all children were returned to their homes safely. One girl missed a bus at Southern High school and Principal W. Kenneth Johns and instructor Dick Travis took her to the Ferndale vicinity to her home. The former was stuck in the snow for a brief time.

Many cars were marooned in snowbanks along the highways, and quite a few deer hunters had stalled cars along secondary roads.

A Baltimore hunter backed out onto U. S. 219, near Accident Monday morning and struck a carload of six instructors at Northern High

Forest Camp Boys Work On Playground

Emory Adams, Jr., camp director of New Germany Youth Forestry camp, and William Fouth, assistant camp director, brought thirteen boys from the camp to Oakland on a recent Saturday afternoon, and spent several hours working on the Oakland Elementary playground equipment.

Working voluntarily and on their own time these young men cleaned and repaired the swing, see-saws, and other equipment at the site. They plan to return to furnish the job when the weather permits.

The suggestion was made at a recent P-T A meeting of the Center street school, and Adams approached the boys about the project. They willingly agreed to do the work.

Penn Alps To Open Dec. 12

Dr. Alta Schrock, executive secretary, showing some primitive needlework of the hill folk.

For the first time in the history of the Tri-State Alleghenies, a major Craft Outlet is being opened. It is located on U. S. Route 40, one hillside east of Grantsville. The site of this unique crafts shoppe is an old log inn presumably built around 1810-18-13 by one of the early settlers of the historic Casselman Valley, in the spot named Little Crossings in the time of Washington and Braddock. The building bought and remodeled by Penn Alps, Inc. is located between the stone arch bridge constructed in 1813 and Stanton's Mill built in 1796, and was recently known as Arlington Inn.

The 20-room house now contains not only the crafts shoppe, but also a Pennsylvania Dutch Kitchen and dining-room, as well as rooms for tourists and certain educational and cultural facilities. These various features will be made accessible to the public starting with Penn Alps' official Open House from 10:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M. Saturday, December 12. The dining room will be open for meals in the near future and will serve daily except Sundays.

Penn Alps, Inc. is a benevolent non-profit organization operated by a 15-man board of business and professional men and women of the Anabaptist (Amish and Mennonite) Faith, the purpose of the organization being service to mankind in every realm of life—physical, mental, social and spiritual.

As a means of implementing this program of Christian service to residents of the Allegheny Highlands of Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, Penn Alps has started a program of handicrafts and is furnishing part-time employment for some 75 craftsmen of the area, many of whom are widowed, handicapped, unemployed, persons disqualified for work in factories and mills, as well as retired persons and youth needing a challenge.

Not only is this program designed as a means of providing needed income for people in the highlands, but it also spearheads a revival of pioneer arts and crafts almost forgotten in this spectator age of machines and push-buttons. It provides open doors for spiritual and social work among the people of the hills, many of whom depend almost entirely on relief checks for their subsistence. The aim of Penn Alps is to help people help themselves, and to help them become the creative, productive souls God intended them to be. Officials of the board who have been making contacts in the mountains have proof that their dreams are coming true in this area of program planning and are looking forward to a great year ahead.

Alta Schrock is the executive secretary of the group.

The latter was the only new member among the officers and he replaces Charles Davis.

Maroney on Thursday, December 3. Both are past 21 years of age, and the offense was allegedly committed against a fourteen-year-old girl.

Three hunting violations were heard also in magistrate's court during the week.

Frank M. Stratul, of Mellenry, was fined $50 for having an improper hunting license and Charles Mason, Jr., of Oakland, was fined $10 and costs for killing a mink during a closed season. The fine was suspended.

Stanley Frazier, of Frazier Bottom, W. Va., was fined $25 and costs on a charge of having a loaded gun in his automobile. Leo Friend, game warden, made the arrest.

Masons Elect

George M. Browning was elected worshipful master of Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, at a regular communication on Tuesday evening.

Other officers named included Thomas D. Browning, senior warden, S. R. Pagenhardt, junior warden; Robert T. Holtman, secretary; and Dr. W. W. Grant, treasurer.

Other officers are appointive and will be selected prior to installation which will take place early in January. Browning succeeds Foster D. Bittle, who served as master for the past year.

Fire Damages Auto

Fire of undetermined origin damaged the automobile of Raymond Lantz, Aurora, W. Va., last Thursday about noon, on U. S. 219, near the Weber overhead bridge.

The Oakland fire department was called and firemen put out the blaze by use of a CO-2 extinguisher and a booster line.

The car a Plymouth station wagon, was occupied by Mr. Lantz and his son.

Storm Deals Deer Season Fatal Blow

Season Started Well But Monday's Storm Rings Down Curtain

What started out to be a record breaking deer hunting season was dramatically clobbered by one of the worst early winter snowstorms in the past several years.

It was generally agreed beforehand that with an extra day of hunting it would be no trouble to break the record of 698 bucks slain during the 1957 season, and the first day showed promise that the result might be accomplished. At the four Garrett county checking stations and those checked at LaVale and Westernport that had been killed in this county, there was a total of 218 bucks for the first day, 46 more than the opening day last year.

But then came the storm. Snow began to fall late Sunday afternoon and by morning some nine inches had fallen. This was increased during all of Monday to ten or more inches. Accompanied by high winds, the swirling snow made visibility practically zero. Hunters' cars by the score became stuck in snow drifts and most of those who were able to return to their lodges and cabins did so. The storm continued into early Tuesday morning with snow hanging on the trees and making deer hunting extremely difficult.

Only 31 bucks were reported killed on Monday. Many hunters became alarmed at the storm and either returned to their homes or descended into Allegany county, but by Tuesday morning the number of hunters had been materially reduced. Tuesday was bright and moderate.

Wednesday was another ideal deer hunting day as far as temperature and bright sky are concerned but travel was still difficult in the woods. Most of the secondary roads, however, were open to traffic. The total score for Tuesday was 59 and for Wednesday 71. Total kill for four days was 412.

The kill to date at the checking stations for the four days: Friendsville 27, 4, 13, 14, total 58; Storeys, 37, 6, 11, 21, total, 75; Grantsville, 59, 4, 16, 9, total, 88, Oakland, 79, 11, 13, 27, total, 130; LaVale, 21, 5, 3, total 29; Westernport, 11, 2, 3, total 19, Hancock, 11, 2, total 13; grand total 412.

This compares with a total of 479 for Allegany county and 211 for Washington county for the first four days.

Heart Attack Takes Life of Deer Hunter

A 36-year-old Rockville man died of a heart attack Saturday night at the home of his sister near Grantsville, shortly after he returned from a hunting trip.

He was Vernon Leslie Michaels, who came from Rockville to stay with his sister, Mrs. Wilda Minnich, at Green Lantern Inn, while hunting deer.

Mr. Michaels reported he did not want dinner after he returned from hunting, saying he was not hungry. He went to his room where he was found gasping for breath a few minutes later. He died about 7 o'clock.

Dr. James H. Feaster, deputy medical examiner, reported that death resulted from coronary thrombosis.

Deceased was born in Avilton, a son of the late Ernest Hugh and Maggie Llewellyn Michaels.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary McKenzie Michaels; two sons, Larry and Dwaine, at home; five brothers, Henry, near Frostburg; Walter, Amherst, O.; David, Takoma Park; Stewart, Cumberland; and Charles, Baltimore; and three other sisters, Mrs. May Wampler and Mrs. Lillie McKenzie, star route, Frostburg; and Mrs. Charlotti Broadwater, Cumberland.

A veteran of World War II, he was a cabinetmaker and moved to Rockville from Grantsville several years ago.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Mt. Zion Methodist church with Rev. Emory McGraw, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. Military rites were in charge of Grantsville Post 211, American Legion.

Court Room Scene Of Memorial Service For W. R. Offutt

A memorial service was conducted in the courtroom Monday morning for the late William R. Offutt dean of the Garrett county bar. He died April 6 in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital after an illness of several weeks following a broken hip.

A resolution was presented from the Garrett County Bar association by Fred A. Thayer, vice president, after which F. Ray Jones, local attorney, and Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley made remarks concerning Mr. Offutt as an outstanding attorney, banker and citizen.

The resolution pointed out that Mr. Offutt had been in the active practice of law since 1901 and had established himself in a position of leadership in the county, his leadership in banking and business circles, the outstanding figures in many other activities affecting the lives and property of the people of the county.

He was pictured as a man of friendly disposition, easy of approach and ready to give those appealing to him the benefit of his years of experience and wisdom [illegible] help them in the solution of their problems.

It was resolved that "in the death of our brother Offutt, this Bar has lost a member who reflected honor upon the profession through his attainments and his fidelity to the interests of his clients and to the many causes to which he gave support, and we have also lost a sincere and true friend whose kindly words and championship have already been greatly missed and will be missed through the coming year.

Judge Fraley ordered that the resolution be spread upon the records of the court.

The service was held at the conclusion of the December non-jury term. Present for the service were his widow, Mrs. William R. Offutt; his three sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Douh, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. J. Vincent Burton, Romney, W. Va. His son, Humbird Offutt, of Alexandria, Va., was unable to attend.

Mr. Offutt, a native of Oakland, attended public and private schools and was graduated from St. John's college, Annapolis. He received his law degree from the University of Virginia.

He served two terms as State's attorney and was the only Democrat ever elected to this office in the county.

He was a member of the Maryland Bar association, the American Bar Association and served at one time as president of the State Bar association.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Alfred P. Haake, Ph. D., is a noted economist, public relations consultant, author and lecturer.

As this is written the House of Representatives in Washington has passed the administration-favored labor bill, a real improvement over the weak measure fathered by Senator John Kennedy, and still without danger to decent labor. There will be a conference between House and Senate to reconcile differences between the two measures and agree upon what is hoped will be a reasonably adequate bill.

But the real issue is like'y to be obscured from the public in whatever degree of satisfaction is experienced with the bill that becomes law. For it is more than a matter of corruption and gangster practices, misuse of union funds and other practices revealed in the McClellan investigation.

Cleaning up the unions would give them an odor of respectability under which they could still pursue their monopolistic ways and threat to the freedom of our people—with less opposition from the public. The labor bill could serve as a red herring to hide the real menace.

The real issue is that of unlimited powers in the hands of a few labor leaders, and the immunization of those leaders and their cohorts from anti-monopoly and other laws which the rest of us have to obey under penalty of fine, imprisonment or worse.

PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

Searcy, Arkansas

A personal letter from one person to another is a powerful instrument of communication. If you've had a boy in service, or even out of town in college, he can tell you about the power of mail. When the Communists in North Korea were trying to win the cooperation of the American GI prisoners, they controlled the mail, letting the soldiers see only mail from America which had no warmth, which reported bad news. This aided the Communists in creating in the minds of the GI's a resentment toward their native land.

A friend of mine, Charles M. White, chairman of Republic Steel Corporation, was amazed when he visited abroad to find so many people who didn't like the United States, so many people with misconceptions about our country and its people and way of life. When he got home he began to crusade for "truth letters" to Europe and Asia. He suggested to President Eisenhower that something be done nationally. The President appointed a People-to-People Letter Writing Committee. Today it is calling upon Americans who write regularly to relatives and friends abroad, suggesting ways in which they can help their country.

It has been the special business of the world-wide Communist propaganda machine and the Socialists in every country in the world to create bad will toward the United States where the success of American Capitalism and constitutional government presents a constant challenge to them. They plant misconceptions and absolute falsehoods about America and life in America. As Mr. White found, as the authors of The Ugly American found, as most journalists have found: The Communists and Socialists have been successful; there is little good will for America abroad.

The President's Committee notes that 300 million letters a year are written by Americans to families and friends overseas. "They are the bearers of a momentous message," the Committee observes. "They tell nothing less than the story of America. These letters are the simplest and most effective means of building mutual understanding and trust, of bringing the truth about America to the people of the world."

Mr. White put it this way, addressing Americans who have acquaintances or relatives abroad: "Write a long letter telling about your life here, your job; your home, the schools your children attend; your churches; the kind of food you eat; the kind of newspapers and magazines you read; the movies and television you see and radio to which you listen. Tell about your freedoms—your freedom to travel, to attend the church of your choice, to criticize the government, to vote by secret ballot . . .

"But most important, tell them there is no secret to our standard of living. It rests firmly on the fact that we produce more and more. This means more and more jobs and more and more people able to buy things they make."

Almost any citizen who hasn't an acquaintance overseas can obtain the name of a family to write—from some of their own acquaintances, through their church missionary activities, or from the embassies in Washington. It's a chance to do something for your country.

We must not be missed by the raucous cry of iron-lunged and powered-bloated tycoons who tell us that ANY restrictions on their power is a blow at labor itself. One remembers how they shrieked and thundered against the Taft-Hartley Act as a "slave labor law" that would reduce wages to ten cents an hour and actually destroy labor unions. And we remember, no less, that the Unions prospered under the fair and mild provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act as they had not prospered before. The act actually benefitted the cause of union labor.

It is tragic that ANY members of the Congress should so fear the political power of labor leaders that they seek ways and means of placating those leaders instead of standing four-square with their fellow members for the rights and best interests of rank and file workers in the unions and the even more precarious interests of the nation itself.

Let me quote from a remarkable book recently published by the Ronald Press of New York, called "Power Unlimited — the Corruption of Union Leadership." It is written by Professor Sylvester Petro of New York University. Himself formerly a member of organized labor, Professor Petro is probably better informed through additional study of the labor movement and the extensive record of the McClellan hearings, than any other current author.

Here is his warning: "America is in danger—not so much from without as from within. The threat of Soviet Russia, serious as it is, need not prove us so long as our free institutions survive, for the freedom which made us strong will, if preserved, make us stronger still. Our danger lies basically in the abandonment of our main strength, the principle of freedom under law. More immediately it lies in the excessive power and special privileges of big unions. Exploiting those privileges to form socially abusive industry-wide monopolies which they incorrectly call trade unions, the union leaders have brought about a state of affairs so menacing as to demand the immediate attention of all citizens and their representatives in Congress."

Labor leaders must be brought under the anti-trust laws. They must be made to respect the laws safeguarding life and property, as is required of all other elements in our society. Workers should be free to join or to withdraw from union membership, and every man should have the right to work free of enslaving contract entered by blustering unions and supine management.

Enforced membership and enforced payment of dues are the key to the monopoly power in the hands of labor leaders, who can bring even the proud United States of America to her knees, and have shown willingness to do just that even in times of national crisis.

It is too bad that an engaging person like Senator Kennedy, and others like him, anxious to be President of the United States, has to placate and appease labor leaders without whose monopoly power he cannot, or thinks he cannot, achieve his ambition.

It is high time that the American people issued a new Declaration of Independence, independence from the monopoly dictatorship of men like Reuther, Hoffa, Bridges and the rest, clean or unclean, the more dangerous if clean.

"THE MAJORITY OF MEN EMPLOY THE FIRST PART OF LIFE MAKING THE REST MISERABLE"

There is no machine ever invented that can equal your body. All it asks is some nourishing food, sufficient rest and a little help when sickness attacks.

Some people forget that if their bodies are not cared for, life can be miserable because of poor health. Fortunately, it is never too late to rebuild your body. Just visit your physician for a check-up and follow his advice. Take any medicines or vitamins he may prescribe and your body can be a joy to live in.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. W. E. Gascreach, Mc Mullen Hallway, near Cumberland, Md.; Lucille Simmons, Franklin W. Va.; and Mrs. Blanche Blum, Deer Park; a son, Curtis DeVelbiss, Westernport; two brothers, Alva Rotruck, Keyser, and Scott Rotruck, Antioch, W. Va.; 15 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mrs. DeVelbiss was a member of Oak Park Church of the Brethren near Oakland and was a former resident of Westernport.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral home in Keyser and will be taken to the church at noon tomorrow.

Robert L. Gauer, aged 93, died yesterday, December 9, at his home in Mt. Lake Park after an illness of several months.

Born in this county, he was a son of the late Jacob P. and Martha Wilt Gauer. Mr. Gauer was a farmer in the Gortner-Red House community until nine years ago when he retired and moved to the Park.

He was twice married and his first wife, Daisy Harriman Gauer, died in 1918.

Surviving are his widow, Carrie Harvey Gauer; a foster son, Otts Swiger, Oakland; two half-sisters, Mrs. Charles Kelley and Mrs. Nellie Warsaw, both of Oakland; a half brother, Ernest Ridder, Oakland; four foster grandchildren and a foster great grandchild.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran church at Red House where services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Luther Seibert, pastor, and Rev. Randall Prince, pastor of Bethel Methodist church in Mt. Lake Park. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The body is at the Leighton Funeral Home, Oakland, and will be taken to the church at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Storm Deals

During the first four days, kills were made at many places in the county. Listed on the reports were Herrington, Backbone, Red House, Hickory Ridge, Round Glade, Pleasant Valley, North Glade, Shield Run, White Church, Swallow Falls, Fingerboard, Mt. Nebo, Sang Run, Snaggy, Schell Laurel, King's Run, Meadow Mountain, Swanton, Crabtree, Kempton, Muddy Creek, Deer Park, Table Rock, Turkey Neck, Roman Nose and Piney.

Several women were successful in bringing down bucks. Mrs. Thomas J. Johnson, Anna B. Conger, Helen Strawser were among them.

Carroll E. Miller, Jr., was the first person to report a buck. He brought his 7-point, 97 pounder into the Oakland checking station about 8 o'clock.

Many of those reported were comparatively small and racks were generally of lesser size than those of last year.

Hunting Sidelights

There were a number of unusual occurrences. One hunter procured an albino deer near Piney mountain. It was almost pure white.

Turk Shartzer was termed somewhat of a prophet or "seer". Some hunter asked Turk where he might find a deer. Said Turk: "Go out to Fred Glotfelty's farm, turn left there and walk several hundred yards into the woods, and just stand there for a little while and you'll have your deer." Thinking Turk was serious the man did just that—and brought down a buck in a very short while. Somebody said Turk did the very same thing last year to another hunter and this also produced a buck.

Some practical joker had his fun too. At a point near the fire tower on Snaggy mountain, somebody erected a cardboard deer. While the man watched he saw a hunter get out of his car, take aim and shoot. When nothing happened the man took another shot. He finally found his mistake. But that evening the practical joker found 26 holes in his "back."

Larry Klein, an assistant forester, had his sister here, hunting for the first time. He stationed her near a crossing and set out to round up some deer. Returning shortly after he found that she had her sights on four beautiful bucks, but just couldn't pull the trigger. Later Larry hit a four pointer in the hind leg and as he followed it to the junction of Herrington creek into Youghiogheny river he saw it swimming the river. As it reached the other side another hunter appeared, took careful aim and put another bullet into the shoulder and brought it down. He claimed the buck too, and Larry probably didn't recite the doxology.

Mike Duckworth, 81 year-old hunter of near Loaconing, reported one of the larger bucks caught yesterday. The kill was made at Furnace Rock, this county and checked at Westernport.

There was an usual accident in the Swallow Falls area. 'Fats' Lambert, Frostburg, had his right hand injured when a pine bough came through the side of the jeep he was driving.

Lambert was swaying from side to side, saw the bough and put his hand up to protect his face and received a gash on his right wrist which required twenty-two stitches to close.

Just what the remaining three days of the season will bring forth is yet to be told. Fair weather is predicted for the balance of the week.

Maryland Keeps Ancient Pledge

By Neil Swanson, Education Editor, Baltimore News-Post
Issue of Sept. 17, 1959

Perhaps the brightest pages in more than three centuries of Maryland history are those that tell the story of its long tradition of religious tolerance and freedom.

It is commonly assumed that this tradition goes back to the "Act Concerning Religion," passed by the General Assembly in 1649 and known as the Toleration Act.

The truth is that it goes back much farther—all the way back to the founding of the colony.

At a time when freedom of religion was a scandalous idea, indeed, almost unheard of, the founders of Maryland—by their conduct of public affairs—gave their tacit pledge of toleration to the oppressed and persecuted.

They turned the new-born colony into a sanctuary.

A shining Footnote to History

The passage of the Toleration Act was only confirmation of a policy unique, then, in the world.

Now, in the far western end of Maryland, the people of Garrett County have written a new, shining footnote to those bright pages of our remarkable beginnings.

They have kept the ancient promise.

They have applied the principle of toleration to a touchy problem—one that has caused serious trouble elsewhere, and could easily have caused the same kind of trouble in Maryland.

The problem is the collision between law and the convictions of those sects known as the Amish and the Mennonites. In varying degrees, the members of these faiths believe that certain aspects of the law, as they apply to children, are wrong and an offense to conscience.

She Worldliness In Big Schools

There are two major points of collision.

A belief that children ought not be required to stay in school, after completing eight grades, until they are 16.

An objection to sending children to the big consolidated schools, on the ground that this involves unnecessary and unreasonable exposure to worldliness.

Like many people of strong faith and conscience who have gone before them, they have been willing to suffer for their belief. In some states, they have suffered.

In Pennsylvania, parents who challenged school law for their consciences' sake have gone to jail.

In Ohio, children have been taken from their parents and put into public institutions.

Progress Collides With Conscience

The same thing could have happened in the hills of western Maryland.

Garrett County has old settlements of Mennonites and Amish. They are good, substantial citizens.

Garrett also has finally completed an amazing transformation of its public school system.

This fall, for the first time, no child in Garrett County goes to a one-room schoolhouse with two "frills"—two identical small houses, tastefully arranged in the back yard. Once upon a time there were 129 such schools.

But consolidation raised the issue of religious conviction. The tact, tolerance and wisdom with which it was met and solved might offer an example to other states.

Take, for example, the Yoder school, two miles out of Grantsville. It served a community of Amish and Mennonites. But it had become too small. Consolidation was the answer—in the law's eyes, but not in those of the Yoder parents.

The Law Upheld, The Parents Satisfied

The county school authorities made it quite plain that the law is the law. There could be no exemption from it. But there could be, they decided, understanding in its application.

They offered to provide building materials for an addition to the school, if the parents would do the work.

The parents did it. Day after day, men and women worked together in the old frontier tradition. Then, when the addition was completed, the second difficulty arose. The Yoder school had only eight grades; children finished them before they were 15. But here, too, there was a solution.

The county added a 9th grade. The parents agreed to keep their children in school through the added grade—then they were 16. The law was satisfied. So were consciences of parents. The ancient pledge of tolerance had been redeemed once more.

Stamp Honors Boy Scouts' 50th Anniversary

The stamp is designed by the noted artist, Norman Rockwell. The likeness of a Scout will be printed in gradations of khaki while the lettering will be in blue.

I SEE BY THE DAILIES

The last moon shot failed because a plastic covering over the payload came off after launching.

Hawaii celebrated its admission as 50th state on Thanksgiving Day, and Friday following.

Red Japanese stormed parliament in Tokyo to denounce United States.

Air force announced that four squadrons would be inactivated for economic reasons.

President Eisenhower planned to make thirty speeches during his trip to foreign lands.

The weight of evidence implicates smoking as main cause of rising lung cancer, government's chief health officer reported.

The Navy estimated that Russia and Red China had 120 or more submarines in Pacific area.

A woman in Baltimore was shot through the heart and still lived.

Manipulating Human Behavior

● Mentality

Q. Several months ago news stories told of a new method of advertising called "invisible selling." Can the mind actually be influenced without a person being aware of it?

A. Subliminal projection ("invisible sell") is a technic long familiar to psychologists. It consists in brief showings of material such as a soap box on a T-V screen or movie screen. The images can be perceived by the individual without his being consciously aware of it. The device used to flash the brief exposure is the tachistoscope, a gadget which is one of the oldest pieces of hardware in the psychological laboratory. The promoters of this type of advertising claim that it will "sell." Psychologists are more concerned with whether the method — assuming that it works as an advertising gimmick — should be used at all. One scientist has said that playing with the control of human behavior is more risky and terrifying than touching off atomic bombs.

Q. Is there an easy way for parents to tell when a 4-year-old has a superior mind?

A. Most parents (and nearly all grandparents) consider the 4-year-old member of the family quite superior. This is only natural. Actually, a professionally trained person is about the only one who can come very close in evaluating intelligence. However, a rough yardstick is the child's ability to draw forms. The youngster is asked to copy simple drawings. The average child can copy:

a circle at 3 years
a square at 4 years
a cross at 5 years
a triangle at 6 years
a diamond at 7 years

Q. We have just been told that our 6-year-old will never grow up mentally. Why can't doctors warn parents who are likely to have defective children?

A. Because mental deficiency is not always a matter of heredity. There are other causes although heredity may be the prime factor. Not knowing this, many parents of defective children develop a guilt complex which can have disastrous effects on the child as well as the parents. Intellectual deficiency can be slight or severe. Whatever the intellectual level, the aim must always be to nurture and develop the mind so that the child can live a full life to the limit of his powers. Even though the retarded child is below normal generally, he will have some mental qualities which can be cultivated. Special attention should be directed toward developing his assets.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Survey of Subjects Pursued By School Seniors Is Given

The most comprehensive survey of the programs and subjects taken by Maryland public school students was recently released by the Maryland State Department of Education. This survey involved virtually all of the 17,000 members of the 1958 graduating class of the public high schools in the State. Information was obtained regarding subjects and programs taken during their four years in high school.

The project was undertaken jointly by the State Department of Education, the twenty-four local systems, and the University of Maryland, because of a growing concern over the shortage of manpower in scientific and technological fields, and the increasing public interest in educational matters. The academically talented phase of the study was made in cooperation with Dr. James B Conant as a part of his nationwide study.

The findings of this study definitely refute much of the current criticism which maintains that difficult courses are not being offered to students, or where such courses are offered, that the students avoid taking them. Difficult courses were not only offered to practically all of the youth in the Maryland public high schools, but such courses were pursued by most of the students. The results of this study provide positive evidence that the students surveyed enrolled in courses generally consistent with their abilities, interests, and post-high school plans. Sixty-three per cent of all the seniors surveyed had taken algebra I. 46 per cent had pursued plane geometry, 90 per cent had chosen biology, 42 per cent had enrolled in chemistry, and 39 per cent of the boys had studied physics.

The study further reveals that approximately 3 out of 5 graduates earned 20 or more units for graduation, although only 16 units are required for graduation.

Another major finding reveals that Maryland high school students pursued courses quite appropriate to their post-high school plans. Of the four major program offerings, the largest single group of students pursued the academic course, which is consistent with the significant finding that nearly half the total number of graduates indicated they planned further education.

With regard to the question of whether Maryland students pursue too many courses of a superficial nature, the study indicates that while there is considerable variety in the number and titles of subject offerings, most of these courses reflect the demands of the public for programs to fit the widely varying needs, abilities and interests of our high school youth.

The data also showed that the majority of the academically talented students in high schools are taking balanced and intensive programs which provide a thorough foundation for successful college work. In the field of mathematics the study reveals that 91 per cent of the boys and 66 percent of the girls earned 3 units of credit in college preparatory mathematics. In science, 85 per cent of the boys and 68 per cent of the girls took chemistry, while courses in physics were completed by 79 per cent of the boys and 38 per cent of the girls. For some of this group of able students, especially the girls, the commercial and vocational courses had more immediate promise of reward. However, in view of the fact that approximately 1 out of 12 seniors surveyed had an IQ score of 120 or above, continued consideration should be given to making advanced course offerings both available and attractive to these students.

By DICK CASTILOW

Short school week huh? We're all real proud of the Southern Varsity for the Terra Alta upset Tuesday evening.

Tomorrow night we have the Theta Troubadours from RCA records. They're a real great bunch that sounds a lot like the Kingston Trio. Adults should enjoy this too.

Did you ever look at the moon and it looked like it was crying? Well, if you have it was probably while the new tear jerker "Teen Angel" was playing. This disc is corny enough to score A-1.

I'm paying another visit shortly to ABC Paramount and the other big name recording companies to try to look in to Teen Club once a month. This is a long drawn out process, but I hope it pays out. Teen Club would be twice as interesting.

There was a real nice group at St. Peter's School hop Sunday night. Everyone seemed to enjoy it.

Hope to see you next week and be able to give some real good news. Til tomorrow night. ADIOS.

school, driven by Darrell Malone. Malone's car was damaged to the extent of about $150 but no one was injured. There were school buses in front of and to the rear of Malone's car when the accident occurred.

The storm ended as quickly as it appeared and by Tuesday morning the sun was bright and clear and this condition has continued since that time. There was some melting both Tuesday and Wednesday and it was expected to be warmer today.

Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor, reported this morning that practically every secondary road in the county was open. He said his crews would spend the day in widening and "mopping up" operations. He said the crews were hampered the first day of the storm by poor visibility and the large number of deer hunter automobiles parked along the highways. He said some eight hours were spent in clearing the roads of automobiles so the plows could get to work.

But he said all school bus routes are completely open.

Plows for some of the trucks did not arrive in time for this first real storm of the year.

For the balance of the week the weather was fairly normal. Last Friday was clear and warm with frost in the early morning. Saturday continued frosty in the morning but clears. Sunday continued cloudy with a light snow starting to fall in late afternoon.

Highlander and JV Teams Set for Games With Bruce, Valley

Southern Garrett School journeys to Westernport to face the Bruce High School "Bulldogs" coached by a former Southern mentor, Leonard Ritchie, on Friday night.

Following Tuesday night's win over Terra Alta, the Highlanders will be out to make it two in a row. Pre-season reports from sportswriters in Cumberland gave Bruce High School good ratings.

On Tuesday, Coach Schoonover will take his team to Lonaconing to face the Black Knights of Valley who were last year's state class B champs. Coach Johnny Meyers has had to begin a rebuilding process this year after having lost most of his standout players through graduation. Bob Brown, the only returning veteran has been sidelined due to a collar bone injury during soccer season. No indication has been given as to whether or not he will be ready to face the Highlanders by next Tuesday.

Coach Tommy Kuhn, Southern's newest and youngest member of the athletic department will take his J V squad to both of the above games. With ten sophomores, most of whom saw some action last year on the junior high team and five juniors who saw limited action on the J. V. team last year, Coach Kuhn has a squad fairly familiar with the game.

Nevertheless, with several sophomores trying for positions on the first team, the juniors are being hard pressed to gain a berth on the starting five. Lack of any height has caused some concern in Coach Kuhn's practice sessions. He indicated that in all probability his starting line up would be composed of both sophomores and juniors.

Juniors on the team include Jerry D'Simone, Harold White, Gary Stine, Willard Carr and Sonny Riggs.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, the late Theodore M. Reckart.

We also want to thank all who gave flowers and contributed the use of their automobiles for the funeral service.

Regional Winners In FFBL Named

Mr. and Mrs. C. Herbert Hunter, of Stewartstown, Monongalia county, W. Va., were named the regional winners in the Farming for Better Living program, at a wind-up dinner held in Morgantown last Friday.

The dinner was sponsored by the Morgantown Chamber of Commerce, the occasion marked the 20th year of the program conducted through the Monongahela Power company.

The regional champions received a certificate and a $50 Savings bond from the Morgantown Chamber of Commerce. Competing for regional honors were Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fitzwater, Jr., of Swanton.

As a reward for counties having 70 or more enrollees $25 awards went to Garrett and Monongalia counties. Garrett county also received special recognition along with Monongalia and Taylor counties for 100 percent completion of project booklets.

At last Friday's dinner L. Bush Swisher, project director, served as toastmaster. Dr. O. J. Burger, assistant dean, College of Agriculture, West Virginia university, delivered the address.

The story of the C. Herbert Hunter farm is one of steady growth and a continuous improvement in "better living" on the farm. Mr. Hunter said, "Life has been made better on the farm by use of electrical equipment and appliances in the home. The use of labor saving machinery on the farm has made life more pleasant and work more efficient." The old barn on the farm was replaced by a modern pole-type looking barn to go with the milking parlor. Farm grown timber was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were county winners twenty years ago.

His son has an adjoining farm. Father and son work their farms in partnership. The father has dairy cattle and poultry. The son has beef cattle and hybrid corn. The Hunters had 15 dairy cows in 1939. Now they have a milking herd of 22.

Attending the dinner from this county were Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Stanton, Grantsville; John H. Carter, Howard C. Riggs, James A. Mellenry, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crowe, J. T. Cain, Nordeck Shaffer, Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwater, Swanton; Mrs. W. W. DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hobart Bishoff, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Friend, Friendsville; Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park, Mr. and Mrs. William Wildesen, Germania.

When this picture was taken, at some unknown date, Muddy Creek Falls was known as "Deep Creek Falls," according to the legend printed at the bottom.

Due to the amount of timber visible in the foreground, lumbering operations must have been taking place in the area at the time. Under a magnifying glass on the original photo, the three men shown bear a remarkable resemblance to John Burroughs, noted naturalist; Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone, who at one time camped in the Swallow Falls area. But since their visit occurred around 1920, and this picture must be considerably older, it is not probable that this is the famous trio. Besides, the presence of the young ladies would not be explained.

In connection with the visit to Oakland of the three famous men, there is an anecdote remembered by some old timers.

At the time, James P. Treacy operated a garage here, and the party stopped. "I see you sell Firestone tires," said Mr. Firestone. "I certainly do," replied Mr. Treacy.

"Well," he continued," I am Mr. Firestone and it is always a pleasure to meet my dealers. I should also like to introduce Mr. Henry Ford, since you are also in the automobile business."

Mr. Treacy looked suspiciously at the two men, and then glancing at the bearded Burroughs in the back seat, said, "And now I guess you're going to tell me the other man is Santa Claus!"

Last week's photo, said to have possibly been that of Cheap John Michael, raised considerable controversy among some of the older citizens. It was quoted from news paper clippings early in the century that Cheap Joan had moved his establishment from Railroad Street to the Mitchell Building, now the Glottelty Restaurant.

A number of readers disputed this, claiming that Cheap John moved to the Henry Lauer bakery building, adjoining the Mitchell building.

This is rather doubtful, for Cheap John's move was announced in 1906. In 1907, according to newspaper files, it is stated:

"Mr. Henry Lauer, the Oakland baker, has just built in his place a new oven which holds 320 loaves of bread, this being necessary owing to his increasing business. He is also having the interior of his place remodeled.

"His goods whenever once used are always used and today he is building up a trade in other towns second to no other like establishment."

Obviously, Mr. Lauer had been in business for some time probably prior to Cheap John's move the year before.

This week's photo, as the one printed last week, is from the collection of E. W. Adams.

There were nine hunter fatalities during the first few days of deer season. Most were caused by heart attacks.

Highlanders Take Opening Game 75-42

Southern High School won its opening game of the season with a 75-42 victory over Terra Alta High school in a game played Tuesday night at Oakland.

Terry Colaw, starting his fourth season as a varsity performer, dumped in 35 points on 11 field goals and 13 of 17 foul attempts. It was just a few points short of a record score for one game marked up a few years ago by Terry's cousin, Toby Colaw.

Dick Stuck tossed in 13 points and Ron Colaw garnered an even dozen. Others scoring for Southern included James 2, Wine 1, Bolyard 6, D.Simone 2, Stemple 1. Coach Carl Schoonover emptied his entire bench during the encounter. Also playing were Prince, Propst, Malone and Broadwater.

Hill and Wiles led Terra Alta with nine points each.

Southern led at the close of every period, 19 to 9, 31 to 22, 51 to 31, and 75-42 as the final whistle sounded.

Southern garnered 26 field goals and 23 out of 43 free throws while Terra Alta scored 11 field goals and 20 out of 39 fouls.

The Highlanders will travel to Westernport on Friday evening to battle it out with Bruce High school. They will meet Valley High at Lonaconing next Tuesday evening, with the next home game being with Petersburg on December 18.

The Terra Alta Junior High team was victorious over Southern's Junior High team by the score of 25 to 21.

Christmas Tree Law Has Been Stiffened

Maryland's law governing transportation of Christmas trees and evergreen shrubs has been tightened as a result of laws passed at the last session of the general assembly through efforts of State Senator Bernard I. Gonder.

Senate Bill 342 added four new sections of Article 66-C of the annotated code. It was passed, approved April 28 by Governor Tawes and became effective June 1.

Section 375A provides that any trucker, not engaged in interstate commerce, who drives on a public highway for the purpose of transporting five or more trees, or 100 pounds or more of boughs of any species of pine, spruce, fir, hemlock or other evergreen tree or shrub, shall have a bill of sale for the trees or shrubs upon his person.

The bill of sale must state the date of sale, number and species of trees or pounds and species of boughs transported, number of election district and other data. The section does not apply to transportation of trees, shrubs or bough by the owner or custodian of lands from which the trees, shrubs or boughs were cut.

Authorities have the right to stop any truck transporting evergreens. A violation of the new sections constitutes a misdemeanor and guilty parties are subject to a fine from $10 to $500 and may be imprisoned from 30 to 90 days in jail, or both.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS OF ALL

Mommy said that this year I could help trim the tree, if I'd be very careful. The ornaments are so shiny and bright, and it's such fun to decide where to put them.

Mommy let me help fix our little crèche, too. I put in the figure of the Christ Child and He looked so pretty . . . all sort of pink and gold.

We fixed the crèche first because Mommy said that we must always remember that Christmas is, first of all, the Christ Child's birthday. When we finish trimming the tree, Mommy is going to read us the story about the first Christmas . . . about the shepherds and the angels . . . about the Wise Men and their star . . . about the little Jesus, born in Bethlehem, in a manger.

Mommy's told me the story before but she says that this year I'm big enough to stay up with the rest and hear her read it. And, of course, we'll go to Church, and Mommy says I can carry my fur muff.

I think this is going to be the best Christmas I've ever had!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Acts 9:32 through 11:18.
Devotional Reading: John 10:9-16.

Not Impossible

Lesson for December 13, 1959

EVERY CHURCH that is really alive is actively looking for new members. These members can be gained in two ways, one bad, one good. The bad way is sometimes called "sheep-stealing;" a dictionary word for it is "proselyting." The church that practices this never goes after non-Christians. It is not truly evangelistic; it gets its members from existing churches, chiefly by slander, assuring these people that the church to which they belong is not really Christian.

Dr. Foreman

One such church recently had the light turned on it. Of its more than 100 members, every one had been proselyted from other denominations; and in a year's time not one new member had been actually been won to Christ.

The truly evangelistic church, or the contrary, while it does, like all churches, welcome people from other denominations, nevertheless puts its main drive into winning people who have not been Christians before.

Possibles and Impossibles

The evangelistic church, in short, is interested in conversion, first of all. But for many such churches, even good ones, the list of prospects is a list of "possibles." There are persons in the community who are impossible, so far as that church is concerned.

Now if the Bible teaches anything it teaches that there are no really impossible cases. To be more precise about it, there are no cases which we as Christians have a right to label "impossible." The book of Acts tells a number of stories about conversions which we today would think very unlikely. The story of the Roman army officer named Cornelius is a case in point.

Enemy's Man

It took a vision from heaven to convince Simon Peter that God wanted him even to speak to this Cornelius. Certainly in normal circumstances Peter would have crossed the street to avoid him. For Cornelius was an officer in the Roman army of occupation. All during the time covered by the Gospels and Acts Palestine was an occupied country. The underground was active and eventually broke loose in a ruinous rebellion. The Romans had to keep an army and permanent military installations all over the place, to hold down rioters and restless people. Christian congregations (as we now call them) at that time were made up entirely of Jewish converts, and you may be sure no such congregation would have regarded an officer of the Army of Occupation as a likely prospect.

A Despised Race

Worse than this, the more religious a Jew was, the more he looked down on all non-Jews. We have race prejudice in America, but it is hardly anything compared to the prejudice the ancient Jew had against the non-Jewish races. It made no difference how important or wealthy the foreigner might be. The mere fact that he was foreign marked him as untouchable. There are many churches in America today, one-race churches like those in early days, who would definitely cross off from their list of prospects a person of another race.

A Good Man

Furthermore, if any member of the Jerusalem church had got near enough to this Roman officer to know something about him personally, it would have come out that he was already a very good man. Possibly even better than some of the Christians. He was a charitable, prayerful man, quite unlike the run-of-mine Roman soldier. It might have been said, "Here is a good citizen, he doesn't need us. Let's concentrate on real sinners. Talking to a man like Cornelius about 'salvation' would get nowhere." But God saw otherwise. The man Cornelius was good; but no human goodness is good enough to earn God's grace. What Simon Peter had, Cornelius needed: Christ the Savior, and the Holy Spirit. Cornelius brought much with him; but God gave him much more.

Twelve pounds of plump, golden brown holiday turkey . . . cooked to perfection the clean, low-shrinkage, time and temperature controlled electric way . . . with no moments wasted in peeking.

Any type of food preparation is so much more satisfying when done electrically. Only women who have cooked with wood, coal, oil, or gas, and then turned to electric cooking fully appreciate its advantages. There are many such women among your neighbors. Talk with them. Almost never will you find one who has voluntarily given up electric cooking, once she has actually used it over a period of months.

There's still time to have your electric range put in for use during the holiday season which will soon be with us.

GOD USES THOSE WHO ARE BROKEN

Rev. Ralph Jacks
Sang Run

Psalm 51.17 "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit." We may have our will surrendered to do His will, and yet miss a large part of the blessing He would give in our doing. Our spirit must be broken also, so that we see in every test and circumstance of each day His loving hand permitting, and gladly accept all from Him because His all-seeing eye understands what will accomplish our perfecting.

The trial can more quickly be removed because as we accept it, asking for the lesson He would teach, and victory over Satan. He can quiet us and show us the light we need.

God uses most for His glory those people and things which are most perfectly broken. The sacrifices He accepts are broken on contrite hearts. It was through breaking down of Jacob's natural strength at Peniel that got Him where God could clothe him with spiritual power. It was by breaking the surface of the rock at Horeb by the stroke of Moses' rod, that it let out the cool waters to a thirsty people.

It was when the three hundred elect soldiers under Gideon broke their pitchers, a type of breaking themselves, that the hidden lights shown forth to the consternation of their adversaries. It was when the poor widow broke the seal of the little pot of oil and poured it forth, that God multiplied it to pay her debts and supply means of support.

It was when Esther risked her life and broke through the rigid etiquette of a heathen court that she obtained favor to rescue her people from death. It was when Jesus took the five loaves and broke them, the bread was multiplied in the very act, and the five thousand were fed. It was when Mary broke her beautiful alabaster box rendering it henceforth useless, that the pent up perfume filled the house. It was when Jesus allowed His precious body to be broken to pieces by thorns, nails and a spear, that His inner life was poured out like a crystal ocean for thirsty sinners to drink and live.

Those who are broken in self-will, broken in ambitions, broken in their beautiful ideas, and broken in wordly reputation, oft times in health and forlorn; the Holy Ghost is seizing upon and using for Gods glory. It is the lame that take the prey, Isaiah tells us; it is the weak that overcome the devil. God is waiting to take hold of our failures and if He can get us broken before Him he is waiting to shine through us.

"Phone us if you need us"

A girl's best friend is often her telephone—whether she's twenty-five or five.

When you're twenty-five, the mother of a five-year-old, and going out for the evening—it means a lot to know that your favorite baby sitter can call you by phone should anything unusual occur to worry her.

That silent phone says, as clearly as words, that all's well at home.

Sometimes the calls that aren't made (because they aren't needed) add as much to living as those we like to make. Perhaps that's what makes a phone worth so much more than it costs.

Double Talk - - - -

The Baltimore Sun carried a column article on its editorial page last Wednesday, December 9, concerning Garrett county that sounded like a lot of double talk to us.

The writer went to some lengths to let the people know that the mountains of Western Maryland are very fine mountains but that they shouldn't be called Alpine because they are not. He infers that people should call them just what they are—very fine mountains. In other words, we should be content to be truthful about what we have but don't distort or exaggerate.

Then later in the article the writer gets around to the subject of food. He infers we don't have anything to brag about in this department and suggests that we bring in some Frenchmen to teach us how to have French dishes with fancy names, if we want to capture the attention of the tourist trade.

Now to us this is just plain contradictory and ridiculous. If he wants us to be ourselves in the way of mountains, why not he ourselves when it comes to food? We have vension. Why not call it vension? We have wild turkey. Why change it to "confit" or "les truites meuniere"? We have the quail, the partridge, squirrel, rabbit, why make a Frenchman's paradise out of it? Why not a Garrett county paradise? I know plenty of people who would give their eye teeth to get their fill of buckwheat cakes, and country sausage and Garrett county maple syrup. Why ruin their desire by trying to make them want the same thing with an unrelated name?

And when this writer, "P. W." by initials, says tourists better stick to ham and eggs when they go westward beyond Hancock, we'd like to know just what "joints" he tested when he was on his visit to this area. He certainly didn't touch the many fine eating places we have tried and enjoyed.

I can't imagine why Cumberland has remained silent so long. The article was an indictment of it as well as Garrett county.

The writer mentioned only one sensible item in his entire column.

That smell around Luke is terrific we agree. It even gets to Oakland 25 miles away whenever an east wind blows. But the paper company is trying to improve that condition through filtration plants and we have no doubt it will succeed.

All we can say for "P. W." the writer, is that his initials should have been "P. U." For his remarks had an offensive odor.

611 Bucks Slain In 7-Day Season

Number Is Ninety Below All-Time Record of 701 Established Last Year

Garrett county once more proved it was still top deer county in Maryland in spite of the blizzard of last Monday which cut down the total and kept it under the all-time record of 710 established in 1958.

It was thought that 698 was the record, established in 1957, but a recheck of records in the state office after the season ended last year showed the 710 total, twelve more than the 1957 total.

A total of 611 bucks were slain during the seven-day season which closed last Saturday at sundown. It was the first time that an extra day was given for the season and would have resulted in a record kill, had not the weather intervened Rain fell all day on Saturday, December 12, which also had a tendency to cut down on the number. Only 34 were accounted for on Monday, the day of the storm. Totals for the last three days were 48, 69 and 82

Biggest number of kills came on the first day with 248. Next highest was the final day.

The breakdown of the figures at the checking stations showed the following: Friendsville, 27, 4, 13, 14, 7, 12, 12, total, 89; Storey's 37, 6, 11, 21, 9, 18, 13, total, 115, Grantsville, 59, 4, 16, 9, 12, 9, 13, total, 122, Oakland, 79, 11, 13, 27, 19, 20, 14, total, 183, LaVale, 21, 5, 3, 0, 1, 2, 15, total, 47; Westernport, 14, 2, 3, 0, 0, 8, 15, total, 42, Hancock, 11, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, total, 13.

Totals by days, Saturday, 248, Monday, 34, Tuesday, 59, Wednesday, 71, Thursday, 48; Friday, 69, Saturday, 82, grand total, 611.

Rabid Dog Shot

A rabid Collie dog was shot yesterday near the Eastern States Farmers Exchange, and an examination at the laboratory of the Livestock Sanitary service in Oakland confirmed the report.

An employe at the exchange noticed the dog and called John Evans, Jr. constable. Evans attempted to trap the animal with his dog catching equipment but the dog tried to chew it up and made a lunge for Evans who shot him.

This is the nearest to Oakland for any rabid animal and the County Commissioners were eager that the word be spread so that adequate precautions could be taken. The dog had no tag and the owner was not known. Neither was it known how many other dogs or human beings it had been in contact with, whether or not it had bitten any person

Evans said the dog was frothing at the mouth when he arrived. The dog weighed some 60 or 70 pounds. The animal was examined by Dr. Glotfelty.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, said the big item of expense was the matter of providing a more competitive teacher salary scale.

The board decided to make a request of $200 raise for each teacher. Hawkins pointed out that "even this small increase calls for a budget item of approximately $38,000." He said the board felt that anything less than this amount would be insufficient to keep teachers now employed or attract qualified teachers for future vacancies.

Hawkins also noted that should this raise be granted the county teachers still would be among the lowest paid in the state and that competition for qualified teachers was becoming more intense every year.

The board also approved officially the salary bill of $1,000 to $6,000 sponsored by the State Department of Education, to go before the legislature in February. The board opposed the James Report as it applied to teacher salaries, declaring it would be of little benefit to small counties and would help primarily the wealthy counties by relieving them from paying additional equalization money to counties unable to support their education programs from local taxes.

Additional new items in the budget were $8,000 to replace Northern High school gym floor and $5,000 matching funds for the National Defense Education act. Under this act Hawkins explained the county is entitled to approxi-

From Sales to TV Star Is Explained

A column in the Cumberland Evening Times, written by Hayne Battelle, tells the story of a top salesman who became a TV star. The story, in addition to being quite unusual, also has a distinctly local pitch.

The young man that this woman is writing about is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gortner, lately of Grantsville, now residing in Morgantown, W. Va.

The story from New York, is as follows:

The time is 1956 and the scene is a bar at which advertising men, businessmen, artists and writers gather-Toots, that would be, Shor's.

Behind black shell-rimmed spectacles an Irish salesman winked at his buddy with whom he had been discussing the top news event of the day, the collision of the ship Stockholm with the Andrea Doria.

THEN, in a voice loud enough that fellow drinkers could overhear, the Irish space salesman assumed the character of an Italian named Guido Panzini — Andrea survivor.

"What was it like?" asked his buddy.

"Was dark . . .verry dark" said 'Guido.' "When the Italian captain asks a question an' somebody answer in Swidish, we know werr are cloze."

THIS WAS the beginning of a new success era for Pat Harrington Jr., who was already a successful advertising man.

For nearly three years after he adopted the character of Guido Panzini, purely as a gag, the American public thought of him as an alert, likeable Italian rather than what he was—an alert, likeable Irishman with a Master's degree, a $35,000 a year job on Madison Avenue.

People who overhead Harrington's humor alerted Jonathan Winters, who was then filling in as host on "The Jack Paar Show," and the result was that "Guido Panzini" became famous among American TV fans in a great, lovely hoax.

LATER, Steve Allen asked Pat, a natural mimic, to appear on his show; Pat accommodated by working as a Swede, an Irish jockey and a variety of other characters. And today, at the age of 30, he is an actor on "The Danny Thomas Show."

IT MAY SEEM odd to show business people that young Pat wasted the first 29 years of his life in education and big business. As the son of a great night club and vaudeville comic, one would have thought he'd have been dedicated to comedy from the beginning. He explains:

"Any talent you have is relative. Well, relative to my father, I was a very unfunny kid."

WHEN, as a childish ham, he imitated the accents of everybody in his polyglot neighborhood on New York's West Side, people said "you ought to be on the stage." He asked his dad about that. "You ought to finish college first," the older Harrington said.

So Pat took six years of college. And, with a Master's degree from Fordham, it seemed sensible to go into business. He became one of New York's top salesmen.

WHEN PEOPLE talk to him about the "waste of those years in business," he says "I wouldn't trade them for a million dollars. They're the basis for a lot of my humor.

"Picture this . . . a 26-year-old salesman is trying to sell a 29-year-old executive on a million-dollar deal. We take ourselves seriously. We talk in hundreds-of-thousands—and neither of us has 85 cents in our pockets."

HARRINGTON now lives in Hollywood with his wife and sons Pat, 3, and Michael, 1. He likes it, and his kids are happy.

"They've got plenty of mud-What else do they need?"

And when he gets homesick for New York, he comes back and takes a cab down Park Avenue at 8:30 in the morning. "I see the guys coming out of their apartments, carrying their little briefs cases all set for another day of making the pitch. I don't like myself for doing it, but I have to laugh . . . And then I'm not so homesick any longer."

Board Discusses

mately $16,000 on a matching basis. This money goes to equip classrooms in math, foreign languages, science and guidance. He explained that even if the $5,000 was matched there remains $11,000 lost to the county because of lack of additional matching funds.

Request for money to replace the gym floor and matching funds for NDEA materials is more than offset by the fact that this year $79,068 less is being sought for capital outlay purposes than was received last year.

Buses, Buildings Discussed

Purchase of eleven news buses by contractors was approved for the school year 1960-61. Contractors are William F. DeWitt, Audley Riley, Edward Schmidt, Joe Welch, Carl Wright, Casselman Motor company, Emmett Friend, Emile Germain, Ira Gilpin, Virgil Hanlin and James Moran.

A temporary bus route with board of Education bus was approved. It would run from Oakland to Johnsen's farm to relieve overload on buses of William DeWitt and James Sanders. The William DeWitt bus will be replaced by a new and larger bus next year. Extension of bus route driven by Leslie Savage to Fred Meyer lane also was approved.

A new bus purchased by Troy Guegy is now running from Boiling Springs to Oakland. Drivers approved by the board included Jack Sowers for Joseph Welch and Ted Hardesty for Herbert Ritchie.

Building problems were under discussion. Mr. Hawkins reported the estimated cost of the Kitzmiller library as approximately $5,000 with work to be done by maintenance men beginning next spring. Money for the project will be available from excess natural gas tax fund.

The need for an additional classroom at Red House school was discussed. The Red House addition a few years ago provided no additional classrooms but moved children out of the basement area. Kempton children have since been transferred from the Red House school due to overcrowded classrooms. Available enrollment for the school is enough for five teachers, it was explained.

The estimated cost of an additional classroom and enlarging of all-purpose room would be $32,000. The School board voted to request the County Commissioners to borrow this sum from the State School Construction fund, to be repaid over a fifteen year period.

Bids were opened on work the board is planning to do on the excavated basement area of route 40 school. The equivalent of three classrooms in space is available but the area needs a concrete floor, extra windows, an inside stairway and heat. Low bidder was Lawrence Hardesty, in the amount of $3,670. Rayl Construction company's bid was $3,854. Work is to begin at once by Hardesty.

Among other business the board also approved:

Appointment of Mrs. Rita Schoenadel, mid-year graduate of Frostburg State Teachers college, as girls' physical education instructor at Northern High.

Master's degree increment pay of $200 effective January 1, for two high school librarians, Mrs. Goldie Bittle and Melvin Kesner, both of whom have graduate degrees in high school library science, equivalent of a Master's degree in other fields.

A bill submitted by Parke Tressler of $500 for clearing and grading on new playground area for Bloomington school and $5,297.50 to William Shrier in payment on contract for construction of Center Street school auditorium. Total contract for the auditorium was $50,386.

Sale of 43 obsolete desk chairs to Loch Lynn church for $1 each.

Appointment of Mrs. Lillian Reckner to teach music part time.

Listen Americans!

... by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

The noted science writer Lloyd Mallan came back from a painstaking 14,000-mile study-tour of Communist Russia, having been given the privilege of seeing Russian developments not seen by any other American and published a well-documented report declaring that the people and the press of the entire world have been completely and dangerously fooled by the heralded Soviet claims of sensational achievements in space exploration. He has branded the Soviet Moon shots as fakes.

In his provocative book, Russia and The Big Red Lie, Mr. Mallan says: "Russian strength and 'scientific progress' is being impressed deeply upon the minds of our children. They are growing up with a baffled respect for Communism rooted in their subconscious. Many of them must certainly one day become ripe for Communist dogma . . . This is the basic danger to humanity — not missiles and bombers. This is the real goal of the Big Red Lie."

On the basis of what he saw in major laboratories, research industries and space technology stations in Soviet Russia, Mr. Mallan has concluded that Communists could not possibly have made the achievements they claim. They are far behind America in every field of space technology, he says — and he has the photographs and interviews to substantiate this statement.

"In effect," Mr. Mallan says, "scientists of the Free World generally have been 'brainwashed' by the most canny propaganda campaign in history into believing that Soviet scientists are capable of achieving whatever they might set out to do — at will — regardless of how technologically difficult this might be. Such an attitude on the part of Free World scientists was graphically demonstrated during a series of extensive interviews made by me and by Charles Tepfer and Leonard Buchwalter, respectively the editor and technical editor of the magazine Electronics Illustrated.

"The interviews, including two by transAtlantic telephone, were with the Free World's leading tracking scientists and technicians — those directly responsible for all statements to the press, both official and unofficial, in England and the United States, about the 'performance' of the alleged Russian Luniks. Remarkable enough, out of these interviews the following basic points emerged:

"1. All 'scientific data' on which these men based their opinions (that the Russian Lunik claims were true) were unsubstantiated and came from the Russians. 2. There was no possible way by which the Free World scientists could cross-check the Russian claims for the performance of the Luniks. 3. There was no radar detection of the Luniks. 4. The methods used by Free World scientists to 'track' the alleged Luniks were sloopy and unscientific and were based predominantly on faith in the Russians rather than knowledge."

To my mind, two facts lend weight to Mr. Mallan's conclusions: (1) Soviet Russia could not contract an A-bomb, although they knew the general theory, until our plans and secrets had been stolen; (2) The Communist in their literature say that it is proper to lie about anything to aid the Communist goal, and we know THEY DO LIE.

Overtime Battle Is Lost to Valley Hi

A layup shot by Jim Getty with seven seconds remaining in an overtime period enabled Valley High school of Lonaconing to win on Southern High school's High Landers by the score of 50 to 52 in a thriller Tuesday night on the Valley court.

The regulation game ended with the score knotted at 50-50 and with 40 seconds remaining in the extra period McKenzie broke the tie by sinking a pair of foul shots. Terry Colaw's field goal however deadlocked the count at 52-all with 12 seconds left to play.

The score was tied 5, 7 and 9 in the first period before the Black Knights took a 11-9 lead and they remained in front until Art to play in the final quarter when the Highlanders squared it at 41-41. The score was knotted for the 6th time at 48 and the 7th time at 50 as the battle went into the overtime period.

Garlitz was Valley's top scorer with 21 points on nine field goals and 3 out of 5 fouls. Getty had 13 while McKenzie and Johnson had 10 each.

Dick Stuck and Terry Colaw sparked the Garrett county quint with 13 tallies, each while Ron Colaw garnered 11 points. James also had 4, Wine 8, Prince 2 and Bolyard 1 to complete the Southern scoring.

Each team scored 23 goals but Valley held an 8-6 edge at the charity line. The victory was Valley's second against one loss. Southern has a 1-2 record and will play Petersburg High on Friday night in a Potomac Valley conference clash, on the Southern court.

Southern High Jaycees lost the preliminary to the Jaycee team of Valley.

Attending the meeting also were the seven members of the troop committee, and Ralph Farber, district commissioner. Mr. Farber gave a short talk on the importance of advancement.

Troop committee members and scouts discussed possible good turns the scouts would be doing the Christmas season.

"A Glimpse of 4-H" Is Theme of Meeting

"A Glimpse of 4-H" was the theme of the program presented by the Cherished 4-H Club Monday evening at Bruce High school, Westernport. This also served as club achievement night to review accomplishments and to inform parents and the public on the 4-H club program.

The club was awarded its club charter and a banner room for the club program by E. Rankin Lusby, assistant county agent. The banner ribbon is the highest award possible for a club, Lusby said. A keyman pin was presented to Mrs. Violet Reckner for her service as local leader by Mrs. Johanna Smith, assistant home demonstration agent.

A typical club program was conducted by Shirley Grove, president, including saying the 4-H pledge and motto, singing of songs and giving demonstrations making Christmas wreaths and Christmas table decorations were the two demonstrations given by Patty DeVelbiss and Billy Magruder.

Tom Magruder spoke on the "meaning of 4-H." "Four-H Headline," a movie, was shown. A candlelight ceremony concluded the program. Members of the club located in Garrett county, include Shirley Grove, president; Jean Grove, vice-president; Patty DeVelbiss, secretary-treasurer; Thomas Magruder, reporter; Sally Grove, Billy Magruder, Charles DeVelbiss.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Better Health Through Knowledge

Medical Treatment Possible in Ileitis

- Lunar Influences
- Expectant Mothers

Q. What can you tell me about ileitis—the causes and cure, if any?—A.

A. Ileitis means inflammation of the lower loops of the small intestine. Ileitis is chiefly a disease of youth, although it may occur in persons of any age. The exact cause of the disease is unknown although claims have been made that ileitis follows epidemics of intestinal dysentery. Proof, to date, is lacking. The vast majority of ileitis sufferers fall into the age bracket between twenty and thirty years. It is ordinarily rather mild but complications can develop which may be quite serious. Cure, or at least the relief of symptoms, is possible under medical treatment. Surgery to remove the inflamed part of the intestine is sometimes desirable but even this is no guarantee against later flare-ups.

Q. Some people believe that the moon influences the germination of seeds. Is it possible for the moon to influence human functions as well?

A. Two physicians recently reported some interesting ideas about this subject. They showed that the human birth rate may be slightly influenced by the phases of the moon. The moon (and the sun) produce the tides of the sea and also a land tide. The doctors reasoned that since our bodies are about two-thirds "sea" and one-third "land," we may be influenced by gravitational pull, light intensity, and other factors that vary with the lunar cycles. None of these things have been proved but they make interesting speculation.

Q. I have heard that just one x-ray examination during pregnancy will shorten the baby's life by two weeks. Is this true?

A. Experiments with mice show that large doses of X-ray shorten the life of animals. Somewhat smaller doses do not seem to have such an effect. Even smaller doses used in examining mothers-to-be would not logically be expected to influence the infant's life span. Doctors examine pregnant women in this way only when necessary and would not use the procedure at all if the benefits didn't outweigh the theoretical hazards.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 256, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

By DICK CASTILOW

Only one week 'til Christmas. I really hope the spirits upon you cause this time of year isn't too much fun if it isn't.

There will be Teen Club Tuesday night instead of Friday night. Mrs. Rhythm are an organ-drum some dance music and there will be free cakes and cookies. Mr. and Mrs. Rythem are an organ-drum duet. Mr. Rhythm on the organ and Mrs. Rhythm on the drums. A real good time will be had by all, I believe. They play good rock n' roll.

There is still tomorrow night, go to the basket ball game, then come to Teen Club. We at Teen Club are not trying to be competitors with the school, but instead supporting the school. Still there is plenty of time for Teen Club after the game. We like very much to have victory celebrations after games.

Last week while everyone was enjoying the Troubadours, I was sitting in Union Station in Washington. I went down to try and get some talent for Teen Club. I am now working with Odna, D. C., and Savoy records, to bring some of their talent on prom tours to Oakland. By the way, they say The Troubadours were really good. On this say so, they will be back sometime later in February.

What do you think of Johnny Prestons' "Running Bear?" You know, that has a fine story in the lyrics, so give it a close listen once.

Another swinger is Jimmy Jones' "Handy Man". This one started moving in Pittsburgh (as did Running Bear) and then started National.

See you all tomorrow night, then Sunday night, then Tuesday night for the season's hops. P. S. You can wear bells on your feet and glitter in your hair, I'll be the last one to give a . . . care!

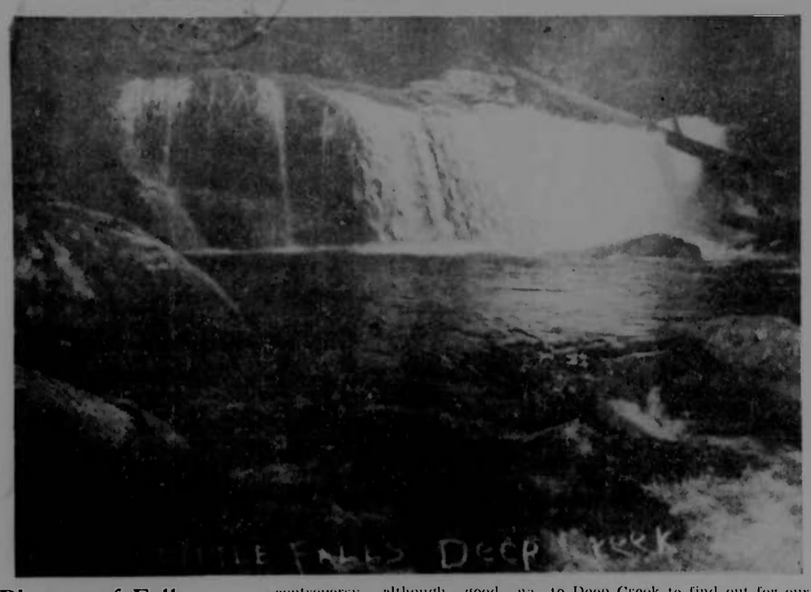
Pictures Out Of The Past



Picture of Falls Causes Controversy

The picture of the falls which appeared in last week's issue under the caption "Pictures out of the Past," has caused a variety of controversy, although good natured, during the present week.

The picture had a caption on it indicating that it was "Deep Creek Falls." However there is so much similarity in the picture and the present Muddy Creek Falls that there was some question as to whether it had originally been misnamed.

Some old letters were brought forward to subantiate the fact that it was in reality Deep Creek Falls. One individual had an idea to use not only Deep Creek Falls but Muddy Creek Falls and Swallow Falls for a water power development many years before the hydro electric dam on Deep Creek was built.

The picture looks so much like Muddy Creek Falls that we won't admit defeat until we take a trip to Deep Creek to find out for ourselves whether or not there is such a ledge of rock. Of course, since Deep Creek was dammed, very little water flows through the Deep Creek gorge from the breast of the dam to the Youghiogheny river but the rock formations are still there. They are located west of the bridge over Deep Creek on the road from Swallow Falls to Hoyes Run.

This week we print another falls which is termed the Little Falls of Deep Creek. It is located in the same general area, also west of the present bridge. By next week we might have a picture of Deep Creek Falls, or rather where it used to be. Old timers said this falls was even higher than Muddy Creek.

Five Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Five were apprehended in recent days for violations of the motor vehicle laws.

Ronald Detado Poling, Barton, operating without a Maryland operator's license, $10.

Willard Woodrow Miller, Hopemont, W. Va., stop sign violation, $5.

Ralph Daniel Buono, Weirton, W. Va., failure to grant right of way to approaching traffic, $10.

Harrison Dewey Kelly, Morgantown, stop sign violation, $10.

Charles Allen Crawford, Aurora, W. Va., inadequate muffler, $10.

A motor violation charge was incorrectly quoted two weeks ago against Mava Speicher, of Mt. Lake Park. It was stated that he was charged with "owner permitting vehicle to be operated by unauthorized person," for which he was fined $25.

The charge on the books is "Owner permitting vehicle to be operated in violation."

Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital and his position is being filled temporarily by Leslie E. Sharpless, of Kitzmiller, trial magistrate for the Kitzmiller area. Mr. Sharpless went on duty last Wednesday.

Tunnel Jams Revive Hope for Route 40

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall said this week that the traffic congestion as the tunnels on the Pennsylvania Turnpike on recent weekends go to prove more convincingly that the Hancock-Washington, Pa., section of U. S. route 40 should be placed in the federal interstate highway system.

This problem was brought to the attention of the federal highway commissioner and other federal authorities five years ago. Four lanes of traffic converge into two lanes at reduced speeds at the tunnel sites.

The senator said he was notifying the federal highway commissioner of the most recent occurrence and emphasizing that route 40 from Hancock to Washington, Pa., sould be placed in the interstate highway 70.

Interstate 70 presently leaves route 40 just east of Hancock and travels seven miles north to get on the turnpike at Breezewood.

The worst tie-up of traffic occurred on Sunday, December 1 when westbound cars were backed up ten miles east of Allegheny tunnel 12 miles east of Somerset, and ten miles on the western end of Laurel tunnel, seven miles west of Somerset.

Turnpike police termed the jams worst in the turnpike's history, and declared it was due to heavy traffic and not the weather. The cars inched along, from 1 p. m. to midnight ,making about one mile an hour.

Senator Beall said jams at the tunnels had occurred consistently in the past. This condition that occurred on the other week-end has revived hope that this section of route 40, oldest artery to the west, would be rebuilt as a part of interstate 70.

Work on interstate 70 around Hancock is proceeding and the four-lane section east of Hancock into Pennsylvania for a distance of seven miles is due to be completed this spring.

Keyser Man Fatally Shot in Tavern Fray

William Glenn Ayers, 29, father of four children, was shot to death late Saturday night at White Tavern, about 2 miles southwest of Keyser, on U. S. route 50.

Held in jail at Keyser is Ralph Evans, 39, of Elk Garden, operator of the tavern. West Virginia troopers are investigating.

Trooper C. C. Oliver said the shooting apparently stemmed from ill feeling between the two men. The victim, shot in the chest, died instantly. He had ben living in the Keyser area for about a year and had been employed as a truck driver.

End of the Quest

Wise Men travelled a desert to lay their gifts before a King.

But the King was a mere babe. His court was a cattle shed; His princely garb swaddling bands.

Could they be certain when they knelt by the manger that this was the end of the quest?

Their certainty came not of proof but of faith. They had marveled at the heavens . . . followed a gleaming star . . . listened to prophecy. For Wise Men this was enough!

And through the centuries others have sought the King. Eagerly, earnestly they have come into the reverent beauty of the Church. And there, as ageless Words cast their light in man's darkness, they have known the end of their quest.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Christmas Grace

Lesson for December 20, 1959

CHRISTMAS TIME is giving time; but not all "giving" is Christian. When a man at a race track drops a quarter into the Salvation Army lassie's tambourine, that isn't giving, it's only a tip to Lady Luck. When you give something to your Aunt Ginny although you hate to do it, but you know your cousin is going to send her something, and you hate to offend the old lady, that isn't giving, it's just protecting your interests. When you have a "secret pal" and you put a present for her (or him) under a tree, knowing that your s.p. will have one there for you, that isn't giving, it's a game of swapping. When you give away an old garment that you don't want to be seen in any more, that isn't giving, it's just cleaning out your closet.

Dr. Foreman

True Giving

The grace of Christmas is Christian giving. When is giving Christian? When it costs the giver something, when it is worth giving, and when the one who is to receive it really needs it. I might save up my money and spend a lot of it on a set of plumber's tools for Aunt Ginny, that present would cost me something but Aunt Ginny would have no earthly use for it. While it's fresh in our minds it would hurt none of us to go over our Christmas shopping list for 1959 and see how much of it was Christian.

All the same, giving is the grace, the special grace, of Christmas. It is a fitting way to celebrate God's greatest gift to us. It was about three centuries after the birth of Christ that the Christian church set a definite date for his birthday. Once begun, the church never gave up this custom. But the essence of Christmas is not Santa Claus, or the tree for the yule log, not the mistletoe, nor the lights in the windows, charming as all these may be. The essence of Christmas is the grace of Christmas and the grace of Christmas is Giving.

Not Always Things

Most of us think of gifts as things. Things that weigh something on the scales, things that can be put into a pretty box and be wrapped. Sometimes the best present can not be a thing of that kind at all. Our Bible story from Acts is as much a Christmas story as the one from Luke, for it has to do with Giving. The story in Luke tells of God's gift to us. First we see the Christians at Antioch giving the good news to that city. Since Christians had then no prestige whatever and were few in number, their "speaking to the Greeks" must have been personal conversations not public sermons. They shared their faith and that was the best gift of all. Faith can not be wrapped in a package and it weighs nothing on the parcel post scales. But it is more valuable than any parcel that was mailed this or any Christmas.

At Our Doors

Our Christmas-grace story from Acts also tells of a different kind of giving, which was Christian. There are times and occasions when the "spiritual" gift is not the thing. Saint James saw this clearly. He raises the question with the one who has just sent a needy case away with a blessing but with an empty basket: "Go in peace, this person had said, "be warmed and fed." If any one should ask him whether he gave that poor widow anything, he would have said "Of course, I gave her my blessing, didn't I? I expressed my earnest prayer that she would find warmth and a square meal." "But you didn't give her any firewood or groceries?" "No—I gave something much better because it was spiritual: a benediction." O nonsense! James says such a man's "faith" is dead. John, a spiritual man if ever one lived, wonders if such a man has the love of God in him at all. Spiritual gifts are the best gifts—but if they go all too with material selfishness, they are not gifts at all. A benediction may be an expression of the grace of Christmas; but so may a sack of potatoes. A Christmas gift is one that Christ would give.

Residents Receive More Funds From Social Security

Garrett County residents are receiving over $7,000 additional funds annually from Social Security. This is a result of a project undertaken recently by the Garrett County Rural Development Committee, in cooperation with the Social Security district office in Cumberland, reports John Hardesty, representative from that office.

It was felt that many people in the county were losing benefits under social security because they did not know their rights and had never filed an application for benefit.

A list of 1800 people, of retirement age and older, was obtained. This list was screened against the social security records and no record of previous contact was found for 859 of these. Information was mailed to these people, informing them of their rights under social security and asking them to contact the district office if they had questions. It was arranged for the representative to meet with interested persons in five different towns in the county, in addition to the regular weekly visit to Oakland on Tuesdays.

Results of the project show that about 150 people contacted the social security representative, as a result of these letters and that 34 claims for benefits were taken. These claims resulted in $3,780 back benefits being paid and an additional, $7,958 annually in benefits coming in to the county. Social security monthly funds in the county now total over $765,000 annually.

Mr. Hardesty said he felt certain there are still some residents of the County who are losing funds because they have never inquired about the regulations. He emphasized that before any money can be paid, an application must be filed.

State Census Will Start Next Spring

Marylanders, who started taking census figures in Colonial days, will be counted again next Spring by some 2,350 census takers.

These census takers, plus crew leaders and district office workers, will total more than half of all Marylanders counted in the first census.

Maryland took its first census in 1752 and came up with a count of 46,673 persons. The colony made another in 1755 with an enumeration of 153,554.

The 1960 census takers will work under six district offices. These will be set up at Salisbury, Towson, College Park, Frederick and two at Baltimore.

The census offices will open next month. During February, these offices will recruit crew leaders who in turn will hire enumerators locally during March. In major cities, however, enumerator recruiting and testing will begin in February, because of the need for many more workers.

The house-to-house visits by the state will be transmitted to the president no later than Dec. 1 next year. These totals provide the basis for reapportionment of Congressmen among the various states.

Maryland now has seven Congressional seats. Census projections of such population figures for 1960 indicate Maryland will retain that number.

West Virginians will be counted next Spring by about 1,750 census takers.

They will work out of six district offices to be set up at Fairmont, Keyser, Clarksburg, Huntington, Bluefield and Charleston.

West Virginia is expected to lose a Congressional seat—dropping from six to five—on the basis of projected census figures.

Merry Christmas

Christmas, 1959 - - - -

The Christmas Religion offers spiritual comfort, concern for the individual, hope and promise for all mankind, but it is not an escape from reality or responsibility, for the unconcerned or deliberately ineffectual. The path of our Lord was a torturous one, for only through suffering could His human character be matured and his capacity be created to feel deep compassion and sympathize fully with the lot of other men.

This season, the Christmas Star will burn again at the tip of countless millions of tinseled trees, in the heavens and in the hearts of men across the world, to remind them of their heritage. Man-made stars circle the earth and in this country, whatever their material importance, their deeper significance has been to make us, as a nation and as individuals, drop our petty preoccupations and re-assess our strengths, our purposes and our basic faith.

A primary tenet of Christianity is concern for the individual and a belief in his personal worth, strength of character, and capacity for achievement in a material as well as a spiritual sense.

Christ challenged the free individual to discipline himself and reach beyond his apparent capacity to gain a reward without price. This has ever since been the hard core strength of Christians everywhere. To draw on this strength, America was dedicated to freedom.

The wisdom of this dedication is once again questioned, and as we turn to answer, let us pause this Christmas to remember the source of our strength and our mission as a nation to make this world more habitable and to keep alive the fires of reason and freedom for men everywhere.

In this, His words will guide us—"For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, or be cast away?"—From the publisher of the Industrial News Review.

Changes Sought In Planning Of Roads

The State Roads Commission plans to go before the 1960 General Assembly with a proposal for a sweeping revision of the old 12-year highway program.

In effect, the plan would virtually scrap the old 12-year program and give the roads commission greater flexibility in listing the priority of highway projects.

The Legislative Council—between sessions working arm of the General assembly—approved the revisions December 2 after Roads chairman John B. Funk criticized the restrictions of the old program. Funk and other commission officials will submit a more detailed program to the legislators when the assembly convenes in February.

The agency has made public a list of primary and interstate highway projects it wants to place ahead of secondary projects.

U. S. 40 Priorty

The list includes such major itefs as the dualization of U. S. 40 in Western Maryland, U. S. 15 in Frederick county, U. S. 50 and U. S. 301 on the Eastern Shore and 202, 190, 212 in the Washington area.

The old 12-year program, begun seven years ago, provided for state spending of 568 million dollars on primary and secondary highway projects in Maryland.

Funk said his agency had been hampered by the restriction which prevented the state from beginning any construction scheduled for the second four-year phase until at least 90 percent of the mileage scheduled for the first four years had been completed.

The roads chairman said rising construction costs and changing traffic needs had made impractical some of the projects originally scheduled.

One result, he said, has been delay in completing several major state projects including those on U. S. 50, U. S. 40, the Baltimore county Beltway and the Washington area highways.

The legislative council agreed that the 90 percent provision should be swept aside to permit the agency to substitute any county project for one scheduled in the original 12 year plan provided the county commissioners or conneil and the county delegation to the Legislature agree to the substitution State roads officials have said frankly that they want authority to push major projects immediately, at the expense of secondary highways.

They note that funds for the remaining five years of the 12-year program are available but construction has progressed only to the third year of the program. Therefore, they say, money is the overriding question.

Son of Former Local Resident Takes Top Honors in Contest

John Keller, son of a former Garrett County resident, won top honors in the National Vegetable judging contest held in Washington, D. C., recently. Out of a possible 950 points he received 900.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Keller, prominent in vegetable and fruit growing in Lorraine county, Ohio, near Elyria. Mrs. Keller is the former Louise Moon, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Timothy Moon, of Mt. Lake Park.

The youth is a senior in Elyria High school. He is a prize winner in the local saddle club of which he is a member. He is also a member of the high school band and orchestra, and a member of the Student Council. He is active in the Methodist youth organization.

John plans to enter Ohio State university next fall.

The contest was sponsored by the national 4-H club. He won first in his own county, first in the state at Columbus, O., which entitled him to compete at Washington.

Bridge Completed

The county bridge on the road leading from Crellin to Turner Douglas was completed in the past few days, according to Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor.

The bridge has a 71-foot span and a width of 21 feet. Wotring said the bridge was placed at an expenditure of $8,700.

Commission On Representation Makes Changes

The governor's commission on more equitable representation in the Maryland Legislature met briefly Tuesday in Baltimore.

Newsmen were barred from the session, which an informed source said lasted about 45 minutes and involved some changes in the commission's report of last October. Recommendations in the report already have been rejected by a 12-5 vote of the Legislative Council, interim screening arm of the Legislature.

Commission members were reported concerned over the council action, which could adversely affect the commission's chances of obtaining approval of its recommendations in the Legislature next February.

Walsh Heads Group

Commission Chairman William C. Walsh told newsmen the matters discussed at Tuesday's meeting would be reported to Gov. Tawes and any further information would have to come from the governor.

Under the commission's proposals, the membership of the House of Delegates could be increased from the present 123 to a maximum of 141, depending on population growth in the 23 counties. Baltimore City would retain its present 42 seats and the 29-seat Senate would remain unchanged, with the city keeping six seats and each of the 23 counties retaining one.

The commission recommended that no county be stripped of any House seats but that provisions be made to increase representation of growing counties. Baltimore county, with an expected population of 465,000 in 1960, would add four seats to its present six, for example. Prince Georges, with a forecast population of 370,000 by next year, and Montgomery, with 325,000, would gain two each to the six each they now have. Anne Arundel would add one to its present six.

The Formula

Under the commission formula a county which now has two delegates would be entitled to three when its population reached 50,000; a county with three would get four when its population grew to 75,000; a county with four would get five when its population grew to 100,000; a county with five would get six when its population reached 150,000, a county with six would get seven when its population reached 200,000; a county with seven would get eight at the 300,000 population mark; a county with eight would get nine at 400,000, and a county with more than 500,000 would get the maximum of 10 delegates.

Visits Post Offices

Rep. John R. Foley has completed a tour of post offices in the Sixth Congressional district. He visited a total of 70 last week, fifteen of them being in this county.

Accompanied on his tour by his local office secretary, Mrs. Anne B. Everline, Mr. Foley visited Grantsville, Bittinger, McHenry, Accident, Friendsville, Deer Park, Crellin, Hutton, Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Vindex, Kitzmiller, Shallmar, Swanton and Bloomington offices. He missed the one in Sang Run and explained that "the weather got so bad we just didn't make it."

Also accompanying him on his tour was Lewis C. Hutson, of Kitzmiller, chairman of the Garrett County State Central committee. He met with a number of citizens in the city hall on Friday evening.

In Mt. Lake Park Foley visited the old post office and the site of the new one, now under construction. This is the only new post office now under construction in the Sixth district.

During his tour he visited classrooms in Grantsville Elementary school, Northern High school and had lunch and addressed students at Southern High. The following day he had lunch at Kitzmiller school and visited classrooms there. He expressed the opinion that better facilities are needed in many communities.

Special Christmas Events in Churches To Be Concluded

Special services in the various churches for the Christmas season will be concluded on Wednesday, December 30, with a student holiday brunch at St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland.

The brunch is being planned and served by the youth department of St. Paul's. A short program is planned, but the main purpose is for fellowship. This is an annual activity for students sponsored by the church. Maurice Brookhart III and a youth committee are in charge of arrangements. Assisting them are Mrs. W. W. Nace, Mrs. Earl Wise, Mrs. Kenneth Hardesty.

The church was packed for the annual carol and candle lighting program held Sunday evening.

Midnight Services

Still to be held are four Christmas eve services.

Beginning at 11 o'clock Christmas eve the choir of St. Matthew's Episcopal church will present a program of traditional carols followed by the choral Eucharist and sermon by the rector, the Rev. Shelby Walthall.

Low masses will be said at 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock on Christmas morning with confessions before each mass. At the Immaculate Conception church in Kitzmiller mass will be offered at midnight Christmas eve, with confessions before the mass.

All 81 performances of the decennial Oberamergan Passion play next year are sold out.

Exploration Shows Recent Picture Was Muddy Creek

An exploration of the Deep Creek section from Hoyes Run road to where it empties into the Youghiogheny river, made on Sunday afternoon has shown conclusively that the photograph published in the December 10 issue was that of Muddy Creek Falls—and not Deep Creek Falls as indicated by the caption on the old picture.

Being published today is a picture of the Deep Creek Falls, taken Sunday which shows an expanse bigger than Swallow Falls, but with nowhere near the height of Muddy Creek.

The explorers also found and photographed the Little Falls of Deep Creek which is identical with the photograph published last week.

As far as the explorers were concerned, seeing was believing. They are of the opinion that the picture purported to be Deep Creek Falls, was in reality Muddy Creek Falls. They made the trek the entire distance from the county road to the mouth of the creek. There was one more falls along the pathway which was smaller than "Little Falls."

The accompanying picture illustrates the sloping falls which one declared to be much more beautiful than Swallow Falls. The territory surrounding it was termed "pretty wild."

Henry Arnold was one of those who thought the picture to be Deep Creek Falls. He wrote:

"There was a Deep Creek Falls, and it was between where Deep Creek empties into the Youghiogheny river and the existing breast of the dam. The lumber that is shown is mostly driftwood that washed down from the vast area of Deep Creek which extended to saw mills and lumber yards quite a few miles away.

"In July, 1908, Hiram P. Tasker wrote: 'About one year ago we conceived the idea of utilizing the wasted water power of the Swallow Falls in the Youghiogheny river, the Muddy Creek Falls on Muddy creek, the Deep Creek falls on Deep Creek, all located in a bunch, six miles north of Oakland where more than 10,000 horse power has been running to waste for countless ages.' Mr. Tasker went on to say that, in part, his surveying crew will make a survey of the heads of each of three falls: Swallow Falls on the Yough River, Deep Creek Falls on the east and Muddy Creek Falls on the west."

These photographs "out of the past" seem to have created a lot of interest among readers, it is the desire of the editor that these photographs be pinpointed as correctly as possible as to time, location, and the identification of people when people are involved.

The picture this week ought to end any further arguments about Deep Creek Falls being higher than Muddy Creek and dispel any idea that the picture two weeks ago was in reality from Deep Creek.

Answer Call to Flue Fire

The Oakland fire department answered a call to the home of Roy Holler, in the Swan Meadow area, south of Oakland, Tuesday morning, as the result of a flue fire. There was no damage.

Ronald Guard Found Guilty Of Manslaughter; Gets 10 Years

Former Friendsville Constable Sent to Penitentiary For Fatal Shooting Of George R. Schroyer

Ronald William "Pete" Guard, 52-year-old former constable of Friendsville, was found guilty of manslaughter by the full bench sitting in the case and was sentenced to serve ten years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

The sentence came about 11 o'clock Tuesday after both the defense and prosecution had presented their arguments. Testimony was completed on Monday after an all-day session with some eighteen witnesses appearing for both sides.

The verdict was announced after Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin, of Hagerstown, spokesman for the bench, had complimented both sides in the case, calling it orderly, thoughtful with the presentation of the case above reproach. He said it had been ably tried.

He declared: "We have carefully weighed the evidence and find the defendant guilty of manslaughter." This was later changed upon agreement of the three judges and at the request of the defense to read, "Not guilty of murder; guilty of manslaughter".

Before passing sentence the court said it would be willing to hear remarks from either side or from the prisoner. W. Earl Cobey, one of the defense attorneys asked for clemency of the court and urged a spirit of mercy. He said he had been assured by the defendant and his wife that if granted a suspended sentence or probation that they would be willing to leave the county and settle in some other section. The prosecution asked that because of the seriousness of the case, that there not be any probation.

The sentence of ten years was to begin from the time he was incarcerated on October 25.

Guard was tried for the murder of George Raymond Schroyer, 40-year-old tavern operator on October 25. Guard had entered a plea of not guilty.

Upon completion of the state's witnesses Guard's attorneys, Cobey, Lewis R. Jones and E. Ray Jones, moved for a verdict of not guilty of first degree murder. Cobey argued that there was no premeditation, willfulness or deliberation in the actions of Guard which resulted in Schroyer's death.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland, Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley and Judge McLaughlin announced following a ten-minute recess that they were granting the motion.

Guard was the last of a parade of witnesses heard during the Monday session by the judges and some 200 curious spectators who crowded into the courtroom.

Defendant Takes Stand

The former constable, who received his oath of office on April 28, was on the witness stand about 40 minutes, 25 of them on cross examination.

Guard showed emotion only near the close of his stay on the witness stand when Mr. Cobey asked him specifically:

"Did you intend to kill George Schroyer?"

The defendant appeared to weep momentarily as he answered: "No sir."

In answer to a final cross-examination question from Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorney who assisted State Attorney W. Dwight Stover, the defendant asserted that he was carrying his .38 calibre revolver at the time of the shooting in order to protect himself.

The defendant, who lives about three miles northwest of Friendsville, on the Markleysburg road, related his actions on the day of October 24.

Guard Tells His Story

After a noonday dinner he had gone to Merle Hinebaugh's house in connection with his duties as constable, and had consumed two single shots of whiskey and two beers. After buying family groceries for his wife and six children Guard stopped off at Bud Fisher's tavern in Friendsville that night, where he said he drank four or two more beers while conversing with a friend.

It was on the way home from Fisher's tavern that he noticed a fight between Thomas Schrover and Everett Dale DeWitt in front

Painting of Local Setting Given 1st Award in Florida

Additional honors for her work in paintings has come to Mrs. W. Duncan Patton, of Hollywood, Florida, until this past summer a summer resident of Deep Creek Lake for a number of years.

Mrs. Patton was notified last week that a large oil painting depicting Noah Pysell's house, and titled "Noah's House," had won first award and a money prize in the annual exhibition of the Miami Art League.

Mrs. Patton has painted a number of Garrett county scenes, and some have taken top honors in art shows in the South and also in New York City.

Mrs. Patton also has an illustrated article in the January issue of "Ford Times," a publication of the Ford Motor company. It is titled "Harvest for Palm Sunday," and tells the story of the work of the Seminole Indians in providing the strips of palm leaves that are distributed to the churches on the Sunday before Easter. The story is illustrated with two of her paintings, one showing a Seminole cutting the palms and another one showing some of the "braves" loading the products on trucks for distribution.

Nearly Asphyxiated

Two Friendsville youngsters narrowly escaped asphyxiation yesterday while riding in a car with their mother. The car had a broken muffler, it was discovered later.

Mrs. Edward Frazee, of Friendsville, was driving to her mother's home in Friendsville when she noticed that her two children, Gary, aged 4, and Timothy, aged 3, were becoming ill.

She immediately started for Garrett County Memorial hospital. The two children were unconscious upon arrival when they were taken into the emergency room and examined. Both were suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning, it was determined.

Hospital officials said that Mrs. Frazee, also was groggy and semi-hysterical, not knowing the cause of the children's illness.

The children were released from the hospital after treatment.

Winter Ushered In With Zero Weather

Winter was officially ushered in Tuesday morning with near zero readings, and was further emphasized Wednesday morning with a zero recording. They were the two coldest mornings of the present weather.

Winter arrived officially at 9:35 a. m., Tuesday. It was preceded on Monday by a three-inch snowfall but the storm was of short duration, although the cold weather was continuing.

A resume of the week's weather showed rain on Friday with some snow falling on Saturday, followed by clearing skies. Sunday was cold. Monday began with cloudy but moderating atmosphere. Snow started falling about 1 o'clock p. m. and continued throughout the afternoon and evening. Tuesday was clear and cold with a two above reading. Wednesday the thermometer dropped two more degrees to exactly zero.

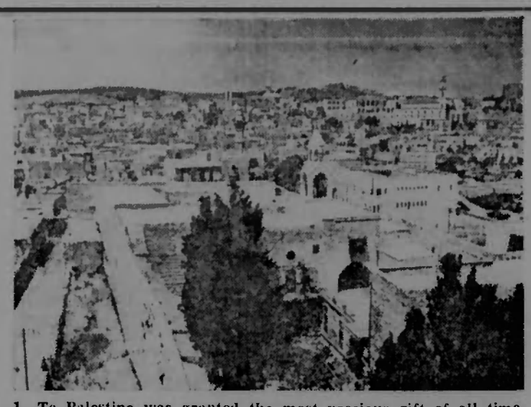
"You'll have to get more balls in the Want Ads — that makes three you've lost today in these little holes!"

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission urges all the citizens of Maryland to cooperate in every way possible to help us make this the safest Christmas holiday on record.

Many plans are in the making for holiday parties and automobiles are the favorite means of transportation to and from such events. The problems of the law enforcement officer becomes aggravated—especially at this time of the year with inclement weather prevailing and many citizens becoming imbued with the Christmas spirit and "spirits"—helping them forget their responsibilities as a good driver and pedestrian.

The right to celebrate the holiday season does not give anyone the license to violate the laws or neglect logical safety precautions without fear of punishment.

The spirit of the season calls for extending goodwill toward all men and surely a good place to demonstrate such goodwill is on the highway.



1. To Palestine was granted the most precious gift of all time, for it was here that Jesus Christ was sent to bring the will of God to all living creatures. The "Little Town of Bethlehem," now in Jordan, still lies peacefully in the December sun. Chosen as the birthplace of Christ, this unassuming village has witnessed the pageant that is Christianity from its earliest second. (Jordan)

Christ's life was hard and full of suffering but it served to light the way to a fuller, more meaningful existence for mankind and to a richer life after death. It is understandable that the inhabitants of Jordan, where these wonders took place, nurture a humble pride that these villages and hills witnessed the marvelous works of the Christ.

Greek Tradition

A traditional preparation in Greece is "Christpsomo" or "Bread of Christ." Before baking this holiday treat, the housewife makes a hand print on the surface of the dough and it is said that the hand print is proof of the birth of Christ.

IT'S STILL CHRISTMAS

In Spain they say, "El Natal."
In Italy, it is "Il Natal."
Hollanders say "Krest-Misse!"
In Germany, they refer to "Weisnachten."
In the English-speaking nations, it is called, "Christmas."

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Traditionally, the preparations for Christmas are quite feverish. Preparing the decorations for the home and the tree, the extra hours that go into selecting and preparing good things to eat, the sometimes-perplexing problem of choosing the right gifts, and remembering everyone that we should—all of this has become "traditional." And still, an afterglow to all the merriment, Christmas Day usually ushers in comparative peace and quiet, a time when in silent reflection, the majority of us come face to face with the true meanings of Christmas and the spiritual blessings that attend the season.

Holiday Custom

In Czechoslovakia, the Christmas tree is the center of much attention during the holiday season. The tree is decorated with many candles, assorted candies, nuts and fruits and is surrounded with singing and dancing until the New Year at which time the children eat the goodies before the head of the household discards the tree.

Trimming the Tree

The manner in which it is decorated can take away or add to the appearance of the most beautiful Christmas tree. Too often, the number of lights used to trim a tree is arrived at by guesswork and the results are disappointingly "spotty" or "lopsided." Professionals achieve good lighting effects by using this formula: Height of tree (in feet) x width of tree at base (in feet) x 3. If your tree is 6 feet high and 4½ feet wide at the base, the formula goes like this: 6 x 4½ x 3 = 81 lights for a good lighting effect.

The American Way

A Misguided Churchman

By George Peck

EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

One of the arch-proponents of Socialism was the late Dr. William Temple, who served as Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of the Church of England, from 1942 to 1944. While holding this high office, he had this to say:

"... it is true that the more one has, the less there is for others, so that each man's success represents corresponding failure in his neighbors."

This is the popular misconception held by the rank-and-file socialists. Perhaps they can be excused for holding such a ridiculous viewpoint—a viewpoint that is contrary to all of the teachings of history. But for an educated man, one of the world's top prelates, to have enunciated such silly, inane drivel was inexcusable.

Had these words been spoken by some poor, ignorant, un-educated, little-known citizen, or by one of the impecunious "pinks," we would have paid little attention to it—would simply have felt a twinge of pity for the befuddled individual who had given utterance to such silly piffle. But they were uttered by a man who occupied the second highest ecclesiastical office in the entire world. By a man who had every advantage by education, experience and contact.

Shortly thereafter Dr. Temple added insult to injury by publicly advocating the abolition of private copy of this "Primer" to the Primate of the Church of England, together with a letter recommending that he make a belated study of it, pointing out that between its covers he would find plenty of testimony to give the lie to his assertion that "each man's success represents corresponding failure in his neighbors."

We also suggested a course of reading in American history to the erudite (?) churchman—told him he would be astounded. He would learn that when the White man first came to what is now the United States of America, there were just a few hundred thousand Indians occupying the immense territory, struggling for a bare existence, that four centuries later, in 1942, 135 million people, including 325,000 Indians, were living in that self-same territory, and had achieved the highest standard of living the world had ever known.

We pointed out to Dr. Temple that until the white man pioneered it—tilled the fertile acres and developed its natural resources, the U. S. A. had provided a mere existence for its inhabitants. We further drew his attention to how the genius and initiative of man had been unleashed—how many had invented machines and gadgets which plus sweat and toil had produced a civilization wherein THE POOR-CITIZEN OF THE U. S. A. WAS RICHER THAN THE RICHEST INDIAN FOUR CENTURIES BEFORE. And we asked Dr. Temple if this didn't make absurd his statement that "each man's success represents corresponding failure in his neighbors."

And just in case Dr. Temple might be laboring under the erroneous idea that there were no more frontiers in the world, and especially in his native England, we informed him of the synthetic frontier that had been scouted by the world's engineers, scientists and chemists—a frontier that was bound to raise the standard of living in England and elsewhere in the world— a frontier that after the war (we were embroiled in World War II at that time) would give more to every Englishman without "each man's success representing corresponding failure in his neighbors."

Dr. Temple's pronouncement attracted much attention in this country. His words lent encouragement to those seeking to tear down "The American Way." That was our only excuse for expressing criticism of the top religious leader of our gallant ally, England. We felt it necessary to refute vigorously the Archbishop's doctrine that "the more one has the less there is for others." We believed Dr. Temple should be made aware that all the U. S. A. had been, was and WILL BE, definitely disproves that statement.

And just in case you are curious. Did we get a reply from Dr. Temple? The answer is "NO."

Gingerbread Is Top Holiday Treat

Turkey and all the trimmings, fresh fruits, candies and nuts—all help to put a "set" in the kitchen or dining room table during the Christmas season. Sweetbreads, rolls and other evidence of Mom's cooking artistry are usually in evidence. Despite the fact everyone gathers around for the big Christmas dinner, "nibbling" between meals is a custom nearly everywhere.

For such families, here is a "nibbler's" suggestion:

Honey Gingerbread
(Makes 1 loaf)

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 cup honey
2 eggs, beaten
2½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 cup boiling water

Cream shortening and blend in sugar. Beat in honey and eggs until mixture is light. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add to honey mixture alternately with hot water. Turn into a greased 9-inch loaf pan and bake at moderate (375°F.) temperature for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 350°F. and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer.

Mistletoe Facts

Mistletoe traditions are said to have begun with the ancient Druids, who attributed great powers to the plant. It was supposed to keep away witches and prevent diseases, to encourage fertility and good luck. Mistletoe means "all heal."

Animals and Christmas

Possibly because animals have always been associated with the scene of the birth of the Child Jesus, children in some parts of France believe that animals are given the power to speak at midnight on Christmas Eve.

Railroads of the nation will drive toward the elimination of "featherbedding" in their contracts with the unions.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1959

Christmas, 1959. . .

And this shall be a sign unto you. Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel, a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying: Glory to God in the highest and on earth, peace, good will toward men.

This Christmas, let us again raise our voices in prayer and song as we celebrate the birth of the Prince of Peace. Let us, in all our spiritual devotions, give thanks to the Heavenly Father for His countless blessings and for the rich heritage of a free people.

Let us pray for the strength to keep us true to our faith. Let us strive always to live by the inspiring teachings of Christ and to be charitable to all.

Let us beseech Him to give solace and hope to those less fortunate, wisdom and courage to our leaders, spiritual and political, that they may better meet the problems that confront all mankind.

Ronald W. Guard

of the tavern which George Schroyer, a distant cousin of Thomas, operated.

While attempting to end this fight, Guard said that he got his revolver, which had been given him by Sheriff James E. Frantz, from the glove compartment of his car. He dropped it on the grass plot in front of the tavern while attempting to separate the two fighters, he said.

Soon after Guard found his gun George Schroyer and Ray Coddington, a patron of the tavern, came plunging through the front door of the tavern with Schroyer on his back and Coddington lying on top of him.

Says Gun Went Off

Guard said he struck Coddington with the barrel of his revolver and it discharged accidently, the bullet going into Schroyer's head near the right ear.

The prosecution had Clifford Schroyer and Dale Schroyer, sons of the deceased, and Mrs. Myrtle Schroyer, mother of the deceased, and Walter Lee Coddington testifying that they saw Guard bend over, shoot the deceased and then hit Ray Coddington on the head with the gun.

Ray Coddington testified that he heard the shot which sounded like a firecracker to him, and then said he didn't remember anything after that until somebody had him near the Youghiogheny river, washing his wound. The prosecution pointed out that this clearly proved that the blow on the head of Coddington came after the shot was fired.

Prosecutor W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney, said it was also brought out by witnesses that the tussle between Schroyer and Coddington was only a friendly one, to determine whether or not Schroyer could throw Coddington out of the tavern.

Four of the 13 witnesses called by the state were medical men. They were Dr. Pedro Rivera, Friendsville physician; Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., Oakland, deputy medical examiner; Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, Cumberland pathologist, and Dr. Henry Freimuth, Catonsville, toxicologist for the State Medical Examiner's office since 1944.

Dr. Rivera was called to the Schroyer tavern about 1 a. m. October 25, and saw the deceased lying dead on the floor in a second floor apartment which he had occupied above the tavern. Dr. Feaster took a blood sample from the defendant at Garrett County Memorial hospital at 3:45 a. m. October 25.

Dr. Skitarelic performed the autopsy upon Schroyer's body at Memorial hospital in Cumberland. He informed the three judges that the deceased had about .14 percent of ethyl alcohol in his blood. He also performed some tests with powder burns and concluded that the revolver which killed the tavern owner was held about four inches from his head.

Cites Alcohol in Blood

Dr. Freimuth testified about tests he made October 28, immediately upon receipt of a sample of Guard's blood which was delivered to him by State police. He said there was about .12 percent ethyl alcohol in the defendant's blood which could cause a decrease in inhibitions, a decrease in judgment, and slowing of reaction time.

Stover said it was determined by cross examining Guard that the latter admitted that he said nothing to either Schroyer or Coddington before the shooting occurred. He also admitted on cross examination that he had fired his gun a number of times since he was appointed constable.

Other state witnesses called to the stand were Trooper First class Robert D. Henline, Clifford Schroyer, 18, and Dale Schroyer, 15, two of the seven sons of the deceased both of whom were in the tavern that night; Mrs. Myrtle Schroyer, Friendsville, 62-year-old mother of the tavern operator; Ray Coddington, 23, Friendsville, who had been wrestling with the deceased in an apparent session of "acting the fool;" Walter Lee Coddington, 17, and Robert Spear, 36, both witnesses to the shooting, and Sheriff Frantz, who had placed Guard under arrest about 2 a. m. October 25.

The final state witness, State Police Sgt. N. J. W. Lloyd, a firearms analyst. He said that it was necessary to pull the trigger to fire Guard's gun because of its built in safety feature.

First of the six defense witnesses was Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. He testified that Guard took the oath as constable on April 28, following his appointment by the County Commissioners. He read the oath which Guard was required to take. The defendant had been relieved of his constable duties since his arrest more than eight weeks ago.

Other defense witnesses were Thomas Schroyer, 19, Falls Church, who was engaged in the fight which Guard stopped; Sgt. Lloyd; Douglas Schroyer, a first cousin of the deceased, now residing in Cleveland, O., who saw the disturbance and helped Guard find his revolver; Everett Dale DeWitt, Mt. Lake Park, and the defendant himself.

Argument in the case was held over until Tuesday morning. Participating in these final remarks were Cobey and Lewis Jones, for the defense; Stover and Dawson, for the prosecution.

In the opening remarks by Cobey as the trial got under way he said Guard had broken up a tussle between two other men prior to the fatal mishap, and that when Schroyer and Coddington came out of the doorway of the tavern seemingly in a fight he had used his gun to strike Coddington in an effort to separate the combatants.

He said that when Guard struck Coddington the gun discharged accidentally the bullet hitting Schroyer about three-quarters of an inch above the right ear. Dr. Skitarelic's testimony showed that the powder burns indicated the gun was about four inches from Schroyer's head when it discharged.

State's Attorney Stover, in opening remarks, had asked for a guilty verdict for murder, after outlining the details in the case.

Cobey had cited the accidental factor of the gun discharging and the friendship between the two men, Schroyer had once worked for Guard and the family was friendly with Guard. Cobey also pointed out Guard's right to bear arms in his position as constable.

Guard was an unsuccessful candidate for sheriff in the last election, being a candidate on the Democratic ticket. He was appointed constable by the County Commissioners, upon recommendation of the Democratic State Central committee.

Listen Americans!

. . . by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Lloyd Mallan, noted American science writer who spent three months in Russia investigating the scientific progress of the Soviets, believes they are far, far behind the U. S. in missile and air power development, in space medicine and other fields of scientific research. This is contrary to the belief of key officials of our government, including President Eisenhower. Who is right and who is wrong about this important question?

After careful reading of Mr. Mallan's book — Russia and The Big Red Lie — and an examination of other available information, one fact seems to stand out, and it is this: All of the information which seems to confirm the latest reported achievements of Russia, particularly the Moon shots, either comes directly from the Communists themselves or is based on information released by them. In other words, no scientist or tracking station in the free world can make the unqualified statement that Luniks I, II, and III actually launched and did what the Russians claim they did. On the other hand, a great mass of evidence seems to indicate that most of the Russian claims are false.

Because of their importance to the world, the true facts about the Soviet's scientific progress should be obtained and given to the American people. We can't afford to just accept, without absolute proof, the continuing reports of sensational scientific achievement by Soviet Russia. Mr. Mallan in the USSR found evidence which forced him to conclude that the Communists are from 20 to 50 years behind the United States in really important science technology. He found the Soviets have been crudely copying American scientific developments — our electronic equipment, our pace-setting commercial and military aircraft, our automobiles. But even their copies are of now-outmoded American equipment.

He found, and he printed in his book, examples of how the communists have faked photographs and drawings of American equipment in an attempt to "further the myth" of Soviet superiority. In fact, while in Russia Mr. Mallan found a photograph in the Russian science publication Znanive-Sila which he himself had made it the U. S. White Sands Proving Ground in New Mexico — a photo of a radar-optical tracking device. The Communists were using it as a photograph of one of their own scientific developments — a blatant deception!

When I read Mr. Mallan's report on this faking, it reminded me of the tall, gleaming white buildings along Stalinallee in Soviet East Berlin. They too are fakes. For nearly a mile, the 12-story white brick fronts form a splendid-looking avenue. But when you walk around behind them you find they are false fronts, exactly like a movie set. Many have floors and rooms but they are constructed cheaply and the sandy concrete is crumbling and cracking. Stretching out behind them are the pitiful crumbling sham dwellings which characterize nearly the whole of Communist East Berlin. Communism has been built upon fakery and deception.

Mr. Mallan, recognized in America as one of the world's top science journalists, went to Russia believing their scientific superiority. But in everything he investigated, he found them extremely inferior.

This whole question of confirmation of Russian claims should be investigated by Congress, carefully, thoroughly, and with competent assistance.

CHRISTMAS IDEA

Would you like to make this Christmas a memorable one? You can do it by preparing a special gift for a "stranger." Usually, with so many people to remember, most of us get out pencil and paper and decide how many relatives and friends we "must" give presents. This year, why not select an "extra" gift and turn it over to some organization which has the task of helping to bring something of Christmas to the less fortunate. Such would be a true "gift"—one given with no idea of receiving something in return.

It is a good thing to observe Christmas Day. The mere marking of times and seasons, when men agree to stop work and make merry together, is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear on their hearts; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts and a garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open—are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world—stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death—and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem some 1900 years ago is the image and brightness of the Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas. And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

Joseph Niner, of the Sand Flat area, was held briefly for investigation by Garrett County authorities on Tuesday morning. He was chased from the A. and P. store to the Wilson Run area on Second street, in the town of Oakland, where he disappeared under the street, going into the tunnel usually reserved for the flow of the waters of the creek.

Authorities placed guards at each end and when Henry Arnold, chief of police, got out his wading boots and started in the eastern entrance to the underground passage, Niner appeared and asked, "What do you want with me?"

After being detained at the town garage for a brief time, he "took off" again but was caught and taken to the county jail for questioning. The A. and P. manager said no charges would be perferred so the young man was released.

Over 2,500 Treats Given

More children were given treats in Oakland on Saturday than at any previous time, according to Charles L. Briner, who headed the treat committee for the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

Briner said over 2,500 treats were distributed to the children of the community. He admitted there might have been some "double teaming" in a few instances, but felt that most of those receiving the treat had gone through the line only once.

Christmas comes again, dear Ralph,
The second since you passed away;
The empty chair you left us with
Will grace your presence here today.
We'll bow our heads in silent prayer
Our hearts are filled with pride
To know that God has chosen you
To live there by His side.
So now we'll try to be content
We know that you're at rest,
For God works only for our good
And does things for the best.

deep and true;
How much of joy along life's way
There was, dear mother, because
Of you,
That made our lives worth while;
But there is one consolation
And we all know it's true,
That in God's house of mansions
A place was made for you.

THE AMERICAN WAY

CAPITALISM CLARIFIED

EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

Several years ago, Fred C. Crawford, then President of Thompson Products, Inc., told us a story which explodes the fallacy of socialistic planning. The story introduced the Hunter family, comprising Joe Job Hunter; his good wife, Mrs. Bargain Hunter; and Grandpa Word-Hard-N' Save Hunter.

This family of three, along with the preacher, Labor Leader, Politician and Educator, attended a Town Hall meeting, called by World Planner, a well-meaning visionary, who knew nothing from experience about the basic laws of production, distribution and consumption, but believed he and his young "Egg-Heads" had found a way to usher in a Bright New Future in which no one would work for profit, but every man would have a job and human rights would come before property rights.

Mr. World Planner told Joe Job Hunter to start to work. "What shall I make?" Joe asked. Planner asked Mrs. Bargain Hunter what she would buy. She said she'd buy a coffee-pot. After an hour's hard work, Joe had made a coffee-pot and demanded a dollar. Mrs. Hunter refused to pay more than 75 cents. Planner suggested that Joe accept 75 cents for his hour's work and went on a sit-down strike.

In desperation Planner turned to Grandpa Hunter; suggested he go to his sugar bowl; take out some of his savings to prime the pump and keep Joe Working. He told Grandpa: "Human rights are involved. They come first and your money is just property rights."

Grandpa refused and blurted out that the money was his nest-egg, earned by hard toil and saved by great sacifice to provide food and shelter for his old age. "I'll be danged; no crack-pot scheme gets my savings," he said.

Planner lost his temper; accused the Hunters of being uncooperative; of following human impulses, which he proposed to change. "We will decree" dictatorial powers, take Grandpa's money and make Mrs. Hunter buy the pot at a certain price," he declared.

"It's a free country—I'll strike—I refuse to invest—I want bargains," the Hunters exclaimed.

The Preacher, Politician and Educator spoke up. "We know the trouble," they said. "it's Wall Street monopoly; free enterprise is a failure; we know what's wrong but the Hunters are too dumb to understand; we'll get a WPA started again and use government deficits to prime the pump."

At this juncture a quiet, self-possessed man rose, went forward and said, "I am a Business Man." Mrs. Hunter spoke up, "Give this man a chance to talk. He did a swell job on war production."

The Business Man said: "It's very simple; for years I've been hiring workers to make things. Customers always demand bargains; labor, top wages; and stockholders, dividends. That's right, it's human nature. That's what makes industry progress. I can solve this problem. You can't have more unless you produce more—that's the precious secret of the Production of Wealth."

Turning to Planner he told him if he would call off his rules, regulations and edicts, he could get things done. Having obtained a reluctant promise, Business Man turned to Grandpa; he promised him a fair chance to make a profit if he would invest. The old gentleman cheerfully turned over his money. Mr. Business Man remarked: "I'll buy machinery with this money so that Joe can turn his working hours into more coffee-pots per hour.

Production engineers brought in steel, conveyors, a motor (over the protest of the Labor Leader who denounced machines!). In an hour Joe made two coffee pots instead of one. Mrs. Hunter bought one for herself and one for her neighbor, Mrs. Shrewd Shopper, paying 75 cents each. The Business Man gave Grandpa a dime dividend and put aside 30 cents for reserves and material, stating, '50 cents in New Wealth has been born."

Then Business Man turned to the Preacher, Educator and Politician and asked: "Why don't you learn the secret of producing New Wealth and help us save the country from the crack-pot social and economic schemer?"

The Hunter family exclaimed in unison: "We did this ourselves."

The Business Man said: "World Planner is a government servant. You Hunters are the government. Why don't you fire him?"

Grandpa asked Business Man just what part he played in the picture. He replied: "I send out and get Mathers' orders, get the Grandpas to invest their hard earned savings and then put the Joes to work. I don't really pay the wages; I collect from the consumers, pass on some of the receipts to the Grandpas for dividends, some to the Joes in Wages; pay some for the materials, and set some aside for future needs and expansion. Then I pay myself some of it for my work. You see, I just work for you Hunters."

Carols Traditional On Beacon Hill

Every Christmas Eve the lights of Boston's Beacon Hill shine more brightly as happy carolers sing out their Yuletide greetings.

The custom of Beacon Hill carols was originated by Frederick W. Briggs, in 1895, after spending a merry and musical evening in an English town. In recent years some 150,000 Christmas celebrators have joined the wandering minstrels in celebrating Joyous Yuletide on the Hill.

From the brilliantly illuminated State House to Charles Street, from aristocratic Beacon Street right over the Hill into the slum districts, old houses beam holiday tidings. Carolers stream up and down the Hill, past mansion fronts which are gaily illuminated with vari-colored lights. At Louisburg Square, guests toast each other with eggnog and the evening rings with the sounds of good fellowship and the echo of happy Yuletide greetings.

The Yule week-end may bring as many as 530 traffic deaths, it was predicted.

FREE ROAD MAPS

About the first thing we do when we travel some distance is to pick up a free road map at the gas station. They are free to us but cost the oil companies in the neighborhood of 14 million dollars a year. Some maps cost up to $20,000 before they get to the printers. Constant road changes make it necessary to change maps constantly. There is one road map, however, that has not been changed for 1900 years. That is the road map to heaven. Back in the year 3 A. D. the Lord Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life, no man cometh unto the Father but by me." Faith in the person of Jesus Christ and the redemption accomplished on Calvary is the road map which is so clearly outlined for us in the New Testament. Admittedly there are many things in the Bible that are hard to understand, but the way to eternal life is as clear as a super highway on our road maps. It is not to much an inability to understand the way as it is an unwillingness to yield ourselves to the Lord. This keeps people from the "way of the cross" that leads home. If you are not on the way, why not yield right now?

The Prehistoric Pine Swamp near Oakland

By W. W. PRICE

Man's urge to change the face of his surroundings, that he may satisfy both his wants and needs, sometimes results in destruction of clues to prehistory. This is happening in a small way in a swamp northwest of Oakland, astride the Garrett County, Maryland-Preston County, West Virginia line, within sight of the village of Cranesville. Maps list this swamp as Pine Swamp. Scientists refer to it as The Cranesville Pine Swamp and many of them have visited this spot of unusual interest.

The elevation of the Pine Swamp basin is 2600 feet above sea level. Ten thousand years in the earth's geological past, this spot was formed from action of ice upon the surrounding hills. At about such an estimated time, a climatic change began to occur over this hemisphere. The temperature increased, perhaps in the changing of the inclination of the earth's axis with relation to the sun, and the great sheet of ice melted. Among other countless physical changes left from this Age of Ice, a deposit of alluvial soil remained in what is now the place we call Cranesville Pine Swamp.

MARYLAND—W. VA
Marker in Swamp

There were two other like deposits in what is now Garrett county. One of them was near Wolf Gap in Finzel community, and the other near what is now Thayerville area. The two latter swamps have been changed by man's activity and represent a very poor example of a boreal bog. But for the last fifty years or five hundred, or five thousand, if you wish, conditions have remained almost static in this boreal Arctic-like bog.

Perhaps within a decade land will have changed Pine Swamp until it no longer interests scientists and naturalists, man has a busy helper today, which is the beaver. These animals are now living within the swamp area. They have flooded large sections of it. This standing water will kill the trees and other vegetation. I do not recall that wide-ranging pioneer Senior Meshack Browning described beaver in this area. They may have been here and ignored by Meshack, who was more interested in larger game. But there is evidence that he went fishing in Muddy Creek. This stream drains the Pine Swamp basin, and during Meshack's day was full of fine trout. There are still some trout in Muddy Creek, but destruction of the swamp could change this also.

Among the students and writers who have been to Pine Swamp are Romeo Mansueti and his wife, who is an artist. Their article was published in the Atlantic Naturalist, April-June, 1958. The Mansuetis described, illustrated, and catalogued the essential characteristics of the bog under the title "The Cranesville Pine Swamp." We are leaving a copy of the reprinted article with the local library. It is very much worth reading. The introductory remarks in the Mansueti article reveal much that most of us completely ignore:

"The Cranesville Pine Swamp, a montane bog that straddles the Garrett County, Maryland-Preston County, West Virginia line, is one of the least known and most fascinating natural habitats in the Middle Atlantic states. Located on the Allegheny Plateau in the Appalachian province, this area is the southernmost point in the distribution of the American larch, or tamarack, (Larix laricina). Of even greater interest is its classification as part of the Canadian Biotic Province, a life zone characteristically inhabited by plants and animals of the boreal, or northern regions."

The late Dr. Harned, naturalist and author, of Oakland, Maryland, recognized the unusual botanical and biological nature of Cranesville Pine Swamp. He often expressed concern that time and man would destroy its natural state. It is my opinion that the swamp will be destroyed. One of the landowners, who owns a part of the five hundred acres considered to comprise the swamp, was approached by a representative of a State University and offered five dollars per acre for that part of the swamp the man owns. The land is assessed at eight dollars per acre. It would seem necessary for scientists, and representatives of the two States, if they want to preserve this unique "northern island" located in a southern latitude, to offer the landowners a fair price for the swamp area. If I owned the swamp, or part of it, I would consider fifty dollars ($50) per acre, with reservations of fenced water lanes for my stock, something like reasonable. One must remember that the landowner can harvest excellent hemlock lumber from the swamp and this is what they will likely proceed to do.

The question of: How old is the swamp?, was logically answered through research conducted on such an area just a few miles to the south in West Virginia. The research consisted in studying muck, taken from the alluvial deposit under the microscope. In such muck, Professor G. Evelyn Hutchinson, of Yale University, identified pollen grains from a prehistoric tree that had been preserved. The estimate of the geological age of the formation was 7,500 B. C. Professor Hutchinson is a micropaleobotanist—scientist investigating the invisible forms of plant life first appearing in the ancient, or postglacial, epoch of soil formation. According to the reasoning of such researchers, the Cranesville Pine Swamp first presented plant life in the form of mosses and lichens. This phase was followed by the growth of a giant spruce-fir forest. Some of the characteristics of this tree growth have carried some evidence into our own time.

The Cranesville Pine Swamp is considered one phase of the 'Glades' of Garrett County. We learn that George Gibbs published one of the first good descriptions in 1873. This was nearly a century after Meshack Browning first saw them and, for a man without formal education, Browning's description and comprehension of this part of the Garrett County landscape is really remarkable. In his autobiography, Forty-four Years of the Life of a Hunter, Browning has left a pioneer's understanding and word picture of Garrett County that is well worth careful study.

I have attempted to penetrate the Pine Swamp to hunt deer. I did not get very far. I do not intend to try it again. This is a proper place for beaver, birds, lizards, rattlesnakes and whatever else finds its silence, uncertain bottom, shadows and mystery agreeable to a vigorous existence. Without expressing disrespect, the scientists and the herpetologists can have it. I'll stay in the paved road and read, if I have the chance, about what these strong-willed adventurers have discovered. I'll bet one thing they find will be mosquitoes!

Santa's Story

His mission is usually the same—but not his looks and his name—that's the Story of Santa around the world.

Santa as we know him in America today pretty well follows the description given by Clement Moore in his famous poem, "The Visit From Saint Nicholas." This truly familiar symbol of Christmas was a somewhat angular figure before Moore gave him a sleigh, twinkling eyes, cheeks like roses, nose like a cherry and a round little belly.

The idea of Santa Claus began with the Dutch and their "Santa Klass," a contraction from St. Nicholas, legendary Bishop of Myra and the patron saint of children. Children in Holland may refer to either "Sinterklass" or "Saint Nickolas." Early settlers in America adopted the legendary figure and changed the name from "Saint Kickolons" to Santa Kalouf" to "Santa Claus."

Pere Noel

In France, it is "Pere Noel" who visits the children, and he is usually pictured on a mule. British children, just as American, write letters to the Christmas giver of gifts, and prepare lists of the things they would like to receive. But, they direct their missives to "Father Christmas" and follow a tradition which might find favor with American mail carriers: British children prepare their Christmas lists and throw them into the back of the fire. Supposedly, if the paper goes up the chimney, "Father Christmas" will bring all of the gifts; if the paper burns, the writer must prepare another list and try again.

Czechoslavakian children anticipate the arrival of "kezisek" or Jesus. In New Russia, "Father Frost" is the equivalent of Santa, but old Russians still call him "Baboushka." In Germany, Santa may be either "Kriss Kringle," "Christkindl," or "Kritking." Italian children, who must wait until Jan. 5, the Eve of Epiphany, anticipate the arrival of "La Befana."

But, whether it's the Norwegian "Julenisse" or the Chinese "Lan Khoony-Khoong" (nice old father) "Santa," the gift-giver, is a part of Christmas nearly everywhere.

Today's picture should be familiar to many of the older, and perhaps some of the not so older readers. For this reason, we'll defer positive identification until next week, when someone may be able to identify the two boys in the foreground.

That Auto Tour

Two weeks ago we printed a picture of Deep Creek Falls, and suggested that perhaps the figures shown were those of a famous trio who had camped in the Swallow Falls area around 1921.

As it turned out this was not the case, but a 1921 newspaper account of the visit might be of interest.

"Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone spent part of Tuesday evening in Oakland, going on to Swallow Falls to spend the night. They toured in two large automobiles equipped for outdoor life. We hope Mr. Ford will see in Swallow Falls a valuable electric light plant proposition. This is the second trip that these gentlemen have made to this part of Garrett county . . ."

The idea of harnessing the waters of Garrett County for hydro electric purposes had been kicking around for many years before this, however.

Christmas Tree Needs Care

From the moment you bring your Christmas tree home, keep it moist if you wish to insure safety, beauty and fragrance. Of course, you have to start with a fresh tree—one that won't drop its needles when you move or shake it.

The first step is to throw cold water all over it as soon as you get it home. Then recut the stem with a new diagonal cut at least an inch above the old cut to open pores for drawing up water.

Keep Cool

Set the tree in water and keep it in a cool shady place until it is brought indoors for trimming. The first day a 5 to 6-foot tree is placed in water, it may take up a quart. After that, the water needs replenishing daily because the tree may take up a cup of water every day in a warm room.

Many chemicals have been tried for fire-proofing trees. Even substances like sugar, aspirin, or fruit acids have been used. None however, has proved as effective as plain water which keeps the tree naturally moist.

Good location for a Christmas tree is in the cool part of the room, away from radiators, fireplace, radio, TV set, or other sources of heat. They should not be placed in doorways or locations that could block exit if fire should occur.

Plan the location before you select the tree.

SIGNS OF CHRISTMAS

The appearance of holiday decorations on streets and in windows of stores and homes is a sure sign, but there are also other ways to tell that Christmas is not too far away. You can count the days until Christmas on your fingers when:

Department store clerks are "extra" friendly and courteous.

Strangers begin to smile and speak to you on the street.

Children never fail to say "Sir" and "Ma'am."

The bus driver sees you running—and waits an extra minute.

The grouchy neighbor across the street smiles and waves as you go by.

Someone offers to help Mom do the dishes.

You find yourself suddenly feeling fine and looking at the world through rose colored glasses.

NOEL, NOEL . . . There is plenty of expression in the singing of these youngsters, members of the choir at a Washington, D. C., infant home.

Fruits, nuts, cookies and sweets delight the hearts of children everywhere at Christmas. Here, with a how to our 50th state, is the recipe for a hot bread which should be of interest to the family cook:

Hawaiian Nut Bread
(Makes 1 loaf)

2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup melted shortening
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup crushed canned pineapple (do not drain)

Beat eggs and sugar together; add shortening. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients to first mixture and blend. Add nuts and pineapple. Stir just enough to combine. Pour batter into a greased 4x8-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (350 F.) oven for one hour. Let loaf cool thoroughly before slicing.

TIME FOR PEACE

As fits the holy Christmas birth,
Be this, good friends our carol still—
Be peace on earth, be peace on earth,
To men of gentle will.
—Thackery.

Mince Pie

The first mince pies were patterned in oblong shape, after the manger in which Christ was born. The crust of the pie represents the gold brought by the three wise men, the many spices represent the frankincense and myrrh.

Born in Cumberland, she was a daughter of the late George and Catherine Binnix.

Surviving besides her husband, are a daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Sweitzer, route 2, Oakland, and five grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted from the Minnich Funeral home in Oakland on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Elder Williams, of the Seventh Day Adventist church, Washington, D. C., officiating. Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

SHINING TREE . . . If you think trimming the family tree is a big task, how would you like to tackle a 300-year-old live oak tree? The beautiful tree shown above, was decorated for Christmas at Wilmington, N. C. The majestic tree rises to a height of 55 feet and has a limb spread of 110 feet. It took some 5,000 multi-colored light bulbs to get the glistening effect shown above.

End of the Quest

Wise Men travelled a desert to lay their gifts before a King.

But the King was a mere babe. His court was a cattle shed; His princely garb swaddling bands.

Could they be certain when they knelt by the manger that this was the end of the quest?

Their certainty came not of proof but of faith. They had marveled at the heavens . . . followed a gleaming star . . . listened to prophecy. For Wise Men this was enough!

And through the centuries others have sought the King. Eagerly, earnestly they have come into the reverent beauty of the Church. And there, as ageless Words cast their light in man's darkness, they have known the end of their quest.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

God, Our Help

Lesson for December 27, 1959

AT SUNSET, not a ray of hope. Alone, behind high walls, guarded by four squads of soldiers under special orders, his friends not knowing whether he was alive or dead. But by midnight—! the man was free, talking with his friends. (Naturally, hunted by the police . . . but they never found him.) What was the explanation of it? Nobody has ever quite succeeded in explaining it. The man himself said an angel did it; but an angel is hard to explain, too. The real explanation, every one felt, was in one single word: GOD. The man's friends had been praying to God, and God sent the angel. God had much more for Simon Peter to do.

Dr. Foreman

In Great Crisis

Did God help people in "Bible times" only and not since then? By no means. God himself cannot be seen, remember; so it is always possible for some one to doubt—to say, "Well, I didn't see God there." Nevertheless all through history there have been special occasions, crises as they may be called, when believers have been quite sure that God must have been specially interested and active.

For instance, in World War II, on D-Day, innumerable slips occurred during that great invasion of the Normandy coast. One writer who was there said that everything that could go wrong went wrong, and some things that couldn't. But in spite of it all, the Allies got their foothold in the enemys land. What accounts for that? Or take the German guided missiles. If they had been just a few weeks farther ahead with production, England might have been completely smashed and the war would have had a different ending.

What held the Germans up? Hitler, of course; but what made Hitler (ordinarily a shrewd man) so stupid?

"Out of Weakness"

For some people it may be easier to believe that God takes care of nations and of great events, than that God takes care of me. Let us not deny his presence in the great crises. Last June a streamliner with 180 passengers on board ran over a suitcase filled with enough dynamite to blow the train in two—and the fuse was lighted! But the fuse went out, and the train was not hurt. When the passengers learned about it, isn't it likely that most of they said, "Thank God!"

Some of them said it (perhaps) who hadn't thanked God for anything in years. Yet God can be in simple ordinary lives, giving help to the weak and the unimportant, just as truly as he helps a Saint Peter or the British Empire. An immigrant woman abandoned by her GI husband, with three hungry children on her hands, said once: "Sometimes I go to bed and I don't think I can get up again. But God, he wakes me up with a song in my throat and I begin again." Sometimes the only way we discover God is to reach a point of weakness where we know that without him we are done for.

Workers Together

We said that God had more for Simon Peter to do. This midnight miracle was the last of its kind in Peter's life so far as we know. He lived for years after this, a hard-working missionary, no doubt often in danger, but kept and strengthened by what we absurdly call the "ordinary" Providence of God. Then came a day when Roman guards came for him once more, and this time there was no angel to help him. So he was crucified. Had God forsaken him at last? No; his work was done. If you are, as he was, a "worker together with God" you may be sure that until your work is done you are immortal.

We are at the gate of a New Year. What will it bring? Great dangers, great distress, great responsibilities? Whatever it may be, God knows what he is doing. We may see no angels, but with the eye of faith we can see the good hand of God guiding us, protecting us, giving us the help we need, when we need it.

Peparation Is Important for Perfect Turkey

Turkey and all the trimmings—that's what makes a Christmas feast fit for a king.

The turkey, of course, is the most important item so great care and consideration must be given to the selection and preparation of this native American fowl.

Age, sex, and tenderness of the meat determine the market class of the bird. The youngest turkeys, by far the most popular with American families today, weigh from 4 to 6 pounds.

The next class, popular with larger families weigh in from 6 to 25 pounds and is composed of toms and hens over eight months of age. These older toms tend to be stronger in taste and for that reason the hens are more popular.

Top Birds

A top quality bird should have a well-developed, moderately broad breast, well fleshed through its entire width and length. The breastbone should not protrude.

Preparing your fowl is important also. Be sure that all wingtip feathers have been removed. Any remaining ones can be pulled out by pressing the skin around the feathers down to the tips of the quills with the forefinger and thumb of one hand and pulling the feathers straight out with the other hand.

Helps Taste

By using a pair of pliers you can remove many of the heavy tendons of the legs. This greatly improves the cooking and taste of the drumsticks.

Stuff your turkey just before putting it into the oven. Use three skewers before closing the cavity. Tie a square knot after each skewer so the lacing won't tighten. This allows steam to escape and prevents soggy dressing.

And last, but important, give your turkey a chance to cool before serving. It will carve much better if you do.

Dairymen of County Featured In Article

Some leading dairymen of northern Garrett County were singled out for the lead article in Eastern States Cooperator magazine for December. Through this magazine, recognition is granted to the high level of dairying in this county, and this is conveyed to more than 100,000 farm homes throughout the Northeast which receive the publication.

Lead-off man in the article is Simon Tice, of Grantsville. Tice is widely known for his systematic cross-breeding of dairy cattle. This fall, the article reports, the herd had reached a twelve-month average of 12,980 pounds of milk with 614 pounds of butterfat per cow. The crossbreeding in the Tice herd started eleven years ago on a base of Jersey cattle. Now all five major breeds are involved, with Ayrshire sires currently in heavy use. The article was illustrated, in part, by a picture showing a calf by an Ayrshire sire out of a cow that was one-quarter Jersey, one-quarter Holstein, one-quarter Brown Swiss, and one-quarter Guernsey.

Robert Gleitfelty, of Accident, was another featured dairyman. Formerly a grower of thousands of turkeys, Gleitfelty is now developing a large Holstein herd. Currently, Gleitfelty is enlarging his barn, and his feeding success he credits in part to hay barn-cured by blown air without artificial heat.

In Elk Lick township, near Grantsville, young farmer Oren C. Bender, whose address is Grantsville, was the third dairyman in the article. This rather small herd was the first in the County No. 1 DHIA circuit to average more than 13,000 pounds of milk per cow in one year.

The fourth farmer in this four-page feature is just over the Pennsylvania line, at Salisbury. He is Clark Yoder, who recently assembled a Holstein herd that is top competition in the area. Yoder states that he works on the theory that quality cows meticulously cared for will return more than a larger unit where less attention is possible for each and every cow.

The article was written by Robert D. Martin, of Somerset, Pa., and illustrated with pictures by Arland Meade, Managing Editor of the Cooperator, who visited the area from his office in West Springfield, Massachusetts.

Is Your Home 'Safe' For the Holidays?

Did you ever wonder if the home you have lavishly decorated for the holiday season is anything but "safe"? If your home and decorations are "average," you are most likely surrounded by more fire hazards than the law allows.

The Christmas tree, in all its shiny splendor, is a potential torch. A "safe" tree is one that is freshly cut, with the base submerged in water or wet sand as long as it remains in the house. It is also located away from all sources of heat.

Safe lights for the tree must be laboratory-approved, and carefully inspected for frayed cords and damaged sockets. It is unwise to "economize" by using old cords year after year. It is also unwise to overload electrical circuits with additional lights, toys and appliances.

Only nonflammable decorations should be used on the tree. Discarded Christmas package wrappings should never be left scattered under the tree. Turn tree lights off when retiring or leaving the house. Regardless of whether the New Year has arrived or not, throw out the tree once the needles become dry and fall off.

PREVIEW . . . There are few things more exciting to the youngster who has been waiting and waiting for Christmas than slipping down the stairs to see if the jolly old gentleman has arrived. If the hour is yet too early, who's to know if a fellow decides to set up watch by the chimney and greet Ole Santa when he comes?

An air force jet set a speed record of 1,529 miles per hour.

Harvest reports bore out government forecast that crop production this year would match the record set last year.

EDWARD G. WENGER

Pastor of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren

What Meaning Has Christmas For Us?"

The great event the Birth of Christ which ushered in the Christmas Season celebration, means that:

1) God is With Us. He is no longer unrelated to our world. Men say upon that night in Bethlehem the consummation of the ancient hope and promise: "His name shall be called Emanuel (which means, God with us)". Not even prejudice, hatred, or tyranny of men can isolate Christians because we know God is with us.

2) Christmas Means That God is in Us Now. Human life has the unique quality to receive, house and express the Divine Life. "If we love one another," says the New Testament, "God abides in us." Sometimes the apostle Paul speaks about the Presence he has felt within himself as the Spirit: "Be filled with the Spirit. You are in the Spirit, if the Spirit of God really dwells in you." Sometimes he calls it Christ. "It is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me." Sometimes he calls it God: just as in Christ "all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell" so "you may be filled with all the fullness of God."

3) Christmas Means That God is for Us. In a very real sense God is a humanist, he is for all that ennobles, dignifies, glorifies, and exalts human life. He is against all that degrades and hurts and cheapens human life.

When we say he is for us we do not however mean that he is for a particular group, denomination or race. The Christmas news is "good news" for all people. According to recent demonstrations, the love of some of our labor leaders appears to be limited to those who pay dues into that particular union's coffer, and nothing but contempt, disdain and utter unconcern for the welfare of other segments of society is often displayed by such leaders. But God is for all of us. His love is all-inclusive.

This thought is implied in President Eisenhower's recent following statements, under the caption of "Words to Live By." "What we call foreign affairs is no longer foreign affairs. It's a local affair. Whatever happens in Indonesia is important to Indiana. Whatever happens in any corner of the world has some effect on the farmer in Dickinson County, Kans., or on a worker at a factory . . . The world must learn to work together—or finally it will not work at all."

The good news is for all people and we must realize that God is for all of us.

What happens the day after Christmas?

Is the spirit of Christmas "spent" in lavish preparation and anticipation, enjoyed but briefly, then thrown aside with the wrapping paper and colored ribbon?

What happens the day after Christmas?

Does one breathe a deep sigh and inwardly say, "I'm glad that it's over for another year"?

If this happens, then certainly we are not "keeping the Christmas." The Spirit of Christmas is superficial. Our Christmas symbols and ornaments, many of them pagan in their origin, are only decorative trappings for creating a festive spirit.

It Is Real

But Christmas is not superficial. Christmas is REAL. And so must observance of the holiday be REAL and not the mere matter of observing customs and practices as a matter of conformity.

The glitter is gone from evergreens and holly wreaths on the day after Christmas. The tree suddenly becomes old and drops its needles upon the carpet. No longer does the bright figure of Santa adorn the mantle or doorway; it simply hangs there, bereft of glamour and stirring little anticipation.

It Has Meaning

Unless we have "kept the Christmas" in preparations for, and observance of Christmas Day, then we have observed a meaningless holiday.

This year, let us keep the Christmas in a spirit that will keep the profound meaning of the holiday deep in our hearts for the remainder of the days after Christmas.

As we observe the Christmas, we must find time to meditate upon the great reality—that upon this day Christ was born, bringing to all mankind the promise of eternal salvation. This is the message of Christmas and the secret to the successful keeping of Christmas forever and ever.

MODERN VEHICLE . . . We don't think the reindeer and sleigh will ever be replaced, but the jolly old gent shown above appears to have dropped out of space via an earth satellite. He probably only wanted to show the modern generation that he was "on the ball." Come Christmas night, it's a safe bet he will return to his familiar and long-honored method of transportation.

Is Your Name MATTHEWS?

Matthew has been used extensively as a surname in Great Britain for a number of centuries. As is common, it signifies "son of Matthew", the latter being the popular personal name which is obtained from the Hebrew "Mattathiah" signifying "gift of Jehova." Matthew was introduced into England by the Normans and from it have come other surnames such as Matthewson, Mayhew and Macy.

Among the high ranking officers who served in the Continental Army during the Revolutionary War was Brigadier General George Matthews (1739-1812) of the Virginia troops.

As evidence that members of the Matthews family were among the early residents of Maryland, it should be noted that the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has twenty-eight listings of persons by that name who were residents of the state and heads of families at that time.

Among the early marriage licenses issued by the clerk of the Circuit Court of Garrett County was that of Simon Matthews and Elizabeth A. Totten on March 25, 1873.

There are fifty eight references to persons by the name of Matthews in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Nathan Matthews (1854-1927), a descendant of James Matthews who settled in Cape Cod, Massachusetts in 1638, was mayor of Boston for four terms and the author of books on municipal government.

Franklin Matthews (1858-1917) was professor of journalism at Columbia University.

Hugh Matthews (1876-1943) was major general, U. S. Marine Corps.

Samuel Arthur Matthews is professor of biology and chairman of the faculty, Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

Burnita S. Matthews is judge, U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia. She is the author of numerous pamphlets and articles on laws pertaining to women.

Stephen Johnson Matthews is city manager of San Antonio, Texas.

Roderick Donald Matthews is professor of education at the University of Pennsylvania.

Walter Williams, aged 117, last surviving civil war veteran, died in Texas. He was a Confederate.

A joint space effort by U. S. and Russia was predicted for 1960.

Southern Hi Belts Petersburg 84-72

Southern High Highlanders belted the Petersburg High Vikings on the Oakland court last Friday night 84 to 72 for their first encounter in the Potomac Valley conference. It gave Coach Carl Schoonover's boys a 2-2 record thus far this year.

Terry Colaw with 32 tallies and Jerry Wine with 22 were the spark plugs in the Southern attack. Stuck also had 17 points while James added 7, Bolyard 2 and Prince 4. Schoonover emptied his bench in the second half.

At one time Southern held a 29 point advantage. High scorers for the Vikings were Nelson and Michael with 19 and 18 points.

Southern led 13 to 11 at the quarter, 36 to 22 at the half and was still going strong at 64-42 at the end of the third period.

The Highlanders scored 38 field goals compared to 27 for Petersburg and made 8 of 16 free throws compared to 18 of 35 for Petersburg.

The Junior Varsity team also won over the Vikings' Jayvee team.

Another atomic submarine Scorpion, was added to U. S. fleet.

Porcupine Balls for Christmas

Making porcupine balls for Christmas decorating can be fun. Here's what you need: bottle corks, 8- to 10-inch lengths of string, a darning needle, pointed cocktail toothpicks, a waxed lunch bag, a half-pint of white paint and artificial snowflakes.

First, draw the string through the cork with the needle and tie it around the cork, making a hook. Then insert the toothpicks into the cork so that all sides are covered, giving a porcupine effect. Drop the ball into a large waxed lunch bag containing paint and shake until the ball is well covered with paint.

Shake the drippings off the ball and remove from the bag. Let set for a few minutes before sprinkling with snow or glitter.

Put the balls in a safe place to dry—allowing at least 18 to 24 hours.

By DICK CASTLOW

I want to take leave from Teen Corners regular route this week one of the most important in the year.

You know, when you think about Christmas, one of the first thoughts is usually "I wonder what I'll get." and second, "I wonder what I'll give." We don't always admit that "me" is our first thought but, usually that's the way it is. Neither receiving nor giving should be the first thought to appear in our minds at the mention of the magical word Christmas. I realize that I'm a poor person to be saying this but "Christmas is the celebration of our Lord's" Birth. I imagine that even a Hindu or a Moslem must feel some sort of impact when the rest of the world is celebrating Christmas. It seems that at Christmas time the world seems to be more in harmony with itself than at any other time of the year. December 25th will not be a day upon which some Cuban mother, wife or daughter loses a son or a husband to a firing squad. Nor, I doubt, will there be so much political turmoil in the rest of South America. Even the union negotiators and company officials will forget old arguments for a day or two. Tranquillity will reign for at least a day; the Christian world will celebrate, each his own particular customs, the Day of Days.

So how about thinking about the why of Christmas, search for the true meaning, then practice it. Settle an argument or a grudge that you have had bottled up, even go so far as to admit your faults first. If everyone in the world would do this just once, things would be a whole lot better. "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men." Sounds good, huh. Well say it to yourself a few times, think about it, then do it.

I want to wish you all the merriest and safest of Christmases, one of the most rewarding in your lifetime, gift wise and more importantly, OTHER WISE. Again Merry Christmas.

CHRISTMAS CAROLERS . . . In olden days, carolers were as much a part of the Christmas scene as holly and mistletoe and each year this custom of bringing the songs of the season from house to house is finding new popularity.

Reptiles of Old Popular in Toys

Space ships and rocket guns, emblematic of the current age—will be amply evident in the Christmas toy department this year, but right alongside them in many cases will be toys representing the things of the world long ago—notably dinosaurs.

Dinosaurs, the great reptiles that once dominated the earth, varied widely in shape and size. Some were no bigger than chickens, while the mighty Branchiosaurus reached a length of 80 feet and weighed about 50 tons.

Toymakers, of course, have to keep down the size of their model dinosaur skeletons. This they do, in their current offering of toys, with one exception—a stuffed toy dinosaur that is seven feet tall.

Choose Right Toys

Children's toys should be geared to age—but not necessarily chronological age, inasmuch as interests and motor skills do not always develop at uniform rates.

Parents who observe their children at play generally have a good idea as to toy preferences.

To Observe 50th Wedding Event December 27th

Mrs. Edward Madigan and Mrs. Naomi F. Merrill are planning to hold an open house on Sunday, December 27 from 1 to 5 o'clock in honor of their parents, Mr and Mrs. Asa Moon, who will observe their golden wedding anniversary on that day.

The event will be held at the home of Mrs. Madigan at Deer Park. Friends and neighbors are invited.

Nut Cake Adds Variety to Holiday Table

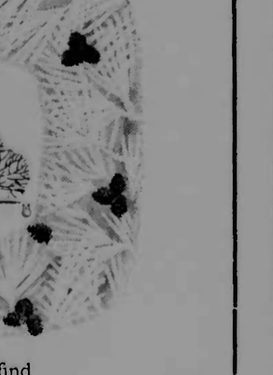
Getting ready for Christmas company usually keeps the lady of the house extra busy preparing all sorts of good things to eat. It's hard work, but to the lady who takes great pride in her cooking ability, the compliments received are ample reward.

There's no end to the variety of desserts which may be baked in the oven. There are cakes, puddings, and gingerbreads from which to choose. A special treat is:

Spicy Cake-Nut Topping
(Makes 1 loaf)

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup baking powder
2 eggs
1 cup thick soured milk or buttermilk
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, mace, allspice, baking soda, baking powder, and salt. Gradually add brown sugar to shortening, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk. Pour into greased 9 x 9 x 2-inch loaf pan. Mix granulated sugar with nuts and sprinkle on batter. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven 50 to 60 minutes.



If there's a traditional reason, we don't know about it, but any youngster (or grownup) who hangs his stocking from the mantle shouldn't be surprised to find an apple there come Christmas morn. This isn't because Santa raises apples during his "off" season, but it does indicate the status of the apple as the "all-American" fruit.

Apples are grown in every State of the Union. More apples—and more apple pies—are produced in the United States than in any other country. In a good year about two-thirds of a bushel is grown for every man, woman and child.

The apple's ancestry is traced to immigrants. Plant students believe the progenitor of the modern apple appeared first in southwest Asia, between the Caspian and Black Seas.

Apples do not grow true from seed and for this reason most seedling apple trees are worthless. Occasionally, however, one is found with highly desirable characteristics. Such a tree can be propagated endlessly by grafting.

Discovery of a fine new apple is the plant world's equivalent of striking gold or oil. And, to our knowledge, no one has ever complained about finding a bright red apple in a Christmas stocking.

Poinsettia Can Be Made to Bloom Again

Poinsettias which brighten the homes this Christmas can be made to bloom again if the plants receive proper light and temperature requirements.

Once the poinsettia plant has bloomed, the red leaves will begin to fall after a week or two and the plant enters a "rest" period. It should then be stored in a cool place, in a basement or a garage, where it won't freeze, and watered a little about once every two or three weeks to keep it alive.

Prune in Spring

In the spring, the plant should be pruned so that a few main limbs are left to start new growth, planted in well drained garden soil, and left there for the summer.

Shortened days of fall and winter then signal the plant to prepare itself for bloom. The plant can be brought indoors in the fall and left to continue growth at normal periods of day and night. It is also important to keep the poinsettia out of drafts and at temperatures of 65-70 degrees.

Poinsettias develop "bloom" when the days are short and the nights are long. Short periods of night caused by periods of exposure to artificial lights, however, interfere with blooming. Night lights lengthen the day, and the plant continues to act as though it is summer.

Time Bloom

Maintenance of normal days and nights according to the seasons help time the plant mechanism to bloom during the holiday season.

Blooming period of plants already in "bloom" can also be lengthened by keeping the plant away from artificial light at night.

"Bloom" of poinsettia is brightly colored leaves that surround tiny creamy white flowers.

Redeemer Legends Common Among American Indians

Redeemer legends were common among American Indians. While some were aboriginal, others probably were greatly influenced by contacts with Europeans, especially missionaries.

One of these legends was gathered by the Reverend Ephraim S. Alphonse, a Wesleyan Methodist minister who lived among the Valiente Indians for 21 years. The legend concerns the Ulikron (orphan of the Virgin) and how he traveled long ago from the far, far north. He talked to stout little men, to tall red men, to men in huts, to men in tall houses made of stone, to men who make broad roads and wear fine soft clothes and pearls and silver and gold. The Ulikron passed among them long, long ago and told the men to be good, to love good, and to do good. The Ulikron passed and talked. His eyes were soft and seeing. His eyes saw through men. His eyes saw and saw and men looked on and wept and stopped their wars. They stopped their hate. Their bows and arrows shot the deer but never man again.

The Ulikron pointed to the stars. He talked of the Crab, the Plough, the Great Bear. He talked of the God above those stars and he told men to be good and he would come again for all good men; and men began to be good. All Indians wait for the Ulikron.

Such is the story of the Ulikron, which as you can see, closely parallels (and most likely is) the story of Christ.

To Present Pageant

"The Star Lighted Path," a Christmas pageant, will be presented by members of the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren CBYF at the church on Friday evening, December 25, at 7:30 o'clock.

The choir is under direction of Mrs. Anna Phillippi with Earl Foster as organist.

The program is under direction of Miss Ivadine Matthews. The public is invited.

It was estimated some three billion Christmas cards would be mailed this year.

Bloomington Residents Get More Time on Water Meters

Bloomington Water company will be given until May 1 to install individual water meters, but after that date they will be charged by the master meter in that community.

The town of Westernport set the deadline for January 1, 1950 but extended it at the recommendation of Alvin Pence, water commissioner.

Pence said that since the reservoir adjoining the filtration plant had been relined with steel, when pumps are used it is filled to the top before this work was done the town was having difficulty at times to provide water to residents in high sections of the town.

Some Thoughts About Having A Safe Holiday

There are "do" and "don't" rules for every season of the year, and Christmas is no exception. In fact, Christmas is such a happy time that we are likely to be a little less careful about the possibility of accidents than we are at other times of the year.

Here are some suggestions for an accident-free holiday season:

Do not use any cotton, paper or flammable material for decorating the tree or around the base of the tree. Do not place electric trains or other electric powered devices around the tree because metallic tinsel can fall across the track, cause a short circuit and start the train transformer to burn.

Safe Toys

Avoid toys operated with flammable liquids. Nitrocellulose (it looks like celluloid or plastic) toys burn with surprising ferocity. Some imported toys are made of these flammable materials.

Select electrical appliance gifts with fire-safety in mind. Choose only those electrical toys and tree-decorative lighting sets which are laboratory approved. If there is doubt, ask your Fire Department if they are approved.

Never place lighted candles in windows. Sentiment and flame do not mix! Keep the curtains or any other flammable material at windows pulled back at least 6 inches from any electric candles or wreaths.

Fire Hazards

As you unwrap gifts on Christmas Day, put all the wrappings in a carton and dispose of them promptly. Don't let them pile up around the tree, the fireplace, or any heating device.

Ford TRACTORS IMPLEMENTS

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Before resuming my weekly reports to you, which I will do when Congress reconvenes in January, I wanted to tell you about my recent tour of military installations in Europe. As a member of the Senate Committee on Armed Services and a member of the Subcommittee on Military Construction, I had been asked to make the inspection tour.

I shall not attempt here to give a detailed report, such as I prepared for the committee and subcommittee which I represented. (Incidentally, Chairman Russell of the Armed Services Committee has been good enough to state that my report would prove to be most helpful in the deliberations of the committee.) Here I will skip lightly along, touching the high spots.

Gibraltar, Madrid, Rome—Our trip started with Gibraltar—the harbor, the shipyard, and some of the miles of tunnels in the interior of "The Rock." The control of Gibraltar, guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean, has world-wide psychological significance. In this strategic location, Anglo-American cooperation is excellent.

I found our base at Port Lyautey, in Morocco—our only naval installation in Africa—significant not only as an important supply depot, but also as the site of a worthy experiment in public relations. Our military personnel there are making every effort to gain the respect and confidence of native Moroccans, and to "sell" America, and are doing this in a manner that is a credit to us.

Our new naval station at Rota, Spain, with its air strip and port-side facilities, complements Port Lyautey in providing general support for our Sixth Fleet, and with such support the Sixth Fleet is virtually self-sufficient.

At our Torrejon Air Force Base near Madrid, the headquarters of the Joint United States Military Group and Military Assistance Advisory Group in Spain, we were impressed with the fact that U. S. tax dollars spent to strengthen the Spanish defense position have been well invested. The strength and location of tactical United States units in Spain are classified. (That means it's a military secret.)

In Rome, we were given a thorough briefing by the Chief of the U. S. Military Advisory Assistance Group in Italy—a briefing which, added to what we saw, left an impression of definite progress on the part of the Italian armed forces under the United States assistance program.

U. S. S. Saratoga—we took off in early afternoon of October 25 in a U. S. Navy TF-1 carrier plane for a visit to the Sixth Fleet at sea in the Mediterranean, landing aboard the carrier, the U. S. S. Saratoga. The whole Sixth Fleet was assembled—a fleet at the peak of efficiency and readiness.

We spent the night on the Saratoga, and were on deck to witness the first launching of aircraft at 7:30 a. m. The first four aircraft were F 8U Crusader supersonic jet fighters, and were all airborne in less than thirty seconds. When the entire air group of A 3D Sky Warrior heavy bombers, A 4D Sky Hawk light bombers, F 3H Demon all-weather fighters, and A D6 Sky Raider attack bombers had been launched, an aerial demonstration was conducted which included intentional sonic booms, rocketry, gunnery, air-to-air refueling, and the special tactics developed for the delivery of high-yield nuclear weapons.

The A 3D Sky Warrior, a 70,000-pound jet bomber, highlighted the demonstration. This plane resembles the Air Force B-47 in speed and packs nuclear weapons of various types. It is amazing that these long-range bombers can be launched and recovered by the carrier. This provides maximum flexibility.

I was impressed with the variety of aircraft and weaponry, the speed and efficiency of carrier operations, and the general readiness of the whole fleet.

First Missile Command—At the U. S. Army First Missile Command in Italy, we were given a demonstration of the setting up, aiming, and in all respects preparing the Corporal missile for firing. We were impressed with the combination of brute force required to move heavy, bulky pieces of machinery and the delicate electronic mechanism used to aim and guide. The First Missile Command, employing the 80-mile Corporal missile, combined with Italian Honest John missile units, form the nucleus of our strength in the Italian area. The Italians provide all ground security troops and protect the borders, while the United States maintains the missiles.

I want to insert right here a word about Communists in Italy. They are watched carefully because they control thirty per cent of the political strength. The Christian Democrats, consistently in the majority, keep Communists out of key military defense jobs very successfully. The military are carefully screened against Red infiltration.

West Germany—In Munich, we toured the headquarters of the Southern Area Command, and were given a thorough briefing. This is the administrative command responsible for logistical support, "housekeeping," maintenance, education, medical facilities, and so forth, in the southern area of Germany.

At Stuttgart, West Germany, we visited the headquarters of the Seventh Army, U. S. A. I believe this is the best equipped and most efficient ground force in existence. In its Corps Artillery there are Redstone and Corporal missiles with pre-plotted targets in East Germany and Czeckoslovakia and pre-surveyed firing positions—ready to go.

Our Armored Cavalry patrols the Russian zone and Czeckoslovakian borders 24 hours daily. This is a 140-mile frontier. We trip to prevent any border violations by our troops; entry in the "5-kilometer zone" is controlled. We do not restrict German civilians at all.

At Weisbaden, the headquarters of the U. S. Air Force Europe, we were briefed on such points as tactical details and precise dispositions of forces. We were impressed by the variety of weapons in this command—and the short time required for getting aircraft into the air. A constant alert is maintained, and we are ready for an air attack at any time.

NATO—In Paris, I talked with General Norstad, who commands all U. S. forces in the European area and also directs Military Assistance and Advisory Groups throughout Europe and the Middle East. General Norstad made an eloquent plea for continued support of NATO, pointing out that the will to defend Western freedom and the means to effect this end are inseparable. The will to resist Russia is extremely high in Europe, partly out of hatred and partly because of the impressive military potential of NATO. The latter means confidence psychologically and unity among NATO nations diplomatically. The General said that it was essential to maintain military aid to such countries as Turkey, which could not possibly arm themselves properly and which are in exposed positions and are vital to our defense.

I have mentioned a few of the many installations I visited. In future issues of the "Senate Cloakroom," I will have some further remarks to make about points touched in this letter.

TRYING TO BE A CHRISTIAN

What would you think of a person who in answer to the question, "Are you married?" would say, "I'm trying to be married!" This would make as much sense as it is to say, "I'm trying to be a Christian." Actually what it indicates is a misunderstanding of what it means to be a Christian. A person is either married or he is not. A person is either a Christian or he is not. A person becomes married when he enters into a legal marriage agreement. Then he receives a woman to be his wife. A person becomes a Christian when he enters into the scriptural agreement whereby he receives Jesus Christ as his Saviour. John 1:12 says, "To as many as received Him to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." Exchanging of vows is spoken of in Romans 10:13, "For whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved." Believing that Jesus Christ settled the matter of your sin on Calvary, you ask the Lord to save you, that moment you receive Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour and that moment you become a Christian. From that time on you should live to please God.

Northern Is Winner Over Salisbury High

A 22-point performance by center George Patton sparked Northern High School's Huskies to their third straight victory last Friday night at Cove over Salisbury High school. The final score was 45-33. The Huskies beat Salisbury by a 69-49 count Tuesday at Salisbury.

Patton collected eight field goals and added six free throws in seven tries to account for his evening's point output. Maust, Salisbury forward, led his mates with nine tallies.

For Northern, Long had 2, Umbel 3, Lowry 9, McCurdy 7, Smith 2, to complete the scoring. Georg and Rush were non-scoring.

The Huskies led 20 to 6 at the quarter, 26 to 13 at the half and 35 to 21 at the end of the third period.

DEAR SANTA . . . You won't have any trouble reading my list this year. That's probably what this young lady is thinking as she follows the traditional practice of alerting Santa to the things she would like to find beneath the tree on Christmas morning. Obviously, doll clothes will probably rate a high spot on her list.

When our elders talk about an "old-time" Christmas among the things they are remembering is the pleasure and anticipation associated with the preparations for the holiday.

There were no "commercial" Christmas trees in the "old days"—everyone went out to the nearest hillside or forest and chose one to their liking—for free. Tinsel, ornaments, electric tree lights, these too, weren't to be had. Decorations for the tree were all homemade—and usually the entire family lent a hand in the preparations.

Today we would be foolish, of course, not to take advantage of the many beautiful and ornamental decorations available for decorating home and Christmas tree. Yet, we can still recapture some of the "spirit" of the "old-time Christmas" by making some of the Christmas tree ornaments and decorations as a family project.

A variety of ornaments are possible from such materials as plastic foam. A cookie cutter, for instance, can be used to outline such shapes as snowmen, Santa Clauses, gingerbread men, dolls, clowns and stars on a sheet of 1-inch plastic foam. Cut out the shapes with a sharp knife and then let each member of the family decorate an ornament. Some can glue sequins to the cutouts to form features. Others can tint the foam with food coloring, or glue felt to the ornament to add extra details, such as hats or buttons.

A pipe cleaner, inserted and glued to the top of the ornament provides a hook.

Decorating the tree is usually a family project, enjoyed by both young and old. Preparing the decorations for the tree can be equally enjoyable and memorable.

Who Really Sent That Very First Christmas Card?

What is generally conceded to be the first card specifically designed as a Christmas greeting—the card designed in England by J. Horsley for Sir Henry Cole (in 1843)—did not meet with an enthusiastic reception. Sent to his personal friends, Cole's card had side panels which depicted the feeding of the hungry and the clothing of the naked. This was well and good. The objections to the card arose from the illustration in the central panel—a scene in which a middle-class English family raised their wine glasses to toast an absent friend (obviously the recipient of the card). The scene so aroused temperance zealots that Cole never authored another card.

Still Looking

Actually the search for the "first" Christmas card is still going on. Although it bore no specific greeting, the New York Historical Society, some 30 years before the Horsley-Cole card, sent to members and friends of the society a woodcut of St. Nicholas, which bore a Christmas poem in both Dutch and English.

In 1932, Carl W. Drepperd discovered in a Pennsylvania attic a "broadsheet" issued about 1842 by John M. Wolff, Philadelphia printer. The sheet, 10 inches by 15 inches, featured a reproduction of C. C. Moore's "The Visit of St. Nicholas" and as well carried the greeting, "A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year."

The first commercial venture into the Christmas card business was made in 1863 when an English firm hired Punch cartoonist C. H. Bennett to illustrate a series of cards which were sold in that year as "Christmas complimentary stationery."

YULE CUSTOMS

In Scandanavian families, all shoes are placed together on Christmas day—in the belief that this will cause harmonious living through the coming year. In Ireland, it is traditional that only a woman named Mary snuff the candles on Christmas Eve. In some countries, such as Nova Scotia, it is believed that bad luck will come if the Christmas tree is taken down before the end of New Year's Day.

Outdoor Decorations Are Very Popular

Decorating outdoor trees and shrubbery with brightly-colored lights is becoming more and more an American tradition, but while outdoor lighting is attractive and colorful, it is also dangerous and may cause damage to trees and greenery.

Bulbs of 15 wattage are sufficient for use in outdoor lighting arrangements. Electrical fixtures should be of the weatherproof variety, specally designed for outdoor use, and the lights should always be placed so that they do not touch the needles.

Spruce, pines and firs, if they are not too large, are ideal for outdoor Yuletide lighting displays, although other varieties such as hemlock, yew, boxwood and arborvitae are more sensitive to heat and easily scorched if caution is not used.

Nine people died on a bus-truck crash in Arizona.

Christmas Holiday Was Once Forbidden

Christmas has not always been a "legal" holiday in this country. In 1659, the general court of Massachusetts Bay colony passed this resolution:

"Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forebearing labor, feasting, or any other way, as a festival, shall be fined five shillings."

The first "legal" observance in this country is believed to have taken place in Boston in 1686 when Governor Andros conducted services in the town hall. And it was still many years later, in 1856, that the State of Massachusetts officially passed laws which permitted the observance of Christmas.

Selection of Proper Toys Important

There is no hard and fast rule by which one can tell the exact toy for a certain age child, but some toys are better than others for children at different ages. Also, the toys you select can turn a happy holiday into a time of needless tragedy if you do not exercise caution in your selection.

Sharp toys or poorly constructed toys are the ones that cause the most accidents. Avoid them.

Generally children from infancy to two years like bright-colored, lightweight toys of various textures. They should be washable, too big to swallow, and free from rough edges.

Toddlers from two to four years want push and pull toys. Trucks and cars big enough to straddle and push, wagons, wheelbarrows, small doll carriages, peg-boards and pounding sets are also good for this age group.

Take your time in the selection of toys for children of all ages and it will make for a happier, healthier and safer holiday.

First Observance

The first Christmas observance in this country took place shortly after Columbus discovered America. The Santa Maria was beached on Christmas and Columbus and his men were unable to free her. The ship was stripped of as much gear as possible and when the Nina was unable to accommodate all of the Santa Maria's crew, some of them were left behind in a fort, that in honor of the season was called Le Navidad, the Nativity.

'Tis the season to thank you for your loyal patronage and wish you all the pleasures of a good old-fashioned holiday!

Some people are more critical of cars than others, and they are the ones we want specially to drive the solid new Plymouth.

This car is built a new solid way by Chrysler Corporation engineers. It simply doesn't have many parts that work loose and need fixing in some cars. We'd like to answer some questions about this car now:

Q. What is this new way of building?

A. Chrysler Corporation's virtually trouble-free version of unit construction. Body and undersills are joined in a single unit of enormous strength, locked by close to 5100 welds. In Dura-Quiet Unibody, there is no frame and no conventional body bolts, struts, braces, etc., to loosen and rattle.

Q. What about power and performance?

A. There's the new 30-D Economy Six, a new "inclined" six that delivers outstanding economy in normal driving. The standard V-8 is the Fury V-800 which three times in a row topped its class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. Or you may choose the extra-cost SonoRamic Commando V-8.

If you ask us, this is the best built, best performing low-price car of all. Give it a real try soon, won't you?

A Chrysler engineered product, built a new solid way to give you solid satisfaction.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

The '60 Outlook - - - -

Standing on the threshold of a new year is generally exciting, whatever the age, and this year is no exception. Behind us lies certainty; ahead lies mystery, named 1960. What's in it? We know not.

A lot of people think they can predict with some certainty.

How about conditions locally? Business during 1959 was good, the best for a long time for many. Most local business people feel that 1960 will be an even better year for volume and profits. Our lake activities continue to grow which give us a good barometer of business conditions.

The industrial survey is about to get under way and this may result in having some industry settle in this county. Greater miracles have happened.

What about the national scene? A year of prosperity for nearly everybody. In 1960 will be more income with which to satisfy more wants of more people than ever before, if we are to believe the prediction of the U. S. News and World Report. There should be a high level of interest in politics. The prediction at the present time is that a Republican president will be elected. Apparently farmers are the one group that will lag behind in prosperity.

Worldwide there is the hope of peace and relative prosperity with the war scare absent for the first time in ten years. There will be conferences among the big powers. United States may even get a rocket to the moon. Whether or not that is a matter of outstanding significance is questionable. But science will continue to uncover secrets to help make life easier and more interesting.

Population throughout the nations of the world will increase. There isn't any doubt about it. This will make it necessary to produce more to provide people with the things they need and want.

We hope Garrett County will get its share of the prosperity that is being predicted. Being on our toes will make us ready when the opportunity comes.

1895 Newspaper Furnishes Interesting News Items

A portion of a Mountain Democrat newspaper of December 5, 1895, was found a few days ago by Joe Spaid, while tearing down the Elizabeth Martin two story frame home, located on the Sunnyside road that leads from route 219 to route 50.

The portion was part of the local news page and contained a few interesting items, such as:

James W. Leathers has purchased the stock and fixtures of Truman Westa harness shop on Alder street. Mr Leathers is a first class saddler and harness maker.

The new addition to Dr. H. W. McComas' residence on Main street is nearing completion.

Snow began to fall Monday afternoon and continued during the night and all day Tuesday, culminating in an old-fashioned freeze which caused the mercury to drop to five degrees below zero Wednesday morning.

Masters Semmes and Stuart Hamill, who are attending the Allegany county academy in Cumberland, spent Thanksgiving at home.

W. Gram Martin, optometrist, announced that he would close his office for the winter.

Dr. John G. Robinson, dentist, of Baltimore, decided to locate permanently in Oakland.

The H. Weber and Sons gave the newspapec a bouquet of chrysanthecmums and roses, flowers of the same growing that won the gold medal at the Atlanta Exposition.

"The Hidden Hand," a drama of southern life, was produced by local talent in Offutt's hall under direction of Mrs. Kate Rashe.

A. B. and O railroad schedule showed six eastbound trains and eight westbound trains. One westbound was called the "Oyster Express." C. F. Schroeder was the agent.

The Oakland and Terra Alta track repaic haads were putting in the switch to the Mt. Lake Park ice house.

Home Is Destroyed By Fire Wednesday

The two-story frame dwelling owned by Ray Friend, on Cmuren street, Deer Park, was completely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early Wednesday morning.

Neighbors saw the flames about 3 o'clock a. m., and called the Deer Park fire department. The department also called for the Kitzmiller and Oakland departments to assist.

The house was vacated about six weeks ago and had remained vacant. Mr. Friend resides in Cumberland.

Flames had gained too great headway before it was discovered and firemen battled the blaze for over an hour, in a high wind, saving nearby outbuildings, a new garage and nearby homes.

The house was completely furnished and the loss was estimated at near $10,000. There was a partial coverage by insurance.

Held For Non Support

Delbert Will, of near Jennings, was arrested this week on a charge of non-support of his minor child. He pleaded not guilty but when given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Monday he was declared guilty. Magistrate Maroney ordered him to start paying $30 per month for the child's support, the first payment to start in 90 days when he has had an opportunity to obtain employment.

In the only other case on the docket this week Louis Kyle, of Barton was arrested by Game Warden Leo Friend for having a ruffed grouse in his possession in closed season. He pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs and $5 for the grouse.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Gerstell, of Keyser, W. Va., announce the birth of a daughter, Ellen Sue, one day this week. Rev. Gerstell is minister for the Corinth and Crellin Methodist charg.

Treated In Hospital Following Auto Wreck

Two persons were treated in the Garrett County Memorial hospital Saturday night for injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Corinth, W. Va. Another person was uninjured.

The three persons involved were Denver Sweitzer, Neil Sweitzer and Roy Swetzer, of Swanton.

The former had lacerations of the scalp and face and a bruised knee. He was discharged from the hospital after being a patient for two days. Neil Sweitzer sustained lacerations of the face and an injury to his right hand but was released. Roy Sweitzer was given first aid treatment but was not injured. He was not admitted to the hospital.

Another victim of an automobile accident was released from the hospital yesterday. He was Robert Conby, of Altoona, Pa., who sustained a broken left thigh. He stepped from a truck on route 50, near Mt. Storm on December 19th and was hit by an automobile driven by Anthony Rose, of Milesburg, Pa.

Christmas Bulbs Stolen

Christmas bulbs by the dozens have been stolen in the Oakland area in recent days. They have taken the lights from decorations in front of the fire department and from outside decorations around the residences of Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Lowell Loomis, Ralph Prilts, Erval Ream and Playford Ryan, and others.

Police said that up to the present time no arrests have been made.

Conservation Group Will Meet January 5th

The Garrett County Conservation association will meet on Tuesday, January 5, at the Oakland Fire hall, it was announced.

Harland Bittinger, secretary and treasurer, said there would be a special party following the business session and he urged all members to attend.

The State Roads Commission, at a meeting on Wednesday, December 16, officially approved the transfer of a portion of county route 53 to the state's system, and Maryland route 42 from Friendsville to Bear Creek, from the state system to the county system.

Route 53 stretches from Sebold's turn north of McHenry, to Friendsville, a distance of 7.35 miles. The trade is for a similar distance from Friendsville to U. S. 219, at Bear Creek.

With the transfer of the two roads, the State Roads commission agreed to reconstruction of route 53 in the third four-year program, or later, in lieu of reconstruction of Maryland route 42, and all maintenance funds previously appropriated for route 42 to be applied on route 53. The commission agreed to maintain route 53 as a normal maintenance project and after reconstruction it would continue as a normal maintenance project.

The agreement was previously executed by the County Commissioners, approved by the Commission's special attorney and approved by Chief Engineer Pritchett at the Commission's meeting in Oakland on October 21, and subsequently approved by the county delegation.

In expanding on the project the County Roads department made public two letters written to the State Roads Commission by Paul W. DeWitt, assistant supervisor, and the replies he received.

Mr. DeWitt said that some questions had arisen concerning the exchange and he sought information from the Commission. He asked when construction on route 42 would start provided the state kept this road in its system, and when would construction of route 53 be started if the state would take this road into its system. He asked if it would be possible for construction of either roads to be accelerated in any way and what would have to be done in order to bring about such acceleration.

Guard Is Taken to State Pen Yesterday

Ronald William Guard, 52, former constable in the Friendsville area, who was convicted of manslaughter last week in the circuit court growing out of the fatal shooting of George Raymond Schroyer, 40, was taken to the Maryland penitentiary in Baltimore yesterday by Sheriff James E. Frantz.

Frantz also took a juvenile traverser to the Maryland Training School.

Guard was convicted of manslaughter last Tuesday by the three judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, sitting as a full bench to hear the case. They were Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland; Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin, Hagerstown; and Associate Judge Ned C. Fraley, Oakland.

Guard has been in jail since October 24, and the ten-year sentence imposed by the court began from the day of his incarceration.

Guard observed a quiet Christmas in jail. Sheriff Frantz said he was allowed no visitors on Christmas day because it is customary to allow no visitors on holidays when the sheriff operates the jail alone.

However, on Saturday his wife, several children and several other relatives visited him.

Apparently there was to be no action to appeal the case. Guard will be eligible for parole after serving one-third of his sentence.

March of Dimes Is Set for January

The annual March of Dimes drive, sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will be conducted in January, it was announced by Charles L. Briner, campaign director.

The new targets for the March of Dimes are the major health problems of birth defects, arthritis and polio. Funds for research are to be raised nationally by the foundation.

Briner pointed out that polio was "still with us" and declared the local chapter spent over $1,500 between August, 1958 and August, 1959, on patient aid. He said more than this would be needed to aid the old as well as new patients in 1960.

The county had four new polio patients in 1959.

Briner said that containers would be placed in all business establishments on Saturday by the Oakland boy scouts. They will be gathered on Saturday, January 30. He urged that the contributions be generous in order to purchase braces, crutches and provide rehabiliation and other care of the polio patients. He explained that braces alone cost up to $35 each and must be changed regularly on patients.

He said he was hopeful that a "Mother's March" would be held in Oakland but that to date there had been no volunteers. Each school will be covered and Willard Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said that the schools would support the March of Dimes this year.

Briner announced that a bowling tournament was planned for the week of January 17 continuing through the 23rd. Entry fees will be $1 per person entering. Winners will receive new bowling balls.

Over Hundred Thousand Cancellations At Post Office

There were over one hundred thousand cancellations of outgoing letters during the Christmas mailing period, it was announced by Donald M. Browning, postmaster.

The mailing period is considered from the 14th through the 24th. Browning said that during those dates 104,567 pieces had been cancelled, an increase of some five percent over last year.

Biggest day was the 18th with the cancelling machine showing 14,690. The 21st was almost as big with 14,574.

He said the parcel post packages probably numbered a few less than last year.

Hearing Is Slated On Boating Laws

Western Marylanders' views on a state boating law will be heard Friday, January 8, at 8 p. m., in the Allegany County Court House in Cumberland at a combined meeting of the Tidewater Fisheries commission and the State Game and Inland Fish commission.

It is the first time the Fisheries commission has ever met in Western Maryland. Dr. H. C. Byrd is its chairman. Chairman of the Game and Inland Fish commission is Dr. William B. Holton, Chevy Chase.

A boating law to cover boating in Maryland must be passed by the General Assembly by April 1 or the federal boating law will go into effect. The main idea behind the legislation will provide for licensing, safety provisions plus enforcement machinery. Of particular concern is Deep Creek Lake. In 1958 over 2,000 motorboats were licensed on Deep Creek Lake and the number increased substantially last year.

The lake is policed by the Game and Inland Fish commission but there is only one patrol boat to cover the 3,900-acre body of water and there are few actual safety rules.

Much concern has been shown since the death of a 26-year-old woman swimmer in August in the Lake when a nine-year-old boy operating a power boat ran over her.

Also last summer a speeding craft cut a canoe into two pieces when it hit the lighter craft in the middle. Two occupants of the canoe managed to get to safety.

The boating bill that failed in the last session of the General Assembly would have made the Tidewater Fisheries Commission the licensing agency for all boats in Maryland.

Interested people are being invited to express their views.

This fall the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners association prepared a list of proposed boating regulations for the lake which include rules involving water skiers, keeping proper distance from the shore line and others.

Auto Is Demolished When Hit By Train

The automobile of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nicholson, of Loch Lynn, was completely demolished when struck by a westbound freight train on the Mt. Lake Park crossing last Thursday morning about 11:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Nicholson and Mr. and Mrs. Truman H. Mosser, who were riding in the car, managed to get out just before the crash.

Mrs. Nicholson said an eastbound passenger train had been stalled on the crossing for about a half an hour due to brake trouble and there was quite a line of traffic waiting to cross the tracks. She said she waited until the truck ahead of her was almost across before she started. The truck suddenly applied brakes and she had to halt quickly to prevent a collision and in doing so stalled her 1954 model car with the rear wheels on the westbound track.

Just at this point the warning signal started and the lights began to flash. After attempting to start the car unsuccessfully they got out just before the train crashed into it.

Few Outstanding Events Mark Year 1959 In Garrett County

Resume Of Events Show Routine Living And Progress

The year 1959 in Garrett county ran a smooth course—with only a few humps along the way. The county's biggest news story of the year was also its most tragic.

The locomotive, school bus collision at Loch Lynn which claimed the lives of seven students and hospitalized several others.

As Father Time departs from the 1959 scene, his recollections of noteworthy events during his 12-month tenure might include:

January

A record number of hunting licenses had been issued, totaling 1,671. Local merchants, reporting on their Christmas season sales, called their business only "fair to good." The County Commissioners kept the tax rate at $2.00 per $100 valuation. During the month they also appointed Darrell Wotring county roads supervisor, succeeding W. W. DeWitt, roads engineer, retired.

Labor trouble flared at Sanders Motor Freight here, causing the line to suspend operations. The company announced plans to close its office here, citing the labor difficulties.

Gas production was on the decrease during the previous quarter, reports showed. Frank McDaniel was named cashier of the First National Bank, succeeding George Littman who was advanced to executive director.

February

The groundhog, looking at his shadow, predicted six more weeks of winter weather—and he was right. Sanders Motor Freight, on an off again, on again twist, began operations under new ownership. The local National Guard unit, from its inception an engineering company, was reorganized as a tank company.

The Maryland Senior Ski tournament, three times scheduled and three times cancelled because of lack of snow, gave up and called the whole thing off.

The Oakland Fire company held mortgage burning ceremonies, and honored several charter members of the organization. Agitation began in certain quarters for legalization of liquor in the county. The State Senator and members of the House of Delegates, in session in Annapolis, were reported "cool" to the proposal.

March

The first of a long series of burglaries struck Oakland and nearby areas during the month. Extra police officers failed to

Christmas Business Considered "Good"

Christmas business among the stores of Oakland was considered very good this year, most of them declaring that the month of December would show a gain over the previous December and that for many that the entire year would be the best ever.

Most of the merchants said that business was above that of 1957 which was considered the best up to that time.

One business man said he thought during one day last week that the bottom was going to drop out, but that on succeeding days and up until Christmas there was a "marvelous comeback," with sales being steady and continuous.

Grocery stores also in the main were as good or better than last year.

One clothing store owner said that during the two days before Christmas there was activity in purchases of the smaller items. He said they apparently had made all purchases of the more expensive items and were using the last two days for "fill ins."

Merchants conceded that practical items were much more in demand than the luxurious items or heavy equipment items. Clothing in general sold well. People apparently ate as well or better than in former years.

One business man said 1959 would be the best year ever and that he didn't have a bad month all through the entire year.

One merchant predicted, after saying he had an excellent year, that the year 1960 would be a tremendous one for all kinds of business. Whether or not he was speaking the truth will have to wait for verification at the end of the next twelve months.

Three Inches Snow Covers County Area

Snow began falling in Garrett county on Tuesday and has continued intermittently through Wednesday and today, bringing some three inches to cover the ground and indicating that there might be good skiing weather for the week-end.

If this does occur it will be the first real week-end of skiing for the present year.

An inch or more of rain fell on Monday prior to the snow. Lightning and thunder Monday evening gave warning of what was to come.

There was a temperature reading of 71 degrees yesterday and it was some warmer than that today. State roads were reported slippery although crews of the Roads Commission were keeping traffic moving with the aid of cinders and salt.

Snow plows of both the county and state roads commissions were at work but there was very little drifting.

Castleman River Bridge And Roadside Park

By MARIAN VIOLA BROADWATER, OF GRANTSVILLE

The story of early America when roads were few and far between and the construction of the Castleman stone arch bridge and Route 40 is indeed an interesting one.

CASTLEMAN (CASSELMAN) RIVER BRIDGE

Transportation between the seaboard states and the Mississippi Valley shortly after the beginning of the 19th Century was a vital problem. The Braddock and Forbes roads of French and Indian War times were inadequate. Construction of a canal would be expensive, if not impractical, and there was opposition upon constitutional grounds to the Federal government making improvements.

The need was so urgent, however, that Congress decided to build a road across the mountains.

On March 29, 1806, President Thomas Jefferson approved a bill appropriating $30,000 for a road from Cumberland to the Ohio at Wheeling, W. Va., officially known as the "Cumberland Road."

The Road Commission appointed by the president consisted of Eli Williams and Thompson, a surveyor. They were authorized to hire two chain carriers, a marker, a vaneman, a pack horse, man and horse to make the preliminary survey.

The route decided upon followed the general course of the old Nemacolin Path from Cumberland to the Monongahela River, passing through "Little Meadows." It crossed the Castleman at the "Little Crossings," the Youghiogheny at the "Great Crossings," and the Monongahela at Red Stone O'd Fort (Brownsville) where connection was made with Pittsburgh by boat.

By 1808 the right-of-way had been cleared one-half width as far as Brownsville. Contracts for construction of ten miles of the road west from Cumberland were signed on April 16 and May 8, 1811, and were completed in the fall of 1812.

The next letting was in August 1812, a distance of 11 miles, extending to Little Meadows. It was completed in early 1815.

The work was thence contracted to the Youghiogheny in August, 1813, and finished in 1817. The delay was caused by scarcity of laborers during the war, high prices and apprehension of possible failure of the contractors. The whole road was not completed and opened to traffic to the Ohio until 1818. The cost of building the road across the mountains from Cumberland to Uniontown, including the stone arch bridge, was $9,745 per mile.

Funds for construction were raised by the government from the sale of public lands in Ohio. It was planned to build the road to the Mississippi River but it was finally constructed only as far as Springfield, Ohio.

Bridges and culverts were well built of stone. One of the most noted of the bridges was the "Little Crossings" over the Castleman River, then known as the "Little Youghiogheny." This 80-foot span was the largest stone arch in America when constructed in 1813. It is said that it was built larger than needed to carry the river water in order that the proposed C. and O. Canal might pass under it.

A public celebration was held on the day the supporting timbers of the bridge were removed. People who had seen the arch under construction said it would collapse when the supports were removed.

David Shriver of Cumberland, road construction superintendent for the government, with a few laborers, on the night before the celebration, quietly removed the "key" of the supporting timbers. Shriver stood under the bridge and said that he might as well be dead as his reputation depended on the arch.

The bridge stood without supports, just as it stands today. It carried the traffic of the great highway for 120 years until the new steel bridge was constructed. John Elliott, now living in Grantsville, is a great grandson of Shriver, who built the bridge.

The Garrett County Historical Society has a copy of the contract for construction of this bridge, which served the National Road traffic over the Castleman river. The Washington County, Pa., Historical Society has the original contract for the construction of the bridge. The contract is too long for publication but here are some interesting notes from its contents:

"Article of agreement made this 4th day of September, 1813, between Abraham Kerne, John Bryson, contractors, and David Shriver, on the part of the United States. The contractor agrees to build a bridge across the 'Little Youghiogheny' river on the ninth section of the U. S. Western road, 30 foot span in the clear with a width of road across the arch of 26 feet." "The arch to be a segment of 120 degrees, to be three feet thick, etc. All materials to be found by the contractor, except lime. Bridge to be completed on or before the first day of Nov., 1814."

"The U. S. agrees to pay the contractor at the rate of $2.25 for every perch of mason work in the bridge; $2,000 to be paid as soon as the abutments of the bridge are built, and $2,000 when the bridge is half built." The contract concludes as follows: "It is hereby likewise provided that no member of Congress shall be admitted to any share or part in the contract or agreement or to any benefit to arise therefrom." The contract was signed and sealed by David Shriver and the Contractors, Kerns and Bryson before Jon Scott and M. Hallam on Sept. 30, 1813. It was approved by James Madison, then president of the U. S. The historical stone arch bridge spanning Castleman's river on this side of Grantsville was restored and preserved for posterity in 1955 as a monument to the earliest bridge construction methods in the United States.

Built in 1813, the arch structure was restored with an appropriation of $20,000 by the State of Maryland, secured through the efforts of Harry C. Edwards, then Grantsville's member of the Maryland House of Delegates. The contract for the work was awarded the Cumberland Construction Company and was completed in the early part of November, 1955. Restoration of the old bridge was a dream of many residents of Grantsville, who desired to see the bridge preserved for future generations.

From 1813 until 1935 the arch bridge carried the ever-increasing traffic of Route 40, the National Pike. In 1933, due to the heavy increase in vehicular traffic, it was necessary to relocate the right-of-way in order to eliminate several hazardous curves as well as the steep incline over the historical bridge. The relocation project necessitated the erection of the present steel bridge some 400 feet south of the stone arch bridge. Since erection of the new bridge, the only traffic which used the old bridge were historians, people who knew and enjoyed the thrill or the way-down-deep feeling that took place in one's stomach when crossing the arch, and the rural mailman who delivered mail to families of "Little Crossings."

When the new steel bridge opened for traffic in 1933, no provisions were made by the Maryland State Roads Commission for maintenance of the old thoroughfare. Deterioration of the side walls of the approaches forced the State Roads Commission to barricade and close the old historical stone arch bridge to all vehicular traffic in 1933.

The move was called to the attention of Mr. Harry C. Edwards by citizens of "Little Crossings." Mr. Edwards, having a keen sense of pride in the historical value of the old bridge to Garrett County and the State of Maryland, assumed the responsibility of restoration and quietly began work on the project. After several months and numerous contacts with state officials, he was fortunate to have included in the Maryland General Construction Loan, Chapter 266 of the Acts of 1955, the sum of $20,000 earmarked for the structure. Mr. Edwards had asked the Garrett County Historical Society to consider placing a suitable marker at the location and to arrange a rededication ceremony to be held in the early summer of 1956. In 1955 $20,000 was allotted for restoration of the bridge. It was restored by the State Roads Commission. In 1956 $3,000 was allotted for acquisition of land for a Park. The land was purchased by the State Roads Commission. In 1957 $5,000 was allotted for developing the Park. It was developed by the Department of Forests and Parks. The land was cleared, patios and fireplaces were built, also other facilities provided for picnickers. The various clubs and organizations meet at the Park for their meetings. Many tourists stop for lunch and people visit the Park to enjoy the scenic beauty of the old bridge and the peaceful Castleman river. The children also enjoy fishing, even though there are few fish to be caught. They sit on the banks and at times go wading.

The Park is now under the supervision of the Department of Forests and Parks, New Germany unit. Mr. Edwards is to be congratulated for the effort he put into the project.

Another year—another start.

For some reason, these four words seem to symbolize the thoughts of most of us when we take the "old" calendar down from the wall and hang up the "new." As far as most of us are concerned, the old year is "dead" and we need only concern ourselves with today and tomorrow.

Another year, another start. Nothing could be more truer. But, it is not a start from nowhere, or from nothing. We begin this New Year with the experience and knowledge that we gained in the Old —and in the Older years before that.

We like to picture the New Year as a babe, bright-eyed and energetic, brimming with confidence and enthusiasm, quite a contrast to the bearded old man with a scythe who waited out the last minute of the Old year. This change in symbols is fair enough, because it is a new thing, and a new opportunity—simply because it gives us the chance to try again, to do better. So, before we forget this Old Year completely, let us look backward with an appraising eye. We change the calendar with the New Year, but we cannot wipe the slate clean —not in the truest sense. We ourselves do not change. Except for the fact that we are a bit older—and should be a bit wiser—we are the same individuals that we were 365 days ago when we were wondering (as we do now) what the New Year would "bring to us."

Welcome to the New Year, and to the time that it will provide for doing bigger and greater things. Welcome the chance—the opportunity—to make the effort for progress and improvement; but at the same time be thankful for the success and the failure that we knew in the year that is departed. If we lived the Old Year wisely, then perhaps we are prepared to make the most of the New.

'Happy New Year' In All Languages

Nowadays it is possible to buy greeting cards which extend New Year wishes in several languages. This modern development is a convenience for those who send greetings to friends in the "old country" wherever that country happens to be.

Should you be sending a card to friends in Paris, the greeting would be "Bonne Anee!" In Spanish, the greeting is "Feliz Ano Nuevo!" and in sunny Italy, "Buon Capo d'Anne!"

"Ein Gleuckliches Neues Jahr" is the salutation one might send —or receive from—friends in Germany.

Whatever the language, the words "Happy New Year" represent only the best of wishes for the year ahead.

A gradual change in climate in Switzerland is threatening a great tourist asset.

New Year Is Time to Say 'Remember'

Watching the old year out and the New Year in is an American tradition. Some like to follow the crowds to Times Square; others prefer the atmosphere of a restaurant or nite spot; and of those who so desire the majority may do it the easy way—relaxing in their favorite chair and watching TV.

No matter how the "watching" and "waiting" is done, someone will probably say, "I remember when . . . ." As certainly as we all look for good things in the year ahead, we're sure to take note of the fact that some important event is slipping deeper and deeper into the pages of history.

Some oldtimers will remember, for example, that the U. S. parcel post system was inaugurated in 1913 and that six years later, in 1919, New Year's Day was declared a legal holiday throughout the country, with the exception of Massachusetts and Washington, D. C. Or, that the first cable across the Pacific was completed in 1903. Overseas, the USSR was formed in 1923. Here at home, the Social Security administration was inaugurated in 1937. These dates may be well remembered because all of these things happened on January 1.

While enjoying the luxury of viewing Times Square activity from the comfort of the living room, through the medium of TV, we might also note that the first motion picture was shown to the public some 66 years ago, in April of 1894 . . . the Edison kinescope. The first real motion picture, offered in 1906, was titled "The Life of an American Fireman" and was without a plot. In 1905 "The Great Train Robbery" made movie headlines and two years later along came Al Jolson as "The Jazz Singer," the first picture with spoken sequence and the first all-talk picture.

New Year Feast Is Traditional In Many Lands

In practically any land that you care to mention, feasting is an important part of the New Year observance, probably on the theory that a good meal on the first day of the year will assure that there will be plenty in the days ahead.

Our American favorite, the turkey, gets the call most often in the United States and in some sections a "country ham" is a necessity. Feasts in England and Western Europe may include turkey, duck or goose. Latin countries bedeck their fowl with truffles, chestnuts and olives.

To many Swedes, glogg is as important as food as part of the holiday fare. This traditional drink is made with claret wine, sweetened with sugar and flavored with almonds, raisins, dried orange peel, cinnamon, cloves and cardamon. It is usually set afire before serving.

find any clues to the robberies. Three councilmen were elected by Oakland voters: Dr. H. R. Gibson, Howard White and Dr. E. L. Baumgartner. Still going strong, the A. D. Naylor and Co. passed its 75th anniversary in business, the founder still active in the affairs of the firm. Nine indictments were returned by the Grand Jury in its March deliberations.

True to form, the groundhog had guessed correctly. Snow was still falling in March, two each of five inch depth and one of eight inches. Plans were announced by the Western Maryland Railroad to open up a huge new coal field near Bayard.

April

The Summer Theatre announced its plans to open the 1959 season with "Petticoat Fever." In Grantsville, the talk was all about the new dial system installed as the former independent company merged with the C. and P. Telephone Co.

The annual time question came up, and as usual was not resolved to anyone's satisfaction. Oakland and several other towns moved ahead to fast time, while the county continued Standard time as official for operation of its business. During April, death claimed W. R. Offutt, a practicing attorney here for more than 50 years.

Gas production showed another jump. The Rev. Wm. Fox accepted a call during the month to St. Mark's Lutheran church. Miss Judy Buckel was named county delegate to National 4-H Conference.

May

Oakland's tax rate remained at .90 per $100 valuation. Robert Maroney, member of the council, resigned to accept the position of Trial Magistrate. Appointed to his council seat was E. W. Adams, real estate broker.

To help relieve unemployment in the area, county officials met with state officers to try to work out some method of increasing the number of jobs in the area.

Jesse J. Ashby, former member of the House of Delegates and other public positions, died during the month, as did C. E. Sharps, long time garage owner here.

With an announcement that Maurice Brookhart had been appointed a member of the Board of Education, the Board also announced the approaching graduation of 259 seniors in the two high schools.

Floyd B. Leighton was named president of the Garrett National Bank, succeeding the late W. R. Offutt. Scouters were preparing this month for some 1,099 scouts to attend an area camporee.

June

Oakland began making plans to cope with any serious water shortage which might develop during the summer months ahead. As it happened, there was a shortage. One of the county's oldest businesses, the Oakland Printing Co., announced plans to close.

Deep Creek claimed its first victim of the season. Marion F. Reeves, of Piedmont, drowned when he fell from a small boat some distance out in the lake.

The School Board said only one vacancy existed for the 1959-60 term. Workers at the Carnation Milk Company plant were in the second week of a general strike, leaving farmers with no market for bulk milk.

Although at that time the Oakland Carnation plant would be closed, assurances were received then that not only would the local operation remain, but in addition a new building would be constructed and shortly thereafter a new contract in strike settlement.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

As the new year 1960 comes into being, Americans have many great blessings for which they should thank God and the Founding Fathers of this great Republic. Our greatest blessings, of course, are freedom and economic well-being. Freedom is the gift of God, as Thomas Jefferson noted; but the protection of this blessing is a responsibility which our Creator imposed upon mankind. Likewise the Creator provided that man himself should have a large part in shaping his economic destiny.

Our Founding Fathers set up a governmental structure designed to serve in the protection of our freedom; and growing up out of this free way of life, following the natural laws of creation, has come our productive private enterprise economic system. This economic system, called American capitalism, has made it possible for Americans to have a far higher standard of living than any other people ever enjoyed.

But just as there are blessings commanding our gratitude there also are grave problems, some of which endanger everything that we hold dear, including our freedom and economic well-being. We are in a world crisis. International Communism, both militarily and its world-wide Fifth Column and propaganda activities, threatens our existence. In World War I and in World War II, America's great industrial might turned the tide on the enemies of freedom. The production of our factories could not be matched by any combination of enemies. Our industrial might overpowered them.

In the 15 years since the end of World War II, our industrial might has actually been the only deterrent to a swift overrunning of the world by International Communism. Winston Churchill said this several times in recent years. President Eisenhower has repeatedly said it. It is a fact that discerning people throughout the world have recognized. But today the health of America's great industrial mechanism is threatened, and with it our prosperity and our very lives. There are two major factors which are curtailing the normal healthy growth and the vital strength of American industry: (1) unrealistic double taxation is smothering the incentive to invest, and (2) the swiftly rising cost of production is pricing American goods out of the world markets and even out of our own domestic markets.

In the hardware stores in my home town today barbed-wire made in Germany and Belgium and shipped 3,000 miles by boat and train sells for $2, per spool less than barbed-wire made in our U. S. factories in Cleveland, Fort Worth and elsewhere. In the world market the differential is larger. American manufacturers now find themselves in this same high price position in hundreds of products, from women's blouses to building materials and appliances for American homes.

It is serious and disturbing. Present jobs of millions of American workers are threatened. Future jobs of millions are threatened — and each year another crop of 1,000,000 American youngsters reach working age and must have jobs. National income -- a factor in everybody's prosperity — is threatened. America's financial structure -- which undergirds the well-being of every citizen — is threatened. Our world prestige — which affects the political and military alignments of nations — is threatened. Our defense against the enemy is threatened.

Every American has a personal stake in this worsening situation.

A steady flow of reliable economic information from the employer to his employes is the surest means of improving labor relations.

The really intelligent employer is fully aware of the hazard affecting his employes, their families and the life of the union and is of no mind to wait for a legislature to attempt piecemeal repairs after irreparable damage has been done. He is in there batting out the kind of informational communications it is his worker's due to receive from the company they work for. He is on the ball with periodic letters explaining the overall activities and accomplishments of the company, explaining its competitive status, its immediate and future prospects, the extent of its technological progress, how it is distributing its earnings and how it is investing its surplus to solidify its position and thus to solidify the jobs of its employes. Financial statements, prepared in language that is easy to understand and which in detail explain job security as it is developed through increased productivity, are mailed to the home of each worker, thereby recognizing him as an important member of the industrial family. When the worker is given such opportunities for progressive comparison, then and only then is he in a position to plan intelligently for his own future—to obligate himself for a new home, new car or whatnot and thus become a participating member of our economic society.

Without receiving such basic information, no worker can be expected to feel loyal to his employer and to give his all toward the success of the firm he works for. Lacking a sense of partnership with the employer so conveyed, the worker is easy meat for the left-winger's propaganda that endeavors in every way to sell the idea that the worker and the employer are natural-born enemies, with absolutely no interests in common. The best way to debunk such propaganda is to meet it head on with facts both conveyed and demonstrated. And a continuing program of communication from the employer indeed does both.

The worker with a good head on his shoulders—and such workers are in the majority at any place of employment—know facts from fiction when they have the means for comparison. He knows a hoax from a scoreboard. And better than anything he knows when he's considered on the team and when he's not.

The really wise employer knows that money spent on advertising his products means little or nothing unless money is first spent on protecting the mainsprings of production and productivity—the loyalty of the people who together turn out the product. Many firms put out warm-hearted and responsibly-edited house organs and address copies to the home of each and every employe. Others, although these are the conspicuous exception, choose additional means of communication—reading racks, lectures, movies, closed-circuit informational broadcasts. Personnel departments survey the newspaper and magazine press and direct educational reprints in a more or less constant flow to the employe mailing list. Even more important, certain firms—although these are even more exceptional— make a point of encouraging their employes who are union members to take an active interest in union affairs. Employes are encouraged by company publications and even notices on the bulletin board to attend union meetings, in order to insure a higher type of union leadership and administration.

All of this is wholesome and constructive, as is demonstrated by the little or no so-called labor trouble in establishments where such programs are pursued. As communication of this order goes forth, workers and employers learn to operate as a team, as the partners they are and should be. Knowing together that their job together is to produce the most of the best for the least so that both shall have most of the best to share, such labor-management associates contribute much to their competitive enterprise, have the least to fear from union racketeers or socialists, have the least need for labor legislation to govern their relationship and come closest to being a happy industrial family.

This, then, let me say to all American employers: Keep your employes well posted on company progress and on important economic issues as these encourage or impede such progress. The outfit a guy works for is his business. What affects that business affects him. Unwise management keeps such information to itself or simply neglects to convey it. Wise management makes it a first order of business to EXPLAIN IT TO THE GUY!

Science Proved Our Earth Is Centuries Old

How old is this earth of ours? Modern researchers, using the principle of radioactivity to "date" wood samples, have proven it is at least 4,600 years old. Atomic scientists expect to extend their measurements beyond 20,000 years, long before the dawn of history.

According to Jewish dogma and tradition, the Day of Creation antedated the birth of Christ approximately 3,761 years. Thus, the Jewish calendar, which the Jews adopted during the 15th century, reads 5720 in relation to 1959 A. D.

Use of the notation A. D. (in the year of our Lord) was inaugurated by Charles III of Germany, who utilized the symbolism to the years of his reign in 879. The system of retroactively dating the years prior to the Saviour's birth and dedicating the succeeding years to His greater Glory was invented, along with the Christian era, by a monk about 532 A. D. The Christian era begins on January 1 in the middle of the fourth year of the 194th Olympiad, the 753rd year of the building of Rome and in 4714 of the Julian Period.

The Julian period, invented by Joseph Scaliger, about 1583 A. D., was devised by multiplying the lunar cycle 19, solar cycle 28, and the Roman indiction 15.

The Egyptians devised a calendar about 4,000 B. C. and using the Mundane era of Alexander, estimated the "beginning" to be 5502 B. C.

A FRESH START

...BY F. L. ROWLEY

BAILEY tapped her wristwatch, looked at it again. Only 10 p.m. Two more hours to work. Then she shrugged: what did it matter? When the New Year did arrive she'd be standing on the corner outside the hospital waiting for a bus. Not very exciting. The only thing she could expect from the new year was a bit better luck. This past year had been most unkind to her.

Someone must have been reading her mind. "I'll bet you're glad this year's almost over." It was Wilson, the special duty nurse.

Bailey laughed. "Right. Everything happened to me. I cracked up my car last week. Yesterday I knocked over a cabinet of expensive drugs—I still have to see Dr. Saunders about, that."

"And today Dr. De Groot checked out," said Wilson.

Bailey reddened. "I'm going to miss him. He was the nicest intern we've had here in years."

"Especially to you," said Wilson. "Did he say anything when he was leaving?"

"Well, he told me he would begin his practice on the west side—with some old doctor, I understand. He'll take over when the old man retires."

"Good for him. But I didn't mean that. Didn't he say anything—er—personal? The other nurses and I were beginning to smell orange blossoms."

"I've got tickets for a night club," he said with a grin.

"No—nothing. Say, can you help me get this file drawer open, Wilson? It's got a broken lock, and—" The drawer flew open at Bailey's first tug. It hit her arm just below the sleeve, causing a light trickle of blood.

"Now that's what I call changing the subject in a hurry," said Wilson shaking her head. "Wait here, honey. I'll get some tape."

Interruption

Wilson was on her way back and passing the night desk when the switchboard buzzed. Bailey absently watched her answer it while she wondered what could possibly happen next. Almost two hours left of the old year; still time to fall down a flight of stairs or something.

"That was Dr. De Groot," Wilson said casually as she worked over Bailey's arm.

"Oh?"

"He forgot his binoculars. Wanted to know if I'd seen them around. I said I'd check with the other nurses. You haven't seen a pair, have you, Bailey?"

"Didn't even know he owned a pair," said Bailey.

Wilson and Bailey went about their separate duties and the minutes ticked by. Bailey thought it must be the longest day she'd ever put in. She heard the elevator door clicked but paid no attention. It clicked a thousand times each day.

"Bailey!" It was a well-known voice.

All Alone

"I've got tickets for a night-club," he said with a shy grin. "Thought I'd celebrate for a change. First time I've ever been in a night-club. You should have seen the people smiling at me—sitting there all alone."

"All alone? You didn't take a girl?"

"Well—I knew you were on duty until midnight. I thought I'd pick you up then and take you back with me. You'll like this place."

"I will? Aren't you taking a lot for granted?" Bailey was sorry the next minute. He blushed like a school-boy. Yet it was the prod he needed. He clenched his fists and said firmly:

"Bailey—that is, Ruth—next week, with the New Year, my career really begins. Will you come along?"

"You're saying?" she asked softly.

"You know what a doctor's wife puts up with. I'm asking you to marry me anyway. I love you, Ruth."

Wilson had to cough twice to break through the clouds. "You can knock off early, Bailey, and celebrate New Year's properly. Murphy says she'll take your place. Me—I've got a resolution to make. I've got to quit telling lies."

Customs Associated With New Year's Day

Centuries ago the Vikings built huge fires at the turn of the year to symbolize their fierce Norse god, the ancient Romans would observe the start of a new year by hanging masks of Janus upon trees and vines, with the hope that fertility would be imparted to every direction to which the masks were turned by the wind.

The Scots switched the trunks of fruit trees, in anticipation of a "knowing good crop."

No one knows for sure why we moderns think it necessary to make as much noise as we can on New Year's eve, unless, like some of our ancestors, we believe that evil influences will be frightened away by all the noise and shouting.

George Washington Held Open House

Some historians say our first President is responsible for the "Open House" custom that is a part of New Year observance in this country. In the year 1790, when the seat of the government was in New York, George Washington opened the doors of the Presidential mansion to house and foreign diplomats, as well as local citizens.

"Open House" on New Year's day grew in popularity. At the turn of the 20th Century, newspaper columns carried "at home" notices announcing the hours during which visitors would be received. The host and hostess would receive guests during certain hours and then close their receptions to join the procession of callers at other "open houses."

WHAT DOCTORS SAY TODAY
Trip to Dentist Might Help

• Split Nail
• Polio
• Fat Men And Blood Pressure

Q. I have heard that prolonged irritation could cause cancer. What about musicians who play wind instruments? Would the constant irritation of the mouth piece cause lip cancer?

A. Players of wind instruments are prone to develop lip and mouth sores but there is little evidence that there is a tendency toward cancerous changes. Musicians who have very much lip or mouth trouble should consult a dentist for possible correction of tooth irregularities that might contribute to the difficulty.

Q. Can paralytic polio strike the same person twice?

A. Second attacks of paralytic poliomyelitis have occurred but only about five such cases have been reported in the medical literature. The attacks occurred one to fifteen years apart.

Q. Several years ago I hit my finger and split the nail. The nail still splits about half way from the cuticle. Is there any way to correct this?

A. Probably not. The nail bed may have been injured enough to produce a scar. If so, the trouble is not with the nail itself but in what happens to it as it grows outward over the nail bed. When it reaches the scarred area, adherence to the bed is lost and the nail splits. So far as is known, there is no effective treatment for a permanent nail bed scar.

Q. As a person gets fatter and fatter the blood pressure goes higher and higher. True or false?

A. Strictly speaking — false. An Australian doctor studied the problem in 1400 men. He found that the bigger and heavier we get, in relation to height, the higher the blood pressure. However, the composition of the excess weight cuts no figure. According to this physician, it is the overall bulk that counts, be it muscle or fat. Commonly, of course, it's fat. The Australian doctor estimated that on the average, for each 28 to 30 pounds gained the blood pressure goes up about 8 to 10 points.

New Year's Courage

BY SHIRLEY SARGENT

"HAPPY NEW YEAR!" The exultant, drunken shout went up around the apartment-lined street along with a few firecrackers and noisemakers.

Letha Bishop, a youngish, pallish blond, shivered a little as she leaned out the upstairs window to watch the usual, futile efforts at merry-making. What's so happy about the New Year, she thought grimly—1959 was a flop! Letha thought of her unhappy year in the city with bitterness. Her left arm had been hurt in an industrial accident so she had been off work for six snowbound weeks. The city overwhelmed her with its noise and grime as contrasted to the quiet farm life she had fled in a stubborn search for independence.

"The story of my life," Letha said aloud, but couldn't help smiling. She remembered her father expounding on a sense of humor being a saving grace. She didn't have much left. Impulsively she grabbed her worn coat and went outside to walk. The sidewalks were clear of snow and ice, but not of people. A party was breaking up nosily so Letha turned and walked the other way.

"Sounds as if you hadn't said that word in a long, long time," he said.

"Happy New Year!" Two men were having a snowball fight and she was their target. They were uproarish and pelted her with the stinging balls and loud suggestions of "Come on in, we can make your New Year happy."

Encounter

Letha turned, frightened, and ran smack into a man. "That's enough snow now," he warned the throwers in the rasping voice Letha recognized as that of an older man.

"You don't have to help me," she said tightly, but when the snowballs and taunts found her again, she was grateful for the man's bulk and arm. They ran back to the protection of a doorway.

"Thanks." She managed to say it.

"Sounds as if you haven't said that word in a long time," he commented dryly

There was enough light so Letha could see her craggy benefactor. He was a big man, as blunt in appearance as he was in speech. He asked curiously, "Are you always so independent?"

"I try to be," Letha said stiffly. "You don't like independence?" She lingered in the doorway because she had no fear of this strange, observing man and besides, she was so glad to hear someone talk. She had been cooped up in her room for days. It reminded her of a cell. She surprised herself by saying, "You remind me of my father. He doesn't like independence either."

Listener

"I admire it in a woman," he said quickly, "but a little bit goes a long way. I have a feeling you're as independent as a hog on ice and you don't know how to retreat so you keep skidding around." He spoke so dispassionately that she heard herself bit by bit, telling him of the whole disastrous year. She realized that she, who never confided in anyone, was talking a lot. She didn't care. The man was so dispassioned, so anonymous, he was easy and good to talk to.

"Your biggest problem is yourself," he said calmly after her recital on the life and woes of Letha Bishop. "You don't know how to give in or even go halfway. I think you really want to go home . . ."

She picked up the telephone receiver three times before she summoned enough courage to put a call through to her family. Saying "Happy New Year" to her father was hard, but the rest came easier. "How would you like to have a daughter settling—"

That was all she had to say as her father interrupted excitedly. "We'd love it! When? How soon? You will stay? Oh Happy New Year!"

Letha smiled at the placard, smiled hugely at the world, thinking thankfully of her midnight advisor, and said to her sputtering father, "It will be a happy year!"

THE

WEEKLY SERMON
by

YOUR HOPE OF HEAVEN

What is your hope of Heaven? Most people in the United States believe in life after death. They believe the facts of Scripture that there is a Heaven to gain and a Hell to shun. I also find that the majority of people I have talked to expect to go to Heaven when they die. When I ask them what they base their hope of Heaven on, I get a variety of answers. Some say, "I believe I will go to Heaven because I have led a fairly good life." Others say, "I've never been so bad". Others, "I've always tried to do what is right." I think this fairly summarizes the hope of a lot of people. The heart and core of their hope is what they have done while living here. Now if you are such a one, let let me ask you a question. If you could be saved by living a good life,why was it necessary for God to send His only begotten Son to die for you? The heart of the Gospel is "Christ died for our sins". If one could get to Heaven without the Saviour, then Jesus Christ died for nothing. Don't you see, my friend, that your hope is a "Christless" hope? Look up John 14:6. That is why we need a Saviour.

He also asked "If this exchange is made, can we feel assured that the monies now proposed for construction of route 42 will be used for construction of route 53?"

In a letter also written on November 25 Mr. DeWitt asked John B. Funk, director of highways of the Commission about the possibility of expediting the construction of U. S. route 219 north of Accident to the route 40 intersection at Keyser Ridge, and how it could be brought about.

Mr. DeWitt received replies in a letter written December 15.

The letter said in part:

"Construction of route 42 from U. S. 219 to Friendsville appears in the third 4 years of the twelve year program. In view of the fact that it will take approximately seven years to complete the first 1 years, the ultimate construction of this section appears in the distant future.

"The substitution of Route 53 for route 42 simply exchanges the present time project in the program for construction except that it would be possible to accelerate such construction by substituting equal mileage for any project presently projected in either the first or second 4 years of the program.

"You can be assured that funds necessary for construction of county route 53 will be provided in the same manner as was intended for construction of state route 12.

"A similar type answer must be given regarding the construction of U. S. 219 from Keyser Ridge to Accident. This project also appears in the third 4-years and again, it would require a substitution for a project listed in either the first or second 4-year period. Such substitution can be made if requested by a majority of the County Commissioners and members of the legislature. The request must be received in writing and approved at an official Commission meeting."

Mr. Funk enclosed a list of projects remaining to be constructed in the county in the first four years of the program and indicated that a yellow book provided details concerning projects listed in the second and third 4 years.

Projects remaining in the first four years as possible substitutes:

U. S. 219, Hoyes toward Deep Creek Lake, 1.72 miles, $857,000; U. S. 219, 1.72 miles south of Hoyes to Deep Creek Lake, 3.10 miles, $1,050,000; Md. 495, Swanton to Wilson, 2.98 miles, $652,000; Md. 560, Mt. Lake Park toward Gorman, 1.80 miles, $401,000.

In the second four years program were the following:

U. S. 40, Keyser Ridge to Allegany county line, 16.86 miles, $1,-018,000; U. S. 219, Red House to W. Va., line, 3.02 miles, $325,000; Md. 42, Friendsville to Pa., line, 7.87 miles, $1,000,000; Md., 417, Grantsville to Pa., line, 1.39 miles, $161,000; Md., 495, Grantsville southerly, 2.03 miles, $341,000; Md., 38, Bloomington road through Kitzmiller, 3.21 miles, $375,000.

Some citizens of Friendsville raised objections when it was learned that the County was contemplating the trade. The Roads department announced at that time that it was the intention to begin improvement to the Friendsville-Bear Creek road in 1960.

Traffic on Highways Upped 10 Percent

Traffic on Maryland highways in 1959 will show a 10 percent increase over 1958 and a 75 percent increase over 1949, the traffic division of the State Roads Commission estimated today.

The estimates were based on accumulative figures compiled at 31 traffic counting locations throughout the State. Official figures which will include the December counts will not be compiled until next month.

John B. Funk, chairman of the State Roads commission, and director of Highways for Maryland, characterized the figures as "startling."

He said, "these figures reflect tremendous economic growth in Maryland and they serve to further emphasize the pressing need the State has for swift completion of a continuous network of major arterial highways."

The State Roads commission will propose to the Legislature in February a change in the current 12-year Program Law which will permit an immediate start on many sections of incomplete major highways, sections that could not be completed until as late as 1970 or 1975 under existing law.

The legislative council already has approved the SRC plan.

Separate steel talks were initiated, but there were no positive results.

Miss Keller Retires

Miss Ruth Keller completed twenty-three years with the Garrett County Wellare board today. She tendered her resignation a few weeks ago, effective January 1.

The Welfare department came into being in 1933. She became a case worker for the department in 1936 and has remained there since that time as a case worker. She was acting director for over a year prior to 1951 and has served in an unofficial capacity as assistant director since that time.

Members of the Welfare staff held a dinner in her honor at the William-James hotel on the Saturday before Christmas. They presented her with a cash gift, a certificate of service and a silver pin. The two latter were awards from the State of Maryland and were presented by Robert W. Stemple, director of the county board. Letters of commendation and best wishes from former directors were read. They came from Francis Connolly, now director in Washington county; Mrs. Dorothy Ogburn, now director in Queen Anne's County; and Mrs. Elizabeth Lankford Don Leavy.

Miss Keller, who spent the Christmas holidays in Grantsville with relatives, plans to take a three months' ocean voyage and visit a number of foreign countries.

Miss Keller's successor has not yet been named.

The photograph printed last week, showing two youngster standing in front of a building, has been identified by a number of readers as being the old Manhattan hotel. The building stood on Second street at the railroad tracks.

It also has been identified by some readers as being a store in Terra Alta.

To the right in last week's photograph can be seen the words "Ice Cream" painted on the window. This room at various times served as an ice cream parlor, tea room and bar, and barber shop.

The side of the building facing the railroad at one time was occupied by the Bolden and Brown Furniture company.

While it is not definitely known when this partnership was formed, it is possible to pinpoint its end. From newspaper files of October, 1891, we find:

"Dissolution of Co-Partnership. This is to give notice that the firm of Bolden and Brown, doing a general furniture business, in Oakland, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent."

The following month of the same year this appears: "Mr. D. E. Bolden, of the former firm of Bolden and Brown, has succeeded that firm in the furniture and undertaking business in Oakland, and his long experience and natural aptitude as a practical workman in all branches of the business will go far toward insuring a successful career as sole proprietor of the business. We wish him unbounded success."

Today's Old Picture

The photograph today is obviously that of a barber shop. Who can identify the Negro barber and locate the site of the building.

Farm Loan Association Gets New Name

The Potomac Valley National Farm Loan association of Romney became "Potomac Valley Federal Land Bank association of Romney," as of today, it was announced by H. Robert DeWitt, secretary-treasurer. The new name indicates the relationship between the association and the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore.

The bank and association have been serving farmers in the area for more than 17 years. The association is owned by farmers using its credit services. The bank is owned by the association and 35 other national farm loan associations.

Mr. DeWitt said the association had a successful year. The volume of land bank loans outstanding in the seven counties served by the association is now $1,421,553. Funds used to make land bank loans are obtained by selling Federal Land Bank bonds in the security markets.

Loans are made to farmers for purchase of land, erection of farm buildings, refinancing of existing debts and to meet other needs. The association works with Production Credit association of Romney which makes short term and intermediate term loans to farmers.

Taxpayers To Get Income Tax Blanks Starting Next Week

Over 1,500,000 individual taxpayers in the Baltimore District, beginning next week will receive one of the three 1959-1959 Federal income tax forms and instructions which the Internal Revenue Service has designed to simplify their annual filing chore as much as possible, Irving Machiz, District Director said the form each taxpayer will get through the mail is the one that appears to come closest to his needs based on what he reported last year.

The director explained that each of the three forms is designed for a different set of facts, including the size and source of income and whether the taxpayer plans to take the standard deduction or to itemize his deductions.

The vast majority of taxpayers, he said, will find the form they get in the mail will fit their 1959 reporting requirements because their tax situation will not have changed materially from last year.

Taxpayers whose 1959 tax situation has changed from the previous year, he said, will find one of the other two forms will meet their new filing requirements. These forms will be available after January 1 at the local IRS offices or at most post offices and banks.

The three individual forms, the number to be mailed and the purpose of each are:

Form 1040A, the simple punch-card form, will be mailed to almost 450,000 taxpayers. This form is designed for the taxpayer with income under $10,000 consisting of wages reported on W-2 withholding statements and not more than $200 of other wages, interest and dividends, and who wishes to take the standard deduction (about 10 percent of his income) instead of itemizing deductions.

Form 1040W (for wages) is a new two-page form that will be mailed to another 500,000 taxpayers. This form is designed to simplify reporting for the taxpayer whose income regardless of amount, consists of salary, and wages, plus not more than $200 of dividends and interest, and no other items of income.

A taxpayer using this form may itemize his deductions, compute a dividends-received credit, or take credit for payments on a Declaration of Estimated Tax. Taxpayers who can qualify to use this simplified form will find that it arrives at exactly the same tax result as the regular form 1040.

Form 1040, once used by most taxpayers, will be sent to less than one-third of Internal Revenue's mailing list, or to about 550,000 taxpayers. This form is for the individual taxpayer who needs the extra schedules, etc., to report special items.

Broken Rails Get Blame for Crashes

Broken rails on two Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks in West Virginia were apparently the cause of two derailments Sunday, one of 28 freight cars near Sistersville, and another of eight passenger cars near Grafton.

No injuries were reported on the freight wreck near Sistersville.

Ten passengers were injured in the derailment near Grafton of the eastbound National Limited early Sunday morning. The Limited normally passes Oakland around 3 o'clock a. m. The injured were among the estimated 300 aboard at the time.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	90	1-2
Monday	Psalms	77	13-11
Tuesday	Philippians	2	12-13
Wednesday	John	15	10-12
Thursday	Psalms	1	1-3
Friday	Ephesians	5	1-2
Saturday	Romans	9	35-39

Come January first, you're going to get a present . . . a glorious present of 365 bright, uncluttered days.

What you do with them is largely up to you. Each day of the year is now a blank page in the notebook of your life — and only you can fill it.

Don't clutter up the first page by making a lot of useless resolutions. Instead — spend that time by going to church.

Turn to God the first day of the year, and stay with Him. Put your faith in Him, and in His church. With His help, you can make this year the finest one you've ever lived.

World Mission

Lesson for January 3, 1960

CHARLES Darwin, the famous scientist, is reported to have said, "If I am ever cast adrift on a savage island, I hope it will be one where Christian missionaries have got there first." Dr. Pitt Van Dusen during World War II wrote a book called "They Found the Church There," describing some of the many times Allied troops had been astonished to find Christians in the least likely places. A young paratrooper lost in New Guinea, expecting nothing better than to be eaten by cannibals, would hear the sound of a familiar Christian hymn, something he used to sing in Sunday school. When he made his way toward the sound, he discovered not cannibals but ex-cannibals, now changed men because Christ had come to their village.

Dr. Foreman

Toe-holds

One of the most thrilling sights this writer has seen in recent years was a book, in fact two books — though he could read neither one! One of these was the first book of any kind printed in one of the Miao languages (Miao rhymes with a cat's meow). Some young missionaries, trained in the study of primitive languages, have for the first time in history put this Miao language into writing so that these mountain tribes, living in the border-lands between China and Thiland, can learn to read, and in time read the Bible. This new book is only a primer, but it is a kind of toe-hold for the Christian missionaries. The other book is a reprint of the first New Testament ever printed in Korean. Seventy-five years ago, to be a Christian in Korea called for the death penalty. No missionary could go there. But in China this Testament was printed in the Korean language, and smuggled into Korea by the "Christian Underground."

Small Beginnings

The story of Christian missions is long and thrilling. The only people who do not get a thrill out of it are the people who get no thrill out of Christianity itself. A church member who says "I believe in Christ but not in missions" is as good as saying "I don't believe in Christ." The Christian religion is a missionary religion which is to say it is for all men everywhere. It is not "American," which is "occidental" any more than it is Asian yellow or oriental. Missionaries have gone everywhere, that is to say into all sorts of places. But what we call foreign missions, or world missions, began with the day when two men set out from the city of Antioch headed west. They were the best and ablest men in that church, they were its associate pastors as we would call them. They had been, so to speak, city missionaries in the metropolis of Antioch. Now the church sent them out. But the church did not send them until they were sure this was the will of the Holy Spirit. The thought of sending these men came as an inspiration, and the church recognized it as such. So Paul and Barnabas became the first real "foreign missionaries" in history.

Target: World

"Go into all the world," Jesus had said. There is no "here" or "there" for Christian missions. If an American Christian goes to share Christ with the Koreans, he is a "foreign" missionary; if a Korean comes here for the same purpose he is a "foreign" missionary too. (That is one reason why some churches do not speak of "missionaries" home or foreign but of "fraternal workers.") Preaching a Gospel sermon to a Spanish-speaking congregation in Texas is "home" missions; preaching the identical sermon to a congregation in Mexico is "foreign" missions. Its' geography that draws the line. There is no line, really. That first "foreign missionary" party started by going to the old home of Barnabas himself, where they would have (in our lingo) "connections." But the world is always the target. Places and countries may be barred to us, for shorter or longer times. But the church sets no limits for itself. Wherever in the world there are people, there the Good News of God is needed, and there Christ's men will joyfully go.
